I believe The Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion is a legitimate copy of minutes taken, or a report made, from a meeting in France in the late 1800's of the elite Jews at the time, who were descendants and torch-bearers of the same Pharisaical Jews in the days of Jesus (spiritually speaking if not biologically). They claim in their writing that their Protocol agenda stretches all the way back to King Solomon, who was one of the original framers of the plot to gain peaceful control over the entire world through intrigue and global manipulation.

If their plan of global conquest took centuries, then they were willing to wait, and pass down their "wisdom" and plans of world-domination to each new generation until the year of critical mass was reached, when all their plans finally arrived at fruition: the reign of their self-proclaimed messiah, the seed of David, and the new King of Israel, the Anti-Christ.

There is no way to know for certain if King Solomon had anything to do with this diabolical scheme, but there are Biblical markers to indicate that it is highly likely; and there are many Biblical warnings that just such a scheme would bear fruit in the last days: the days during and after the birth of Jesus.

King Solomon was given wisdom by God that was supposed to be greater than what any other human being had ever attained or would ever attain. The purpose of the wisdom given by God was so that Solomon would have the ability to build the great Temple of God, and also to rule over rebellious Israel with such brilliance that they would finally find peace and happiness in their kingdom, after years of wars with their neighbors that King David had been forced to fight.

In Ecclesiastes, Solomon laments his great works and wisdom by calling it all futile, and he likens it to chasing-the-wind. He said that with much wisdom comes much sorrow; and I imagine that's because he saw how useless life seemed, and how foolish and blind the people around him were. He feared that all he had gained for his people by his vast wisdom would be lost once he wasn't there to maintain it.

The Lord sent a prophet to let Solomon know that his kingdom would be divided once he was gone, due to Solomon's duplicity in trying to serve both God and a multitude of false gods that his foreign wives had brought into his life. As Solomon's spirit had been divided by his disloyalty to God, so God was going to divide Israel. Solomon was the head, and Israel was the body that followed him.

I believe this was a spiritual symbol of the loyal side of Solomon, and his disloyal side. As he had worshipped many foreign gods, so the largest part of Israel would be given to Jeroboam to rule, because Jeroboam was not of the seed of David, and he had no real right to rule over the nation, having not come from royal lineage. He was an Ephraimite, and because Solomon was jealous of him, he ran off to Egypt until Solomon died.

But God remembered his promise to King David that he and his seed would never fail to have a king on Israel's throne. That eternal king would be Jesus, the Messiah. God gave a small portion of Israel to Solomon's son, Rehoboam. God gave him the tribe of Judah, which contained the tiny tribe of Benjamin, and the city of Jerusalem. From Judah, and within Jerusalem, the seed of David, and the true King of Israel, was born, and he was Jesus.

As Solomon's spirit had been divided, so God divided his kingdom of Israel. Symbolically, the loyal side of Solomon would produce the true King of Israel, Jesus. And symbolically, the disloyal, idol-worshiping side of Solomon would produce the false king of Israel, the Anti-Christ. How?

Just as Solomon's father, David, had made preparations for the building of the temple after he died, so Solomon, knowing his great kingdom would be divided after his death, most likely made preparations for the Jews to retain his gold, worldly-wisdom, and power. While he was still living, he took his vast wisdom, and bringing in the Elders of Zion, he and they, most likely, just as the Protocols claim, formulated a plan for the Jews to keep ahold on the world's gold, to infiltrate the world's governments with their people, and in due course, to take firm and final hold on the entire planet with the supreme power of their "messiah", the "seed of David," and the "king of Israel."

King Solomon was great in wisdom, but he didn't understand God's plan, and he didn't understand that the Messiah would not come by the will and efforts of the Jews, but by the spiritual power of the Holy Spirit, making the Messiah both God and man. This wasn't something Solomon or the Elders of Zion could ever accomplish, nor did God ever instruct them to try, nor did it enter his mind.

The plot created by the wisdom of Solomon, and passed down through the Jewish Elders in a form that includes the Protocols, was much like Abraham thinking he could bring forth the promised son, Isaac, by having a son with Sarah's handmaid, Hagar; and we all know how that turned out. It's been a disaster since Sarah suggested it.

While I was reading Ezekiel 28, in which God is speaking to both the King of Tyre and Lucifer at the same time, I realized that all that was being said to the King of Tyre correlated perfectly to King Solomon; and I theorized that God may have code-named Solomon's disloyal side: The King of Tyre. And Ezekiel 28 may be a rebuke against Solomon's disloyal side, because Solomon's disloyal side had a great deal to do with his best-friend and next-door neighbor, Hiram, the King of Tyre.

According to Josephus, the Israeli historian, King Solomon had a running game with his next-door neighbor, Hiram, the King of Tyre, in which he sent a riddle or puzzle to Hiram to see if he could solve it; and in turn, Hiram sent Solomon riddles and puzzles to solve.

Hiram, the actual King of Tyre in Solomon's day, was really the Great Gold and Cedar Trader. He not only supplied Solomon with so much gold that silver became worthless, but he was the main architect of the Temple itself, and he was the primary master-craftsman. Even today, the Jewish-originated secret society, the Freemasons, use the name and idea of Hiram and Tyre all throughout their cult-like machinations.

What's more, Tyre produced purple dye that was used nearly exclusively for royal attire. So, in this, King Hiram adorned Solomon in his royal robes of purple, as if the beauty of Solomon's kingship over Israel was symbolically granted by the King of Tyre.

Solomon had befriended and relied on Hiram to the point that they were just about joined at the hip. And though it was God who gave Solomon the gold, cedar, skilled workmen, and royal lavishness, after a while, God faded from Solomon's heart, and what he could see and feel took-over.

Hiram and the city of Tyre were idolaters, and many temples were built there to honor false gods. Sidon, Tyre's suburb of sorts, also lent their false god, Asherah, to Israel for worship, and so Solomon worshipped her too.

God was drowned out and made jealous by Solomon's new loves.

I believe that God, in his jealousy, named Solomon's split-evil-side by the name of Solomon's new best-friend who supplied Solomon with vast riches, and spun his head with favors, trade, purple and gold: The King of Tyre. Solomon may have started relying on the King of Tyre more than he was relying on the God of his father David; and so, God, in his holy jealousy, sarcastically named Solomon's disloyal side, The King of Tyre.

In Ezekiel 28, God sends his word to a certain King of Tyre, and it's clear that in its meaning, God is also speaking about Lucifer simultaneously. God says, "You were the seal of perfection, full of wisdom and perfect in beauty." (Ezekiel 28 is on page 219 of this book.)

In Scripture, gold symbolizes perfection, and Solomon had built a city of gold, (and what's more, in one year, we're told that Solomon received 666 talents of gold, pinning Solomon with the mark of the beast by way of Jewish gold.) God himself gave Solomon his vast wisdom, and in Song of Solomon, we read that Solomon was beautiful. We have here perfection, wisdom, and beauty: exactly as Ezekiel 28:12 describes the person whom God is talking to in these verses.

My point here is this: I don't believe these words are speaking of the actual King of Tyre, Hiram. I believe these words are speaking of the symbolic evil-side of King Solomon: the side that worships gold and women and false gods, and the side that came up with the Protocols to maintain all the gold and power for the Jews after he was dead.

It is my theory that the Jewish nation symbolically split into two distinct entities, with two distinct agendas, when King Solomon's loyalty was split between God and Gold, just as the body of a snake follows the head, (and the snake is the emblem of the Protocol Elders, with the head being the Elders, and the body being the nation of Israel).

The Apostle Paul made mention that there are really no false gods, but those gods that are worshipped are actually just demons. Since demons are servants of Satan, then the symbology is really this: Israel's spiritual soul split between the worship of the true coming

King of Israel, Jesus, and the false coming king of Israel, the Anti-Christ.

This is all speaking symbolically and spiritually. It speaks of the symbolic, spiritual frame of mind of the Jewish leadership, and not the actual people and nation of Israel. It speaks of the agenda of God, and the agenda of Satan, as played out in the leadership and history of Israel. The Jewish people are not to blame for any of this; they are just like the Gentiles, in that they are given the opportunity to accept Jesus as their Lord, and many of them do and will. This theory is not anti-Semitic, in that I have never held a grudge against the Jewish people of the Lord, and indeed, I would be too afraid of God to do such a thing.

So, what does Solomon's spiritual evil side look like? Well, The King of Tyre loves gold, and he worships money and false gods, and he uses women, and he lies, and he craves power over the whole world, and he hates the Gentiles and considers them to be nothing more than beasts of burden. And from this evil side of Solomon, "The King of Tyre", came the Pharisees and Sadducees and the Protocol Elders; because they are the inheritors of Solomon's plot to preserve Israel's gold and power after he and his wisdom died.

Truly, it was, and remains, a plot against the will of God. God's plan was to bring forth the seed of David through Judah, but the evil side of Solomon refused to submit to God's plan, and he made a plan of his own to preserve his gold and power. That "plan" is the spiritual King of Tyre, and that "plan" wars against the spiritual plan of God which is Jesus.

When Jesus arrived in Israel, he was the true embodiment of the good side of Solomon and the true seed of David from the tribe of Judah. The spirit of the King of Tyre in the Jewish Elders hated Jesus with a murderous hatred. Scripture says the Jewish Elders and Pharisees loved money, but Jesus loved God; and they were jealous of Jesus, but Jesus longed for their salvation; and they ignored all of Jesus's miracles, so Jesus called them blind; and they schemed to dominate him and kill him, and they gave money to a betrayer, and they crucified Jesus between two criminals, not knowing that Jesus thereby died for the sins of the world; and when Jesus rose again, they buried this fact under lies.

Jesus said to the Jewish Elders, "You are of your father the Devil, and you want to do his will. He was a murderer from the beginning and no truth is in him. When he speaks a lie, he speaks from his own nature, for he is a liar and the Father of Lies." John 8:44

It is my belief that the same Elders that killed Jesus were merely that generation's Protocol Elders, and it all started with the splitting of King Solomon's spirit, which split the nation of Israel, which made Satan's agenda and God's agenda readily apparent within the Jewish people, and it will end in the last Great War in the Valley of Decision, in which a final decision between God and Satan must be made, and all must choose either disobedient Israel, or faithful Judah: Jesus or the King of Tyre.

