Community Voices Needed: Tell the True Story of Waller County

STOP
TEXASLANDUSA
THEME PARK

PROTECT OUR COMMUNITY

Submitted by Amanda Averitt

As the movement to protect Waller County gains momentum, local residents are stepping up to counter the carefully crafted-but deeply incomplete-narrative presented by Texasland USA regarding their proposed theme park and special district development.

This project threatens more than just open land-it endangers local infrastructure, the natural environment, and the rural character that defines our community. While developers paint a rosy picture of progress, they leave out the most important part: the people who call this place home.

Now, we're inviting you to help share the real story.

We are launching a "Meet the Community" feature on <https://texasland-usa.com> to highlight the voices of Waller County residents-people who live here, love this land, and stand to lose everything if this project moves forward.

- Has your family called this land home for generations?

- Did you move here for peace, space, and safety far from the city?

- Are you worried this project will erase everything you've worked to build?

- Do you have a story that reveals the true spirit of this community?

Your voice matters. Whether you've lived here for decades or just arrived, your story can help protect Waller County's future.

Submit your story and a photo that reflects your life here-your family, your animals, your land-by:

- Emailing us at info@texasland-usa.com

- Using the Contact Us page at <https://texasland-usa.com>

- Or messaging us directly

Let's replace marketing spin with lived experience. Let's show Texas who we are-and what we're fighting to preserve.

Royal ISD Hosts "Beam Signing" for Future Ag Expo Center Bond 2023 Update

Royal ISD celebrated a major milestone today with a ceremonial "beam signing" at the construction site of the district's upcoming Agricultural (Ag)

Expo Center. The event marked a significant step forward in the development of the facility.

Students, staff, school board members, and community members gathered at the site to sign a steel beam that will become part of the final structure. The symbolic act represents the district's commitment to agricultural education and the long-standing tradition of student involvement in FFA and Career & Technical Education (CTE) programs.

The new Ag Expo Center will provide modern, multi-functional space for livestock shows, student exhibitions, hands-on learning, and more. Today's beam signing reflects both progress and partnership as the district continues its work to enhance educational opportunities for all students.
