"All Saints' Day"

Every year on November 1st, the Church celebrates something special: the countless souls who have it to our eternal home in heaven. All Saints' Day is a reminder that holiness is not just for a few chosen people. It is the ultimate calling that we should all strive for.

The history of this feast goes back many centuries. It began in 609, when Pope Boniface IV consecrated the old Roman Pantheon (pagan temple) to the Blessed Virgin Mary and all the martyrs. That moment marked one of the Church's first big acknowledgments that not just few saints but all those who lived faithfully deserved to be remembered and honored. A few hundred years later, Pope Gregory III moved the Feast to 1st November, dedicating a special chapel in St. Peter's Basilica to "all saints, martyrs, and confessors." Then later in 835 AD, Pope Gregory IV made it an official Holy Day of Obligation, meaning that Catholics everywhere were called to join in celebrating the great family of faith that came before us. All Saints' Day is more than just a date on the Church's calendar. It is a celebration of the communion of Saints, the connection that binds together all members of the Church across Heaven, Purgatory, and Earth. Those in Heaven, the Church Triumphant, are the saints who have finished the race and now see God face to face. On this day, we honor the saints and ask for their prayers, knowing that they intercede for us. We, the Church Militant, are still here on earth striving to live out our faith and fight against sin and temptation. All Saints' Day reminds us that we are not alone in this struggle; the saints in Heaven support us through their prayers, and examples show us that holiness is possible even amid daily challenges. Then the Church Suffering, the souls in Purgatory, are those who died in friendship with God but still undergo purification before entering Heaven.

The following Day, All Souls' Day. On this day we remember them in prayer, offering sacrifice and masses to help them on their journey toward the fullness of God's presence. Together, these parts of the Church- Triumphant, Suffering, and Militant- reveal the unity of God's family. All Saints' Day calls us to rejoice with the saints in Heaven while renewing our own commitment to holiness here on earth.

God bless you all. Fr. Henry