I believe the Protocols are real for the reason I just described. I also believe they are real because Scripture, both the Old Testament and the New, describes the Elders of Zion exactly, and God gives warning about them, because God is not deceived by them or their father, the Devil. We would be deceived, but God is not, and so God warns us and tells us the truth about them, literally all throughout the Bible; and what God describes is exactly what we see and witness in the following Protocol writings.

I also believe these writings are legitimate because of all that took place in the 1900's, and all that's taking place in this century, most especially in the year 2020, when democracy in America has been robbed from the people, and all the world has been put on lock down, leading to the destruction of the laboring class, while the elite are getting richer, more powerful, more tyrannical, and they've put their Agenda 21 and Agenda 30 online, through the UN, for all to see; and it is absolutely diabolical. It's theft of the planet and abasement of human life. What's more, even the Catholic Pope is pushing for globalism, and a one world government.

I believe these Protocols are real because of the vicious evil of the media news outlets today, and the lies they spew daily, and the power they've taken away from anyone who tells the truth about virtually anything. They've turned the world upside down, and they've made themselves its lying master.

The social media sites are barring and banning anyone and anything that warns of the truth. Google, Twitter, Facebook, etc.: they have all taken over the narrative and are silencing the truth. Amazon is banning the publishing of books that, as they say, are against their narrative. I truly do not believe this book will make it onto Amazon, but we'll soon see. All of this, as you'll read, were the schemes of the Protocol Elders long before the internet was invented.

The notion of setting up a one world government has been in the works for a long time, and it is now coming to fruition; and the Protocols were promising it all the way back in the 1800's, that we know of; but of course, to the Protocol Elders and Biblical prophecy, it was promised thousands of years ago.

The Apostles, after Jesus's death, warned of the Man of Lawlessness that would come to power in the last days as a master of intrigue, and this same man was foretold by Daniel's prophecies, and there too he was called the Master of Intrigue. But we are told that in the Apostles' day, there were many anti-Christ's already, and that the mystery of lawlessness was already at work in the world.

I believe the mystery of lawlessness is, in fact, Solomon's evil side, the King of Tyre, who lives and works within the Jewish Protocol Elders and their Luciferian agenda to set up their version of the king of Israel, the seed of David: the Anti-Christ.

But Christians follow the seed of David through Judah, the good side of Solomon, the true Messiah, the true King of Israel, Jesus Christ the Lord, the Ancient of Days. We are with the few and not the many; we are with the symbolic little tribe of Judah instead of the symbolic giant Israel. We travel the narrow path and not the wide path that leads to destruction.

Praise be to the Lord Jesus Christ!

Preface to the Fifth Edition

The Brittons, London, 1921

The exhaustion of yet another edition of this work shows that there is no falling off in the public demand to be informed about the Protocols of Zion. It is becoming clearer every day that the policy of the Protocols is now being enforced on all nations, since, as Mr. Israel Zang boasts, their governments are all packed with Jews and their agents.

To Professor Sergyei Nilus, the world is indebted for the publication of this terrible book. Thus, it happens that while Russia has been made the victim of Jewry's undying hate, having been selected by the Elders of Zion to be made an example of Jewish vengeance, Russia has also sounded the tocsin¹ which has aroused the world. To the courage, persistence, and devotion of this true son of real Russia, the world owes it that the Hidden Hand is now laid bare to its skin and claws. The chaos prevailing everywhere here finds its object and cause explained.

Let every reader of the Protocols study well the Introduction and the Epilogue, which are contributed by Nilus himself, and especially the Epilogue in connection with Protocol III., revealing the track of the Symbolic Serpent in its strangling coil around Europe. The poignancy of the writer's grief over the then impending fate of his beloved country, which he tried in vain to avert, cannot fail to out every sympathetic reader to the heart.

And it must be borne in mind that Nilus first published the Protocols in 1902; that the edition from which our translation was made was published in 1905, and that the actual copy which was used in the translation is now in the British Museum, having stamped on it the date of its reception, 10th August, 1906. There is no getting over these dates, which prove that the World War, the crucifixion of Russia, strikes, revolutions, and assassinations have all taken place “according to plan.” And that plan was not the plan of Germany, nor the plan of England, nor the plan of any other nation except the nation of Jewry, with its secret language and secret government – The Hidden Hand – now, at length, completely revealed in the Protocols, which, it need hardly be said, were never intended for Gentile eyes to see.

Of course, Jews say the Protocols are a forgery. But the Great War was no forgery; the fate of Russia is no forgery; and these were predicted by the Learned Elders as long ago as 1901. The Great War was no German war—it was a Jew war. It was plotted by Jews and was waged by Jewry on the Stock Exchanges of the world. The generals and the admirals were all controlled by Jewry. The revelations of the Jutland Battle and its sequel give one small example of how the Jews conducted the war, whether by land or sea, and how they secured the “profits” of the war for Jews, and how they obtained controlling power for Jewry over all the belligerents.

Reader! The publication of this work throws a great responsibility on You.

INTRODUCTION

Sergyei Nilus, 1905

A manuscript has been handed to me by a personal friend, now deceased, which with extraordinary precision and clearness describes the plan and development of a sinister world-wide conspiracy, having for its object that of bringing the unregenerate world to its inevitable dismemberment.

This document came into my possession some four years ago (1901) with the positive assurance that it is a true copy in translation of original documents stolen by a woman from one of the most influential and most highly initiated leaders of Freemasonry. [Orient Freemasonry] The theft was accomplished at the close of a secret meeting of the "initiated" in France, that nest of "Jewish masonic conspiracy."

To those who would see and hear, I venture to reveal this manuscript under the title: The Protocols of the Elders of Zion. On first scanning through these minutes, they might convey the impression of being what we usually call truisms, and appear to be more or less ordinary truths, though expressed with a pungency and a hatred which does not usually accompany ordinary truths. There seethes between the lines that arrogant and deep-rooted racial and religious hatred which has been so long successfully concealed, and it bubbles over and flows, as it were, from an overfilled vessel of rage and revenge, fully conscious that its triumphant end is near.

We cannot omit to remark that its title does not altogether correspond to its contents. These are not exactly minutes of meetings, but a report made by some powerful person, divided into sections not always in a logical sequence. They convey the impression of being the part of something threatening and more important, the beginning of which is missing.

The afore-mentioned origin of this document speaks for itself.

By the prophecies of the Holy Fathers, Anti-Christ's doings must always be a parody on Christ's life, and must have likewise their Judas. But, of course, from an earthly point of view, its Judas will not achieve his ends; thus, although of brief duration, a complete victory of the "world ruler" is assured. This reference to W. Soloviev's words is not intended to be used as a proof of their scientific authority. From an eschatological point of view, science is out of place; the important part is fate. Soloviev gives us the canvas; the embroidery will be worked by the proposed manuscript.

We might be justly reproached with the apocryphal nature of this document; but were it possible to prove this world-wide conspiracy by means of letters or by declarations of witnesses, and if its leaders could be unmasked holding its sanguinary² threads, the “mysteries of iniquity” would, by this very fact, be violated. To prove itself, it has to remain unmolested till the day of its incarnation in the “son of perdition.”

In the present complications of criminal proceedings, we cannot look for direct proofs, but we have to be satisfied with circumstantial evidence, and with such the mind of every indignant Christian observer is filled.

That which is written in this work ought to suffice for those “who have ears to hear” as being obvious, and is offered to them with the intention of urging them to protect themselves while there is yet time, and to be on their guard. Our conscience will be satisfied if, by the grace of God, we attain this most important aim of warning the Gentile world without exciting in its heart wrath against the blinded people of Israel. We trust that the Gentiles will not entertain feelings of hatred against the erroneously believing mass of Israel in its innocence of the Satanic sin of its leaders—the Scribes and Pharisees—who have already once proved themselves to be the destruction of Israel. Turning aside the wrath of God, there remains but one way—union of all Christians in Our Lord Jesus Christ and total extermination—repentance for ourselves and for others.

But is this possible in the present unregenerate condition of the world? It is impossible for the world, but still possible for believing Russia. The present political conditions of western European states and of their affiliated countries in other continents were prophesied by the Prince of Apostles. Mankind in its aspiration to perfect its terrestrial life, and in its search of a better realization of the idea of power which could secure everybody's well-being, and in its quest of a reign of universal satiety³ which has become the highest ideal of human life, has changed the direction of its ideals by pronouncing the Christian faith as entirely discredited and not having justified the hopes bestowed on it.

Overthrowing former idols, creating new ones, and raising new gods on to pedestals, the world erects for them temples, one more luxurious and more magnificent than the other, and again deposes and destroys them. Mankind has lost the very conception of the power granted by God to kings anointed, and is approaching the conditions of anarchy. Soon the swivel of the republican and constitutional scales will be worn through. The scales will collapse, and in their fall will carry away all the governments to the very abyss of raging anarchy.

³ Satiety: satisfy fully or to excess. (Merriam-Webster)

The world's last rampart and last refuge from the coming storm is Russia. Her true faith is still alive, and the anointed Emperor still stands as her sure protector.

All the efforts of destruction on the part of the sinister and evident servants of the Anti-Christ, his conscious and unconscious workers, are concentrated on Russia. The reasons are understood, the objects are known, they must be known to believing and faithful Russia.

The more threatening the coming historical moment is, the more frightening the approaching events concealed in the dense clouds are, the more courageously and with greater determination the brave and intrepid hearts of the Russians must beat. Bravely ought they to join hands around the sacred banner of their Church and around the throne of their Emperor. So long as the soul lives, so long also the flaming heart beats in the bosom, there is no room for the deathly specter of despair; but it is for us, and for our fidelity, to gain the

Almighty's mercy and to delay the hour of Russia's fall. (1905)

PROTOCOLS OF THE LEARNED ELDERS OF ZION

We will be plainspoken and discuss the significance of each reflection, and by comparisons and deductions, we will produce full explanations. By this means, I will expose the conception of our policy and that of the Goys' (i.e., Jewish definition of all Gentiles).

It must be noted that people with corrupt instincts are more numerous than those of noble instinct. Therefore, in governing the world, the best results are obtained by means of violence and intimidation, and not by academic discussions.⁴ Every man aims at power; everyone would like to become a dictator if he could only do so, and rare indeed are the men who would not be disposed to sacrifice the welfare of others in order to attain their own personal aims.

