

Case Study – Community Climate Action Overview

In early 2021, the Bruce Peninsula Biosphere Association received a federal grant from Natural Resources Canada to develop a Climate Action Plan for the local community.

Canvas was asked to support the project given its local and strategic planning expertise. The project will run until March 2022 and culminate with a council-approved plan as well as the launch of high-impact initiatives.

Impact Sizing

for the effects of climate change on the community, economy, and environment

Emissions Estimation

for both municipal operations and community activities under a variety of demographic scenarios

Community Mobilization

through a broad community consultation and education campaign

This project is presently underway – stay tuned for more details