What restrained the wild beasts of prey which we call men? What has ruled them up to now? In the first stages of social life, they submitted to brute and blind force, then to law, which in reality is the same force, only masked. From this I am led to deduct that by the law of nature, right lies in might.⁵

Political freedom is not a fact but an idea. This idea one must know how to apply when it is necessary, in order to use the same as a bait to attract the power of the populace to one's party, if such party has decided to usurp the power of a rival. The problem is simplified if the said rival becomes infected with ideas of freedom, so-called liberalism, and for the sake of this idea yields some of his power.

⁵ Right lies in might in the animal kingdom, but mankind was made in the image of God, so the Bible says in Jude 1:10: "These men slander what they do not understand, and like brute beasts, they will be destroyed by the things they do by natural instinct." And, 2 Peter 2:12: "These men are like irrational animals, creatures of instinct, born to be captured and destroyed." (P.A.)

In this, the triumph of our idea will become apparent. The relinquished reins of government by the law of life are immediately seized by a new hand, because the blind strength of the populace cannot exist for a single day without a leader, and the new government only fills the place of the old, which has been weakened by its liberalism.

Nowadays, the power of gold has superseded liberal rulers. There was a time when religion ruled. The idea of freedom is not realizable, because no one knows how to use it with discretion.

It suffices to give the populace self-government for a short period in order for this populace to become a disorganized rabble. From that very moment, dissensions start which soon develop into social battles; the states are set in flames, and their total significance vanishes. Whether the state is exhausted by its own internal convulsions, or whether civil wars hand it over to an external foe, it can in any case be considered as definitely and finally destroyed—it will be in our power. The despotism of capital, which is entirely in our hands, will hold out to it a straw, to which the state will be unavoidably compelled to cling; and if it does not do so, it will inevitably fall into the abyss.

Of anybody who might, from motives of liberalism, be inclined to remark that discussions of this kind are immoral, I would ask the question: why is it not immoral for a state which has two enemies, one external and one internal, to use different means of defense against the former to that which it would use against the latter, to make secret plans of defense, to attack him by night or with superior forces? Why should it then be immoral for the state to use these means against that which ruins the foundations and welfare of life?

Can a sound and logical mind hope successfully to govern mobs by using arguments and reasoning, when there is a possibility of such arguments and reasonings being contradicted by other arguments, although these may possibly be ridiculous, but are made to appear more attractive to that portion of the populace which cannot think very deeply, guided as it is entirely by petty passions, habits, and conventions, and by sentimental theories?

The uninitiated and ignorant populace, together with those who have risen from among them, get entangled in party dissensions which hinder all possibility of agreement, even on a basis of sound arguments. Every decision of the masses is dependent on a chance or prearranged majority, which, in its ignorance of political mysteries, passes absurd resolutions, thus sowing the germs of anarchy in the government. ⁶

Politics have nothing in common with morals. A ruler governed by morals is not a skilled politician, hence he is not firm on his throne. He who wants to rule must have recourse to cunningness and hypocrisy. The great human qualities of sincerity and honesty become vices in politics. They dethrone with more certainty than the bitterest enemy. These qualities have to be the attributes of the Gentile countries, but we are not in the least forced to be guided by them.⁷

⁶ Isaiah 10:1: "Woe to those who enact unjust statutes and issue oppressive decrees. . . ." (P.A.)

Our right lies in might. The word “right” is an abstract idea established by nothing. This word signifies no more than “give me what I want in order to enable me to prove thereby that I am stronger than you are.”

Where does “right” begin? Where does it end? In a state where power is badly organized, where the laws and the personality of the ruler are rendered inefficacious by the continual encroaching of liberalism, I take up a new line of attack, making use of the right of might to destroy the existing rules and regulations, seize the laws, reorganize all the institutions, and thus become the dictator of those who, of their own free-will, liberally renounced their power and conferred it on us. Our strength under the present shaky condition of the civil powers will be stronger than any other, because it will be invisible until the moment when it becomes so strong that no cunning designs will undermine it.

From the temporary evil, to which we are now obliged to have recourse, will emerge the benefit of an unshakable rule, which will reinstate the course of the mechanism of natural existence, which has been destroyed by liberalism. The end justifies the means. In making our plans, we must pay attention not so much to what is good and moral, as to what is necessary and profitable.

We have in front of us a plan in which a strategic line is shown. From that line we cannot deviate unless we are going to destroy the work of centuries. To work out a suitable scheme of action, one must bear in mind the meanness, instability, and want of ballast on the part of the crowd, its incapability to understand and respect the conditions of its own existence and of its own welfare. One must understand that the might of the crowd is blind and void of reason in discrimination, and that it lends its ear right and left. If the blind lead the blind, they will both fall together into the ditch.⁸

Consequently, those members of the crowd who are upstarts from the people, even were they geniuses, cannot come forward as leaders of the mass without ruining the nation. Only a person brought up to autocratic⁹ sovereignty can read the words formed by political letters. The people abandoned to itself,

⁸ In this thought, they show wisdom, for Proverbs 4:26 says, "Mark out a straight path for your feet, and do not turn to the left or to the right. . . ." But here is where they go wrong, for verse 27 continues by saying, "turn your feet from evil."

⁹ Autocratic: a person (such as a monarch) ruling with unlimited power. (MW) as in the upstarts from the masses, is ruined by party dissensions which arise from greed of power and honors and which create disturbances and disorder.

Is it possible for the mass to discriminate quietly, and without jealousies to administer the affairs of state which they must not confuse with their personal interests? Can they be a defense against a foreign foe? This is impossible, as a plan broken up into as many parts as there are minds in the mass loses its value, and therefore, becomes unintelligible and unworkable.

Alone, an autocrat can conceive vast plans clearly, assigning its proper part to everything in the mechanism of the machine of state. Hence, we conclude that the government of the same should be in the hands of one responsible person. Without absolute despotism, civilization cannot exist, for civilization is capable of being promoted only under the protection of the ruler, whoever he may be, and not at the hands of the masses.

The crowd is a barbarian, and acts as such on every occasion. As soon as the mob has secured freedom, it speedily turns it into anarchy, which in itself is the height of barbarism.¹⁰

Just look at these alcoholic animals stupefied by the drink, of which unlimited use is tolerated by freedom. Should we allow ourselves and our fellow creatures to do likewise? The people of the Christians are bewildered by alcohol, their youths turned crazy by classics and early debauchery, to which they have been instigated by our agents, tutors, servants, governesses in rich houses, clerks, and so forth, by our women in places of their amusement—to the latter I add the so-called “society women” –their voluntary followers in corruption and luxury. Our motto must be: “All means of force and hypocrisy.”¹¹

¹⁰ Anarchy comes from perceived prolonged oppression, or the infiltration of deliberate lies to upset society; it does not come from freedom. These Zionist Elders are the men who plot to upset the masses through deceit, and then blame it on freedom or capitalism so that they can drive the young and ignorant to anarchy, and then to the chains and poverty of socialism/communism.

Only sheer force is victorious in politics, especially if it is concealed in the talent indispensable for statesmen. Violence must be the principle; cunning and hypocrisy must be the rule of those governments which do not wish to lay down their crown at the feet of the agents of some new power.¹² This evil is the only means of attaining the goal of good. Therefore, we must not stop short before bribery, deceit, and treachery, if these are to serve the achievement of our cause.

In politics, we must know how to confiscate property without any hesitation, if by so doing we can attain subjection and power. Our state, following the way of peaceful conquest, has the right to substitute for the terrors of war executions, less apparent and more expedient, which are necessary to uphold terror, producing blind submission.

¹¹ Matthew 24:51: “The Master will come on a day he does not expect. Then he will cut him to pieces and assign him a place with the hypocrites, where there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.” And 23:27: “Woe to you, teachers of the Law and Pharisees, you hypocrites!” (said Jesus). (P.A.)

Just and implacable severity is the chief factor in State power. Not only for the sake of advantage, but also for that of duty and victory, we must keep to the program of violence and hypocrisy. Our principles are as powerful as the means by which we put them into execution. That is why not only by these very means, but by the severity of our doctrines, we shall triumph and shall enslave all governments under our super-government.

It suffices that it should be known that we are implacable in preventing recalcitrance.¹³ Even of old we were the first to cry out to the people, "Liberty, equality, and fraternity." Words so often repeated since that time by ignorant parrots flocking together from far and wide around these signposts, and by repeating them, they deprived the world of its prosperity and the individual of his real personal freedom, which formerly had been so well guarded from being choked by the mob.

The would-be wise and intelligent Gentiles did not discern how abstract were the words which they were uttering, and did not notice how little these words agreed with one another and even contradicted each other.¹⁴

They did not see that in nature, there is no equality, and that she herself created different and unequal standards of mind, character and capacity. It is likewise with the subjection of nature's laws. These wiseacres did not divine that the mob is a blind power, and that the

¹⁴ Freedom: "It was for freedom that Christ set you free." (Galatians 5:1)
Equality: "Do not be called Rabbi, for you are all equals as brothers and sisters in Christ."(Matthew 23:8) Fraternity: "How good and pleasant it is for brothers and sisters to dwell together in unity." (Psalm 133:1) Though the Protocol Elders would have people believe that these words are empty, and that they themselves invented them to circumvent whole societies under a banner of silliness, they are liars. God is the creator of freedom, unity, and brotherly love; and it is all found in the One who died for our sins on the cross: Jesus the Lord and Messiah. (P.A.)

upstarts elected from its midst as rulers are likewise blind in politics; that a man intending to be a ruler, although a fool, can govern; but a man who has not been so intended, although he might be a genius, would understand nothing of politics. All this was left out of sight by the Gentiles.

At the same time, it was on this basis that dynastic rule was founded. The father used to instruct the son in the meaning and in the course of political evolutions in such a manner that no one except the members of the dynasty should have knowledge of it, and that none could disclose the secrets to the governed people. In time, the meaning of true political teachings as transmitted in dynasties from one generation to another was lost, and this loss contributed to the success of our cause.

Our call of “Liberty, equality, and fraternity” brought whole legions to our ranks from all four corners of the world through our unconscious agents, and these legions carried our banners with ecstasy.

In the meantime, these words were eating, like so many worms into the well-being of the Christians and were destroying their peace, steadfastness and unity, thus ruining the foundations of the states. As we shall see later on, it was this action which brought about our triumph. It gave us the possibility among other things of playing the ace of trumps—namely, the abolition of privileges, or in other words, the existence of the Gentile aristocracy, which was the only protection nations and countries had against ourselves.

On the ruins of natural and hereditary aristocracy, we built an aristocracy of our own on a plutocratic¹⁵ basis. We established this new aristocracy on wealth, of which we had control, and on science promoted by our scholars. Our triumph was rendered easier by the fact that we, through our connections with people who were indispensable to us, always worked upon the most susceptible part of the human mind, namely, by playing on our victims' weakness for profits, on their greed, on their insatiability, and on the material requirements of man; for each one of the said weaknesses, taken by itself, is capable of destroying initiative, thus handing over the will-power of the people to the mercy of those who would deprive them of all their power of initiative.¹⁶

The abstractness of the word "freedom" made it possible to convince the mob that the government is nothing else than a manager, representing the owner, that is to say, the nation, and can be discarded like a worn-out pair of gloves. The fact that the representatives of the nation can be deposed delivered these representatives into our power and practically put their appointment into our hands.

¹⁶ They are currently attempting to take away people's power of initiative, all over the world, with the fake Covid-19 pandemic; and they are depriving people of their incomes, their businesses, their freedom of movement, and their power to have and create relationships. As well, they will soon take away everyone's right to personal transportation over the lie of Global Warming, which their "wealth and science" (so-called) are pushing on the world. And many are submitting to these lies because their initiative to think for themselves has been long since taken away from them by non-stop media-conditioning, and they are part of the deceived mob. (P.A.)

It is indispensable for our purpose that wars should not produce any territorial alterations. Thus, without territorial modifications, war would be transferred on to an economical footing. Then nations will recognize our superiority in the assistance which we shall render, and this state of affairs will put both sides at the mercy of our international million-eyed agents, who are possessed of absolutely unlimited means. Then our international rights will sweep away the laws of the world and will rule countries in the same manner as individual governments rule their subjects.

We will select administrators from among the public who will be possessed of servile tendencies. They will not be experienced in the art of government and therefore will be easily turned into pawns in our game in the hands of learned and wise counsellors, who have been especially trained from early childhood for governing the world. As is already known to you, these men have studied the science of governing from our political plans, from experience of history, and from observation of passing events.

The Gentiles do not profit by continuous historical observations, but follow theoretical routine without contemplating what the results of the same may be. Therefore, we need not take the Gentiles into consideration. Let them enjoy themselves until the time comes, or let them live in hope of new amusements or on the reminiscences of passed joys. Let them think that these laws of theory, with which we have inspired them, are of supreme importance to them.

With this object in view, and with the help of our presses, we continually increase their blind faith in these laws. The educated classes of the Gentiles will pride themselves in their learning, and without verifying it, they will put into practice the knowledge obtained from science which was dished up to them by our agents with the object of educating their minds in the direction which we required.

Do not imagine that our assertions are empty words. Note here the success of Darwin, Marx and Nietzsche, prearranged by us. The demoralizing effect of the tendencies of these sciences on the Gentile mind should certainly be obvious to us.

In order to refrain from making mistakes in our policy and administrative work, it is essential for us to study and bear in mind the present line of thought, the characters and tendencies of nations.

The triumph of our theory is its adaptability to the temperament of the nations with which we come in contact. It cannot be successful if its practical application is not based on the experience of the past in conjunction with observations of the present.

The press in the hands of existing governments is a great power by which the control of peoples' minds is obtained. The press demonstrates the vital claims of the populace, advertises complaints and sometimes creates discontent among the mob. The realization of free speech is born in the press.

But governments did not know how to make proper use of this power, and it fell into our hands. Through the press we achieved influence, although we ourselves kept in the background. Thanks to the press, we accumulated gold, though it cost us streams of blood: it cost us the sacrifice of many of our people, but every sacrifice on our side is worth thousands of Gentiles before God.¹⁷

Today, I can assure you that we are only within a few strides of our goal. There remains only a short distance and the cycle of the Symbolic Serpent—that badge of our people—will be complete. When this circle is locked, all the States of Europe will be enclosed in it, as it were, by unbreakable chains.¹⁸

The existing constructional scales will soon collapse because we are continually throwing them out of balance in order the more quickly to wear them out and destroy their efficiency.

The Gentiles thought that the scales had been made sufficiently strong and expected them to balance accurately. But the supporters of the scales—that is to say, the heads of States—are hampered by their servants who are of no avail to them, drawn away as they are by this unlimited power of intrigue which is theirs, thanks to the terrors prevailing in the palaces.

¹⁸ Today, controlling Europe is not the Elders' only aim, but they have wrapped their serpent around China, Russia, America, etc. The entire world is now under the control of the Jewish Zionists. As for Europe's "unbreakable chains", one need only watch the British trying to escape the EU through Brexit to see that they are being torn to pieces in the attempt.

As the sovereign has no means of access to the hearts of his people, he cannot defend himself against the power-loving intriguers. As the watchful power has been separated by us from the blind power of the populace, both have lost their significance, because once parted, they are as helpless as a blind man without a stick.

In order to induce lovers of power to make bad use of their rights, we set all powers one against the other by encouraging their liberal tendencies towards independence. We encouraged every undertaking in this direction; we placed formidable weapons in the hands of all parties and made power the goal of every ambition. Out of governments we made arenas on which party wars are fought out.

Soon open disorder and bankruptcy will appear everywhere. Insuppressible babblers transformed parliamentary and administrative meetings into debating meetings. Audacious journalists and impudent pamphleteers are continually attacking the administrative powers.

Abuse of power will definitely prepare the crash of all institutions and everything will fall prostrate under the blows of the raging populace. The people are enslaved in the sweat of their brows in poverty after a manner more formidable than the laws of serfdom. From the latter they could free themselves by some means or another, whereas nothing will liberate them from the tyranny of absolute want.

We took care to insert rights in constitutions which for the masses are purely fictitious. All the so-called "rights of the people" can only exist in ideas which are not applicable in practice. How does it avail a workman of the proletariat¹⁹, who is bent double by hard work and oppressed by his fate, if a chatterer gets the right to speak or a journalist the right to publish any kind of rubbish? What good is a constitution to the proletariat if they get no other advantage from it except the crumbs which we throw them from our table in return for their votes to elect our agents?

Republican rights are an irony for the pauper, for the necessity of every day's labor keeps him from gaining any advantage by such rights, and it only takes away the guarantee of continuous fixed wages, making him dependent on strikes, employers, and comrades. Under our auspices, the populace exterminated the aristocracy which had supported and guarded the people for its own benefit, which benefit is inseparable from the welfare of the populace. Nowadays, having destroyed the privileges of the aristocracy, the people fall under the yoke of cunning profiteers and upstarts.

We intend to appear as though we were the liberators of the laboring man, come to free him from this oppression, when we shall suggest to him to join the ranks of our armies of socialists, anarchists and communists. The latter we always patronize, pretending to help them out of fraternal principle and the general interest of humanity evoked by our socialistic masonry.

The aristocracy, who by right shared the labor of the working classes, were interested in the same being well-fed, healthy and strong. We are interested in the opposite, i.e., in the degeneration of the Gentiles. Our strength lies in keeping the working man in perpetual want and impotence; because, by so doing, we retain him subject to our will, and in his own surroundings, he will never find either power or energy to stand up against us. Hunger will confer upon capital more powerful rights over the laborer than ever the lawful power of the sovereign could confer upon the aristocracy.

We govern the masses by making use of feelings of jealousy and hatred kindled by oppression and need. By means of these feelings, we brush aside those who impede us in our course.

When the time comes for our worldly ruler to be crowned, we will see to it that by the same means—that is to say, by making use of the mob—we will destroy everything that may prove to be an obstacle in our way.²⁰

The Gentiles are no longer capable of thinking without our aid in matters of science. That is why they do not realize the vital necessity of certain things, which we will make a point of keeping against the moment when our hour arrives—namely, that in schools, the only true and the most important of all sciences must be taught, that is, the science of the life of man and social conditions, both of which require a division of labor, and therefore, the classification of people in castes and classes.

It is imperative that everyone should know that true equality cannot exist, owing to the different nature of various kinds of work; and those who act in a manner detrimental to the whole caste have a different responsibility before the law to those who commit a crime only affecting their personal honor.

The true science of social conditions, to the secrets of which we do not admit the Gentiles, would convince the world that occupations and labor should be kept in specified castes so as not to cause human suffering arising from an education which does not correspond with the work which individuals are called upon to do. If they were to study this science, the people would of their own free will submit to the ruling powers and to the castes of government classified by them.

Under the present conditions of science and the line which we have allowed it to follow, the populace, in its ignorance, blindly believes in printed words and in erroneous illusions which have been duly inspired by us, and it bears malice to all classes which it thinks higher than itself. For it does not understand the importance of each caste. This hatred will become still more acute where economic crises are concerned, for then it will stop the markets and production.

We will create a universal economic crisis, by all possible underhanded means and with the help of gold, which is all in our hands. Simultaneously, we will throw onto the street huge crowds of workmen throughout Europe. These masses will then gladly throw themselves upon and shed the blood of those of whom, in their ignorance, they have been jealous from childhood, and whose belongings they will then be able to plunder.²¹

They will not harm us, because the moment of the attack will be known to us, and we will take measures to protect our interests.

We persuaded the Gentiles that liberalism would bring them to a kingdom of reason. Our despotism will be of this nature, for it will be in a position to put down all rebellions, and by just severity, to exterminate every liberal idea from all institutions.

When the populace noticed that it was being given all sorts of rights in the name of liberty, it imagined itself to be the master, and tried to assume power. Of course, like every other blind man, the mass came up against innumerable obstacles. Then, as it did not wish to return to the former regime, it lay its power at our feet. Remember the French Revolution, which we call the "Great", the secrets of its preparatory organization are well known to us, being the work of our hands. From that time onwards, we have led nations from one disappointment to another, so that they should even renounce us in favor of the king-despot of the blood of Zion, whom we are preparing for the world.

At present, we as an international force are invulnerable, because while we are attacked by one Gentile government, we are upheld by others. In their intense meanness, the Christian people help our independence when kneeling they crouch before power; when they are pitiless towards the weak; merciless in dealing with faults and lenient to crimes; when they refuse to recognize the contradictions of freedom; when they are patient to the degree of martyrdom in bearing with the violence of an audacious despotism.

At the hands of their present dictators, premiers, and ministers, they endure abuses, for the smallest of which they would have murdered twenty kings. How is this state of affairs to be explained? Why are the masses so illogical in their conception of events? The reason is that despots persuade the people through their agents, that although they may misuse their power and do injury to the state, this injury is done with a high purpose, i.e., in order to attain prosperity for the populace, for the sake of international fraternity, unity, and equality.

Certainly, they do not tell them that such unification can only be obtained under our rule. So, we see the populace condemning the innocent and acquitting the guilty, convinced that it can always do what it pleases. Owing to this state of mind, the mob destroys all solidity and creates disorder at every turn and corner.

The word "liberty" brings society into conflict with all the powers, even with that of nature and of God. That is why, when we come into power, we must strike the word "liberty" out of the human dictionary, as being the symbol of bestial power, which turns the populace into blood-thirsty animals. But we must bear in mind that these animals fall asleep as soon as they are satiated with blood, and at that moment, it is easy to enchant and enslave them. If they are not given blood, they will not sleep, but will fight with one another.

Every republic passes through various stages. The first stage is the first days raging of the blind, sweeping and destroying right and left. The second, the reign of the demagogue, bringing forth anarchy and entailing despotism. This despotism is not officially legal, and therefore, irresponsible. It is concealed and invisible, but all the same, lets itself be felt. It is generally controlled by some secret organization which acts behind the back of some agent, and will therefore be the more unscrupulous and daring.

This secret power will not mind changing its agents who mask it. The changes will even help the organization, which will thus be able to rid itself of old servants, to whom it would have been necessary to pay larger bonuses for long service. Who or what can dethrone an invisible power? Now this is just what our government is. The masonic lodge throughout the world unconsciously acts as a mask for our purpose. But the use that we are going to make of this power in our plan of action, and even our headquarters, remain perpetually unknown to the world at large.²²

Liberty could be harmless and exist in governments and countries without being detrimental to the welfare of the people if it was based on religion and fear of God, on human fraternity, free from ideas and equality, which are in direct contradiction to the laws of creation, and which have ordained submission.

²² Unfortunately, many of the founding fathers of American government and politics were Freemasons, even the first President: George Washington; and most of the buildings and monuments in Washington D.C. are covered in Freemason symbols and architecture, which includes Egyptian idol worship. (P.A.)

Governed by such a faith as this, the people would be ruled under the guardianship of their parishes, and would exist quietly and humbly under the guidance of the spiritual pastor, and submit to God's disposition on earth. That is why we must extract the very conception of God from the minds of the Christians and replace it by arithmetical calculations and material needs.

In order to divert the minds of the Christians from our policy, it is essential that we should keep them occupied with trade and commerce. All nations will be striving for their own profits, and in this universal struggle will not notice their common enemy. But so that liberty should entirely dislocate and ruin the social life of the Gentiles, we must put commerce on a speculative basis. The result of this will be that the riches of the land extracted by production will not remain in the hands of the Gentiles, but will pass through speculation into our coffers.²³

The struggle for superiority and continuous speculations in the business world will create a demoralized, selfish, and heartless society. This society will become completely indifferent and even disgusted by religion and politics. Lust of gold will be their only guide.

And this society will strive after this gold, making a veritable cult of the materialistic pleasures with which it can keep them supplied. Then the lower classes will join us against our competitors—the privileged Gentiles—with no pretense to a noble motive, or even for the sake of riches, but out of pure hatred towards the upper class.

What kind of government can one give to societies in which bribery and corruption have penetrated everywhere; where riches can only be obtained by cunning surprises and fraudulent means; in which dissensions continuously prevail; where morality must be supported by punishment and strict laws, and not by voluntary accepted principles; in which patriotic and religious feelings are merged in cosmopolitan²⁴ convictions?

What form of government can be given to these societies other than the despotic form, which I will describe to you?

We will organize a strong centralized government so as to gain social powers for ourselves. By new laws, we will regulate the political life of our subjects, as though they were so many parts of a machine. Such laws will gradually restrict all freedom and liberties allowed by the Gentiles. Thus, our reign will develop into such a mighty despotism, that it will be able at any time or place to squash discontent or recalcitrant Gentiles.²⁵

²⁴ Cosmopolitan: having wide international sophistication. (MW)

²⁵ Communism and Nazism were bad enough, but America was still there to counter it and make war against it. What happens now? (P.A.)

We shall be told that the kind of despotism which I suggest will not suit the actual progress of civilization, but I will prove to you that the contrary is the case. In the days when the people looked on their sovereigns as on the will of God, they quietly submitted to the despotism of their monarchs. But from the day we inspired the populace with the idea of its own rights, they began to regard kings as ordinary mortals. In the eye of the mob, the holy anointment fell from the head of the monarchs; and when we took away their religion, their power was thrown into the streets like public property, and was snatched up by us.

Moreover, among our administrative gifts, we count also that of ruling the masses and individuals by means of cunningly constructed theories and phraseology, by rules of life and every other kind of device. All these theories, which the Gentiles do not at all understand are based on analysis and observation, combined with so skillful a reasoning as cannot be equaled by our rivals, any more than these can compete with us in the construction of plans for political actions and solidarity.²⁶

The only society known to us which would be capable of competing with us in these arts might be that of the Jesuits. But we have managed to discredit these in the eyes of the stupid mob as being a palpable organization, whereas we ourselves have kept in the background, reserving our organization as a secret.²⁷

Moreover, what difference will it make to the world who is to become its master, whether the head of the Catholic Church, or a despot of the blood of Zion?

But to us, “the Chosen People,” the matter cannot be indifferent. For a time, the Gentiles might perhaps be able to deal with us. But on this account, we need fear no danger, as we are safeguarded by the deep roots of their hatred for one another, which cannot be extracted.

²⁶ Romans 1:22: “Although they claimed to be wise, they became fools. . . .”

²⁷ And then, this very writing was stolen and exposed to the world, and the Zionist schemes haven’t been a secret since. “Before a fall, the spirit is haughty.” PV 16:18 (P.A.)

We set at variance with one another all personal and national interests of the Gentiles, by promulgating²⁸ religious and tribal prejudices among them, for nearly twenty centuries. This is due to the fact that not one single government will find support from its neighbors when it calls upon them for it, in opposing us, because each one of them will think that action against us might be disastrous for its individual existence.

We are too powerful—the world has to reckon with us. Governments cannot make even a small treaty without our being secretly involved in it. “Per me reges regunt” –let kings reign through me.²⁹

²⁸ Promulgating: to make an idea or belief known to many people by open declaration; proclaim openly. (MW)

²⁹ In this, they’ve historically had a competing king-maker called the Pope, unless the Pope is secretly controlled by the Zionists, which can’t be discounted. (P.A.)

We read in the Law of the Prophets that we have been chosen by God to rule the earth. God gave us genius in order that we should be capable of performing this work. Were there a genius in the enemy's camp, he might yet fight us, but a newcomer would be no match for old hands like ourselves, and the struggle between us would be of such a desperate nature as the world has never yet seen. It is already too late for their genius. All the wheels of state-mechanism are set in motion by a power which is in our hands, that is to say—gold.

The science of political economy, thought out by our learned scientists, has already proven that the power of capital is greater than the prestige of the crown.

Capital, in order to have a free field, must obtain absolute monopoly of trade and commerce. This is already being achieved by an invisible hand in all parts of the world. Such a freedom will give political power to traders, who, by profiteering, will oppress the populace.

Nowadays, it is more important to disarm the people than to lead them to war. It is more important to use burning passions for our cause, than to extinguish them—to encourage the ideas of others and use them for our own purpose, than to dissipate them. The main problem for our government is: how to weaken the brain of the public by criticism, how to make it lose its power of reasoning, which creates opposition, and how to distract the public mind by senseless phraseology.

At all times, nations, as well as individuals, have taken words for deeds, as they are contented with what they hear, and seldom notice whether the promise has been actually fulfilled. Therefore, simply for the purpose of show, we will organize institutions, members of which, by eloquent speeches, will prove and praise their contributions to “progress”.

We will assume a liberal appearance for all parties and for all tendencies, and will provide all our orators with one. These orators will be so loquacious³⁰ that they will weary the people with speeches to such a degree that the people will have more than enough of oratory of any kind.

In order to secure public opinion, this must first be made utterly confused by the expression from all sides of all manner of contradictory opinions, until the Gentiles become lost in their labyrinth. Then they will understand that the best course to take is to have no opinion on political matters—matters which are not intended to be understood by the public, but which should only be reserved to the directors of affairs. This is the first secret.

The second secret necessary for our successful governing consists in multiplying to such an extent the faults, habits, passions, and conventional laws of a country that nobody will be able to think clearly in the chaos—therefore, men will cease to understand one another.

This policy will also help us sow dissention among all parties, to dissolve all collective powers, and to discourage all individual initiative which might in any way hinder our schemes.

There is nothing more dangerous than personal initiative: if there are brains at the back of it, it may do more harm to us than the millions of people whom we have set at one another's throats.

We must direct the education of Christian societies in such a way that in all cases where initiative is required for an enterprise, their hands should drop in hopeless despair. Tension, brought about by freedom of action, loses force when it encounters the freedom of others. Hence come moral shocks, disappointments, and failures. By all these means, we will so oppress the Christians that they will be forced to ask us to govern them internationally. When we attain such a position, we shall be able, straightway, to absorb all powers of governing throughout the whole world, and to form a universal super-government.

In the place of existing governments, we will place a monster which will be called the Administration of the Super-Government. Its hands will be outstretched like far-reaching pinchers, and it will have such an organization at its disposal that it will not possibly be able to fail in subduing all countries.

Soon, we will start organizing great monopolies-reservoirs of colossal wealth-in which the large fortunes of the Gentiles will be involved to such an extent that they will sink together with the credit of their government the day after the political crisis takes place. [It being evidently intended that the Jews should withdraw their money at the last moment.]

Those among you who are present here today, and are economists, just calculate the importance of this scheme!

We must use every possible kind of means to develop the popularity of our Super-Government, holding it up as a protection and recompense of all who willingly submit to us.

The aristocracy of the Gentiles, as a political power, is no more—therefore, we need not consider it anymore from that point of view. But as landowners, they are still dangerous to us, because their independent existence is ensured through their resources. Therefore, it is essential for us, at all costs, to deprive the aristocracy of their lands.

To attain this purpose, the best method is to force up rates and taxes. These methods will keep the landed interests at their lowest ebb. The aristocrats of the Gentiles, who, by the tastes which they have inherited, and being incapable of contentment with a little, will soon be ruined.

At the same time, we must give all possible protection to trade and commerce, and especially to speculation, the principal role of which is to act as a counterpoise to industry.³¹

Without speculation, industry will enlarge private capitals and will tend to raise agriculture by freeing the land from debt and mortgages, advanced by agriculture banks. It is essential that industry should drain the land of all its riches, and speculation should deliver all the world's wealth thus procured into our hands. By this means, all the Gentiles would be thrown into the ranks of the proletariat. Then the Gentiles will bow down before us, in order to obtain the right to exist.

In order to ruin the industry of the Gentiles and to help speculation, we will encourage the love for boundless luxury, which we have already developed. We will increase the wages, which will not help the workmen, as at the same time we will raise the price of prime necessities, taking as a pretext the bad results of agriculture. We will also artfully undermine the basis of production by sowing seeds of anarchy among the workmen, and encouraging them in the drinking of spirits.

At the same time, we will use all possible means to drive all the Gentile intelligence from the land. In order that the true position of affairs should not be prematurely realized by the Gentiles, we will conceal it by an apparent desire to help the working class in solving great economic problems, the propaganda of which our economic theories are assisting in every possible way.

Intensified military service and the increase of the police force are essential to complete the above-mentioned plans. It is essential for us to arrange that, besides ourselves, there should be in all countries nothing but a huge proletariat, so many soldiers and police loyal to our cause.

In the whole of Europe, and with the help of Europe, we must promote on other continents sedition, dissensions, and mutual hostility. In this there is a twofold advantage: firstly, by these means we command the respect of all countries, who well know that we have the power to create upheavals at will, or else to restore order. All countries are used to looking for the necessary pressure, when such is required.

Secondly, by intrigues, we shall entangle all the threads spun by us in the ministries of all governments, not only by our politics, but by trade conventions and financial obligations.

In order to obtain these ends, we must have recourse to much slyness and artfulness during negotiations and agreements; but in what is called "official language" we shall assume the opposite tactics of appearing honest and amenable. Thus, the governments of the Gentiles, which we taught to look only on the showy side of affairs as we present these to them, will even look upon us as benefactors and saviors of humanity.

We must be in a position to meet every opposition with a declaration of war on the part of the neighboring country of that state which dares to stand in our way; but if such neighbors in their turn were to decide to unite in opposing us, we must respond by creating a universal war.

The main success in politics consists in the degree of secrecy employed in pursuing it. The action of a diplomat must not correspond with his words. To help our world-wide plan, which is nearing its desired end, we must influence the governments of the Gentiles by so-called public opinions, in reality prearranged by us by means of the greatest of all powers—the press—which with a few insignificant exceptions not worth taking into account, is entirely in our hands.

Briefly, in order to demonstrate our enslavement of the Gentile governments in Europe, we will show our power to one of them by means of crimes of violence, that is to say, by a reign of terror; and in case they rise against us, we will respond with American, Chinese, or Japanese guns.

We must secure all instruments which our enemies might turn against us. We shall have recourse to the most intricate and complicated expressions of the dictionary of law in order to acquit ourselves in case we are forced to give decisions, which may seem overbold and unjust. For it will be important to express such decisions in so forcible a manner that they should seem to the populace to be of the highest moral, equitable, and just nature.

Our government must be surrounded by all the powers of civilization among which it will have to act. It will draw to itself publicists, lawyers, practitioners, administrators, diplomats, and finally people prepared in our special advanced schools. These people will know the secrets of social life; they will master all languages put together by political letters and words; they will be well acquainted with the inner side of human nature, with all of its most sensitive strings on which they will have to play.

These strings form the construction of the Gentile brain, their good and bad qualities, their tendencies and vices, the peculiarity of castes and classes. Of course, these wise counsellors of our might, to whom I allude, will not be selected from among the Gentiles, who are used to carrying on their administrative work without bearing in mind the results which they have to achieve, and without knowing for what purpose these results are required. The administrators of the Gentiles sign papers without reading them, and serve for love of money or ambition.

We will surround our government by a whole host of economists. That is the reason why science of economy is the principal subject taught to Jews. We will be surrounded by thousands of bankers, traders, and, what is still more important, by millionaires, because in reality, everything will be decided by money.

Meanwhile, as long as it is not yet safe to fill government posts with our brother Jews, we will entrust these important posts to people whose record and characters are so bad as to form a gulf between the nation and themselves, and to such people who, in case they disobey our orders, may expect judgment and imprisonment. And all this is with the object that they should defend our interests until the last breath has passed out of their bodies.³²

³² Bill and Hillary Clinton, along with Barack Obama, Joe and Hunter Biden, and all the top brass of the FBI, CIA, and NSA, should be in prison for flagrant crimes, treason, and murder; but they're not, because the Elders of the Protocols sustain them so that they may carry on doing the will of the Zionists, which is to push for the unraveling of capitalism, Trump, and America's independence. The minute these people stop obeying their masters, they will be exposed and destroyed. They are slaves to money and to those who control not only the money, but all the Luciferian child-molestation/murder blackmail material that has been acquired on them throughout the decades. The Zionists are nothing without the power to blackmail; and Gentile children are expendable animals to the Elders of the Protocols, and they kidnap and exploit the children so as to film the Gentile elite committing heinous, murderous acts against them. Look up: Ronald Bernard. (P.A.)

Apply our principles, pay special attention to the character of the particular nation by which you are surrounded and among which you have to work. You must not expect to be successful in applying our principles all round until the nation in question has been re-educated by our doctrines; but by proceeding carefully in the application of our principles, you will discover that, before ten years have elapsed, the most stubborn character will have changed, and we shall have added yet another nation to the ranks of those who have already submitted to us.

For the liberal words of our masonic motto, "freedom, equality, and fraternity," we will substitute not the words of our motto, but words expressing simply an idea, and we will say, "the right of freedom, the duty of equality, and the idea of fraternity," and we shall have the bull by the horns. As a matter of fact, we have already destroyed all ruling powers except our own, but in theory, they still exist.

At the present time, if any governments make themselves objectionable to us, it is only a formality, and undertaken with our full knowledge and consent, as we need their anti-Semitic outbursts in order to enable us to keep our small brothers in order. I will not enlarge upon this point, for it has already formed the subject of many discussion.

As a matter of fact, we are encountered by no opposition. Our government is in so exceedingly strong a position in the sight of the law that we may almost describe it by the powerful expression of dictatorship. I can honestly say that at the present time, we are legislators. We sit in judgment and inflict punishments; we execute and pardon; we are, as it were, the commander-in-chief of all armies, riding at their head. We rule by mighty force, because in our hands remains the fragments of a once powerful party, now under our subjection. We possess boundless ambitions, devouring greed, merciless revenge, and intense hatred.

We are the source of a far-reaching terror. We employ in our service people of all opinions and all parties: men desiring to reestablish monarchies, socialists, communists, and supporters of all kinds of utopias. We have put them all into harness, and each one of them in his own way undermines the remnant of power and tries to destroy all existing laws. By this procedure, all governments are tormented, they yell for rest, and for the sake of peace, they are prepared to make any sacrifice. But we will not give them any peace until they humbly recognize our international super-government.

The populace clamored for the necessity of solving the social problem by international means. Dissensions among parties handed these over to us, because in order to conduct an opposition, money is essential, and money is under our control.

We have feared the alliance of the experienced Gentile sovereign power with that of the blind power of the mob, but all measures to prevent the possibility of such an occurrence have been taken by us. Between these two powers, we have erected a wall in the form of the terror which they entertain for one another. Thus, the blind power of the populace remains a support on our side. We alone will be its leader, and we will guide it towards the attainment of our object.

In order that the hand of the blind should not free itself from our grip, we must be in constant contact with the masses, if not personally, at any rate, through our most faithful brothers. When we become a recognized power, we will personally address the populace in the market places, and will instruct it in political matters in whatever direction may suit our convenience.

How are we to verify what the people are taught in country schools? But it is certain that what is said by the envoy of the government, or by the sovereign himself, cannot fail to be known to the whole nation, as it is soon spread by the voice of people.

In order not to destroy the institutions of the Gentiles prematurely, we reached them with our experienced hand and secured the ends of the springs in their mechanism. The latter formerly were in severe but just order; for them we have substituted disorderly liberal management. We have had a hand in jurisdiction, electioneering, and in education, which constitutes the main support of free existence.

We have befooled and corrupted the rising generation of the Gentiles by educating them in principles and theories known to us to be thoroughly false, but which we ourselves have inculcated³³. Without actually amending the laws already in force, but by simply distorting them and by placing interpretations upon them which were not intended by those who framed them, we have obtained an extraordinarily useful result.

These results became at first apparent by the fact that our interpretation concealed the real meaning of the laws, and subsequently rendered them so unintelligible that it was impossible for the government to disentangle such a confused code of laws.

Hence, the theory arose of not adhering to the letter of the law, but of judging by conscience. It is contended that nations can rise in arms against us if our plans are discovered prematurely; but in anticipation of this, we can rely upon throwing into action such a formidable force as will make even the bravest of men shudder.³⁴

³⁴ Revelations 13:4: "People worshiped the dragon because he had given authority to the beast, and they also worshiped the beast and asked, 'Who is like the beast, and who can make war against it?'"

By then, metropolitan railways and underground passages will be constructed in all cities. From these subterranean places we will explode all the cities of the world, together with their institutions and documents.

Today, I will begin by repeating what has been previously mentioned, and I beg all of you to bear in mind that in politics, governments and nations are satisfied by the showy side of everything; yes, and how should they have time to examine the inner side of things when their representatives only think of amusements?

It is most important for our politics to bear in mind the above-mentioned detail, as it will be of great help to us when discussing such questions as the distribution of power, freedom of speech, freedom for the press and religion, rights of forming associations, equality in the sight of the law, inviolability³⁵ of property and domicile, the question of taxation (idea of secret taxation), and the retrospective force of laws.

All similar questions are of such a nature that it is not advisable to openly discuss them in front of the populace. But in cases where it is imperative that these should be mentioned to the mob, they must not be enumerated, but without going into detail, statements should be made concerning the principles of modern right as recognized by us. The importance of reticence lies in the fact that a principle which has not been openly declared leaves us freedom of action, whereas such a principle, once declared, becomes as good as established.

The nation holds the power of a political genius in special respect and endures all its high-handed actions, and thus regards them: "What a dirty trick, but how skillfully executed!" "What a swindle, but how well and with what courage it has been done!"

We count on attracting all nations to work on the construction of the foundations of the new edifice which has been planned by us. For this reason, it is necessary for us to acquire the services of bold and daring agents who will be able to overcome all obstacles in the way of our progress.

When we accomplish our coup d'etat, we will say to the people: "Everything has been going very badly; all of you have suffered; now we are destroying the cause of your sufferings, that is to say, nationalities, frontiers, and national currencies. Certainly, you will be free to condemn us, but can your judgment be fair if you pronounce it before you have had experience of what we can do for your good?"

Then they will carry us shoulder high in triumph, in hope, and in exultation. Power of voting, in which we trained the most insignificant members of mankind by organizing meetings and prearranged agreements, will then play its last part. This power, by the means of which we have "enthroned ourselves," will discharge its last debt to us in its anxiety to see the outcome of our proposition before pronouncing its judgment.

In order to obtain an absolute majority, we must induce everybody to vote, without discrimination between classes. Such a majority would not be obtained from educated classes or from a society divided into castes.

Having then inspired every man's mind with the idea of his own self-importance, we will destroy the family life of the Gentiles and its educational importance. We will prevent men with clever brains from coming to the front, and such men the populace, under our guidance, will keep subdued and will not permit them ever to state their plans.

The mob is used to listening to us, who pay it for its attention and obedience. By these means, we shall create such a blind force that it will never be capable of taking any decision without the guidance of our agents, placed by us for the purpose of leading them.

The mob will submit to this system, because it will know that from these leaders will depend its wages, earnings, and all other benefits. The system of government must be the work of one head, because it will be impossible to consolidate it if it is the combined work of numerous minds. That is why we are only allowed to know the plan of action, but must by no means discuss it, in order not to destroy its efficacy, the functions of its separate parts, and the practical meaning of each point.

If such plans were to be discussed and altered by repeated submissions at the polls, they would be distorted by the results of all mental misunderstandings which arise owing to the voters not having fathomed the depth of their meaning. Therefore, it is necessary that our plans should be decisive and logically thought out. That is the reason why we must not throw the great work of our leader to be torn to pieces by the mob, or even by a small clique.

For the present, these plans will not upset existing institutions. They will only alter their theory of economy, and therefore, all their course of procedures will then inevitably follow the way prescribed by our plans. In all countries there exists the same institutions, only under different names: the houses of representatives of the people, the ministries, the senate, a privy council of sorts, legislative and administrative departments.

I need not explain to you the connecting mechanism of these different institutions, as it is already well known to you. Only note that each of the above-mentioned institutions corresponds to some important function of the government. (I use the word “important” not with reference to the institutions, but with reference to their functions.)

All these institutions have divided among themselves all functions of government, that is to say, administrative, legislative, and executive powers. And their functions have become similar to those of the divers³⁶ separate organs of the human body.

If we injure any part of the government machinery, the state will fall sick as a human body and will die. When we injected the poison of liberalism into the organism of the state, its political complexion changed; the states became infected with a mortal illness, that is, decomposition of the blood. There remains only to await the end of their agonies. Liberalism gave birth to constitutional governments, which took the place of autocracy—the only wholesome form of government for the Gentiles.

Constitution, as you know for yourselves, is nothing more than a school for dissensions, disagreements, quarrels, and useless party agitations; in brief, it is the school of everything that weakens the efficiency of the government.³⁷ The tribune, as well as the press, has tended to make the rulers inactive and weak, thus rendering them useless and superfluous, and for this reason, they are deposed in many countries.

Then the institution of a republican era became possible; and then, in the place of the sovereign, we put a caricature of the same in the person of a president, whom we chose from the mob, from among our creatures and our slaves.

Thus, we laid the mine which we have placed under the Gentiles, or rather under the Gentile nations. In the near future, we will make the president a responsible person. Then we will have no scruples in boldly applying the plans for which our own “dummy” will be responsible. What does it matter to us if the ranks of place-hunters become weak, if confusions arise from the fact that a president cannot be found—confusions which will definitely disorganize the country?

In order to achieve these results, we will prearrange for the election of such presidents whose past record is marked with some “Panama” scandal or other shady hidden transaction. A president of such a kind will be a faithful executor of our plans, as he will fear denouncement and will be under the influence of the fear which always possesses a man who has attained power and is anxious to retain the privileges and honors associated with his high office. The House of Representatives will elect, protect, and screen the president; but we will deprive the House of its power of introducing and altering laws.

This power we will give to the responsible president, who will be a mere puppet in our hands. In that case, the power of the president will become a target exposed to various attacks, but we will give him means of defense in his right to appeal to the people above the heads of the representatives of the nation, that is to say, direct to the people, who are our blind slaves—the majority of the mob.

Moreover, we will empower the president to proclaim martial law. We will explain this prerogative by the fact that the president, being head of the army, must have the same under his command for the protection of the new republican constitution, which protection is his duty, as its responsible representative.

Of course, under such conditions, the key of the inner position will be in our hands, and none other than ourselves will control legislation. Moreover, when we introduce the new republican constitution, we will, under pretext of state secrecy, deprive the House of its right of questioning the desirability of measures taken by the government. By this new constitution, we will also reduce the number of the representatives of the nation to a minimum, thus also reducing an equivalent number of political passions, and passion for politics.

If, in spite of this, they should become recalcitrant³⁸, we will abolish the remaining representatives by appealing to the nation. It will be the president's prerogative to appoint the chairman and vice-chairman of the House of Representatives and of the Senate. In place of continuous sessions of parliaments, we will institute sessions of a few months' duration.

Moreover, the president, as head of the executive power, will have the right to convene or dissolve parliament, and in case of dissolution, to defer the convocation of a new parliament. But in order that the president should not be held responsible for the consequences of these, strictly speaking, illegal acts, before our plans have matured, we will persuade the ministers and other high administrative officials, who surround the president, to circumvent his orders by issuing instructions of their own, and thus compel them to bear the responsibility instead of the president.

This function we would especially recommend be allotted to the senate, to the council or state, or to the cabinet, but not to individuals. Under our guidance, the president will interpret laws, which might be understood in several ways.

Moreover, he will annul laws in cases when we consider this to be desirable. He will also have the right to propose new temporary laws and even modifications in the constitutional work of the government, using as a motive for so doing the exigences³⁹ of the welfare of the country.

Such measures will enable us to gradually withdraw any rights and indulgences that we may have been forced to grant when we first assumed power. Such indulgences we will have to introduce in the constitution of governments in order to conceal the gradual abolition of all constitutional rights, when the time comes to change all existing governments for our autocracy.

The recognition of our autocrat may possibly be realized before the abolition of constitutions, namely, the recognition of our rule will start from the very moment when the people, torn by dissensions and smarting under the insolvency⁴⁰ of their rulers (which will have been pre-arranged by us), will yell out: “Depose them, and give us a one world ruler who could unify us and destroy all causes of dissension, namely, frontiers, nationalities, religions, state of debts, etc. . . . a ruler who could give us peace and rest, which we cannot find under the government of our sovereigns and representatives.”

⁴⁰ Insolvent: inability to pay debts; bankruptcy; ruin. (MW)

But you know full well for yourselves that in order that the multitude should yell for such a request, it is imperative in all countries to continually disturb the relationship which exists between people and governments—hostilities, wars, hatred, and even martyrdom, with hunger and need, and with the inoculation of diseases, to such an extent that the Gentiles should not see any exit from their troubles other than an appeal for the protection of our money and for our complete sovereignty.⁴¹

But if we give the nation time to take a breath, another such opportunity would be hardly likely to recur. The council of state will accentuate the power of the ruler. In its capacity, as an official legislative body, it will be, as it were, a committee for issuing the rulers' commands.

⁴¹ All of which have been brought upon the world in 2020 through the man-made virus Covid-19, and the governments' using it as an excuse to usher in totalitarian measures and a "Great Reset". (P.A.)

Here then is a program of the new constitution which we are preparing for the world. We will make laws, define constitutional rights, and administer such by means of (1.) edicts of the legislative chamber, suggested by the president; (2.) by means of general orders and orders of the senate and state council, and by means of decisions of the cabinet; and (3.) when the opportune moment presents itself, by the means of a coup d'etat.

Thus, having roughly determined our plan of action, we will discuss such details as may be necessary for us to accomplish the revolution in the sets of wheels of the state mechanism in the direction which I have already indicated. By these details, I mean freedom of the press, the rights of forming societies, freedom of religion, election of representatives of the people, and many other rights which will have to vanish from the daily life of man. If they do not altogether vanish, they will have to be fundamentally changed the day after the announcement of the new constitution.

It would only be at this particular moment that it would be quite safe for us to announce all our changes, and for the following reasons: all perceptible changes at any other time might prove dangerous, because if they were forcibly introduced and strictly and indiscriminately enforced, they might exasperate the people, as these would fear fresh changes in similar directions.

On the other hand, if the changes were to entail yet more indulgences, people would say that we recognize our mistakes and that might detract from the glory of infallibility of the new power. They might also say that we had been frightened and were forced to yield. And were this the case, the world would never thank us, as they regard it as a right always to have concessions made to them. If either of these impressions were made on the mind of the public, it would be extremely dangerous for the prestige of the new constitution.

It is essential for us that, from the first moments of its proclamation, while the people will be still suffering from the effects of the sudden change and will be in a state of terror and indecision, they should realize that we are so powerful, so invulnerable, and so full of might, that we shall in no case take their interests into consideration. We shall want them to understand that we will not only ignore their opinion and wishes, but will be ready at any moment or place to suppress with a strong hand any expression or hint of opposition.

We shall want the people to understand that we have taken everything we wanted and that we will not, under any circumstances, allow them to share our power. Then they will close their eyes to everything out of fear and will patiently await further developments.

The Gentiles are like a flock of sheep—we are the wolves. And do you not know what the sheep do when wolves penetrate into the sheepfold? They close their eyes to everything. To this they will be also driven, because we will promise to return to them all their liberties after subduing the world's enemies and after bringing all parties into subjection. I need hardly tell you how long they would have to wait for the return of their liberties.

For what reason were we induced to invent our policy and to instill the same into the Gentiles? We instilled this policy into them without letting them understand its inner meaning. What prompted us to adopt such a line of action if it was not because we could not, as a scattered race, attain our object by direct means, but only by circumvent?

This was the real cause and origin of our organization of masonry, which those swine Gentiles do not fathom, and the aims of which they do not even suspect. They are decoyed by us into our mass of lodges, which appear to be nothing more than masonic in order to throw dust in the eyes of their comrades.

By the mercy of God, his chosen people were scattered, and in this dispersal, which seemed to the world to be our weakness, has proved to be all our power, which has now brought us to the threshold of universal sovereignty.

We have not much more to build on these foundations in order to attain our aims.

The word liberty, which can be interpreted in divers' ways, we will define as this: "Liberty is the right of doing what is permitted by law." Such a definition of this word will be useful to us in this way, that it will rest with us to say where there shall be liberty and where there may not, and for the simple reason that the law will permit only what is desirable to us.

With the press, we will deal in the following manner: What is the part played by the press at the present time? It serves to rouse in the people furious passions or sometimes egoistic party disputes, which may be necessary for our purpose. It is often empty, unjust, false, and most people do not in the least understand its exact purposes.⁴²

We will harness it and will guide it with firm reins, we will also have to gain control of all other publishing firms. It would be of no use for us to control the newspaper press, if we were still to remain exposed to the attacks of pamphlets and books. We will turn the, at present, expensive production of publication into a profitable resource to our government by introducing a special stamp duty, and by forcing publishers and typographers to pay us a deposit, in order to guarantee our government from any kind of assaults on the part of the press.

⁴² When the Protocols were written, there was no such thing as the mainstream media, or CNN and twenty-four-hour cable news. One thing made clear by the Presidency of Donald Trump was that the wicked left was using all of the major news networks (and social media like Twitter and Facebook) to peddle non-stop lies and abuse, and they were intentionally steering the country into a radical leftist agenda. If nothing else proves that the Protocols is a legitimate writing with a world-dominating agenda, this fact most certainly does. The U.S. news agencies have been exposed for what they are: Jewish-owned companies peddling deceit daily, and crushing the truth, and bringing evil upon America and the world with absolutely no compunction whatsoever. (P.A.)

In case of an attack, we will impose fines right and left. Such measures as stamps, deposits, and fines will be a large source of income to the government. Certainly, party papers would not mind paying heavy fines, but after a second serious attack on us, we would suppress them altogether. No one will be able with impunity to touch the prestige of our political infallibility.

For closing down publications, we will give the following pretext: The publication, which is being suppressed, excites, we will say, public opinion without any ground or foundation.⁴³

⁴³ Take a gander on-line at all the hundreds of sites vehemently claiming that the Protocols is a purely fraudulent account of the Learned Jewish Elders, and how anyone exposing these writings is a wildly anti-Semitic bigot who is linked to Hitler, and who should be shamed out of existence. You know, me thinks Google and all the Jewish Elders' agents protesteth too much. (P.A.)

But I would ask you to bear in mind that among the aggressive publications will be those which have been instituted by us for this purpose. But they will only attack such points in our policy as we intend changing. No piece of information will reach society without passing through our control. This we are attaining even at the present time by the fact that all news is received by a few agencies, in which it is centralized from all parts of the world. When we attain power, these agencies will belong to us entirely, and will only publish such news as we choose to allow.

If under the present conditions we have managed to gain control of the Gentile society to such an extent that it surveys the world's affairs through the colored glasses which we put over its eyes, and if even now there exists no impediment to hinder our access to state secrets, as they are called by the stupidity of the Gentiles, what will be our position when we shall be officially recognized as rulers of the world in the person of our world-governing Emperor?⁴⁴

Let us return to the future of the press. Anybody desiring to become an editor, librarian, or printer, will be compelled to obtain a certificate and license, which, in case of disobedience, would be withdrawn.

The canals through which human thought finds its expression will by these means be delivered into the hands of our government, which will use the same as an educational organ, and will thus prevent the public from being drawn astray by idealizing “progress” and liberalism.

Who of us does not know that this fantastic blessing is a straight road to utopia, from which have sprung anarchy and hatred towards authority? This is for the simple reason that “progress”, or rather, the idea of liberal progress, gave the people different ideas of emancipation without setting any limit to it. All so-called liberals are anarchists, if not in their action, certainly by ideas. Each one of them runs after the phantom of liberty, thinking that he can do whatever he wishes, that is to say, falling into a state of anarchy in the opposition which he offers for the mere sake of opposition.⁴⁵

Let us now discuss the press. We will tax it in the same manner as the newspaper press—that is to say, by means of excise stamps and deposits. But on books of less than 300 pages, we will place a tax twice as heavy. These short books we will classify as pamphlets in order to diminish the publication of periodicals, which constitute the most virulent form of printed poison. These measures will also compel writers to publish such long works that they will be little read by the public, and chiefly so on account of their high price.

We ourselves will publish cheap works in order to educate and set the mind of the public in the direction that we desire. Taxation will bring about a reduction in the writing of aimless leisure literature, and the fact that they are responsible before the law will place authors in our hands. No one desirous of attacking us with his pen would find a publisher.

Before printing any kind of work, the publisher or printer will have to apply to the authorities for a permit to publish the said work. Thus, we shall know beforehand of any conspiracy against us, and we shall be able to knock it on the head by anticipating the plot and publishing an explanation.

Literature and journalism are the two most important educational powers; for this reason, our government will buy up the greater number of periodicals. By these means, we shall neutralize the bad influence of the private press and obtain an enormous influence over the human mind. If we were to allow ten private periodicals, we should ourselves start thirty, and so forth.

But the public must not have the slightest suspicion of these measures, therefore, all periodicals published by us will seem to be of contradictory views and opinions, thus inspiring confidence and presenting an attractive appearance to our unsuspecting enemies, who will thus fall into our trap and will be disarmed.

In the front row, we will place the official press. It will always be on guard in defense of our interests, and therefore, its influence on the public will be comparatively insignificant. In the second row, we will place the semi-official press, the duty of which will be to attract the indifferent and lukewarm. In the third row, we will place what will purport to be our opposition, which in one of its publications will appear to be our adversary. Our real enemies will take the opposition into their confidence and will let us see their cards.

All of our newspapers will support different parties—aristocratic, republican, revolutionary, and even anarchical—but, of course, only so long as constitutions last. These newspapers, like the Indian god Vishnu, will be possessed of hundreds of hands, each of which will be feeling the pulse of varying public opinion.

When the pulse becomes quick, these hands will incline this opinion towards our cause, because a nervous subject is easily led and easily falls under any kind of influence.

If any chatterers are going to imagine that they are repeating the opinion of their party newspaper, they will in reality be repeating our own opinion, or the opinion which we desire. Thinking that they are following the organ of this party, they will in reality be following the flag which we will fly for them. In order that our newspaper army may carry out the spirit of this program of appearing to support various parties, we must organize our press with great care.

Under the name of Central Commission of the Press, we will organize literary meetings, at which our agents unnoticed will give the countersign and the password. By discussing and contradicting our policy, of course always superficially, without really touching on the important parts of it, our organs will carry on feigned debates with official newspapers in order to give us an excuse for defining our plans with more accuracy than we could do in our preliminary announcements.

But this, of course, only when it is to our advantage. This opposition on the part of the press will also serve the purpose of making the people believe that liberty of speech still exists. To our agents, it will give an opportunity of showing that our opponents bring senseless accusations against us, being unable to find a real ground on which to refute our policy.

Such measures, which will escape the notice of public attention, will be the most successful means of guiding the public mind and of inspiring confidence in favor of our government.

Thanks to these measures, we will be able to excite or calm the public mind on political questions when it becomes necessary. We will be able to persuade or confuse them by printing true or false news, facts, or contradictions, according as it suits our purpose. The information which we will publish will depend on the manner in which the people are at the time accepting that kind of news, and we will always take great care to feel the ground before treading on it.

The restrictions which, as I have said, we will impose on private publications, will enable us to make a certainty of defeating our enemies, because they will not have press organs at their disposal by means of which they could truly give full vent to their opinions. We shall not even have to make a thorough refutation of their statements.⁴⁶

*Ballon d'essai*⁴⁷, which we will throw into the third row of our press, we will, if necessary, semi-officially refute.

Already there exists in French journalism a system of masonic understanding for giving countersigns. All organs of the press are tied by mutual professional secrets in the manner of the ancient oracles. Not one of its members will betray his knowledge of the secret, if such a secret has not been ordered to be made public.

No single publisher will have the courage to betray the secret entrusted to him, the reason being that no one of them is admitted into the literary world without bearing the marks of some shady act in his past life. He would only have to show the least sign of disobedience and the mark would be immediately revealed. While these marks remain known only to a few, the prestige of the journalist attracts public opinion throughout the country. The people follow and admire him.

⁴⁶ This, today, is accomplished by Google hiding conservative and Christian sites, with Youtube and Twitter banning right-leaning videos and statements, and with mainstream media using Twitter attacks on any conservative voice as if those choreographed public attacks are news, so as to shame anyone that speaks apart from their Protocols agenda, and thereby make people too shy to speak the truth. (P.A.)

Our plans must extend chiefly to the provinces. It is essential for us to create such ideas and inspire such opinions there as we could at any time launch on the capital by producing them as the neutral views of the provinces.

Of course, the source and origin of the idea would not be altered: namely, it would be ours.

It is imperative for us that, before we assume power, cities should sometimes be under the influence of the opinion of the provinces—that is to say, that they should know the opinion of the majority, which will have been prearranged by us. It is necessary for us that the capitals, at the critical psychological moment, should not have time to discuss an accomplished fact, but should accept it simply because it has been passed by a majority of the provinces.

When we reach the period of the new regime—that is to say, during the transition stage to our sovereignty—we must not allow the press to publish any account of criminal cases; it will be essential that people should think that the new regime is so satisfactory that even crime has ceased.

Where criminal cases occur, they must remain known only to their victim and anyone who may have chanced to witness them, and to them alone.

The need of daily bread will force the Gentiles to hold their tongues and to remain our humble servants. Those of the Gentiles whom we may be employing in our press will, under orders from us, discuss facts to which it would not be desirable that we should especially refer in our official gazette. And, while all manner of discussions and disputes are thus taking place, we will pass the laws which we need and will place them before the public as an accomplished fact.

No one will dare to demand that what has been decided on should be repealed, more especially as we will make it appear as if it were our intention to help progress. Then the press will draw the attention of the public away by new propositions (you know for yourselves that we have always taught the populace to seek new emotions).

Brainless political adventurers will hasten to discuss the new problems, such people who even nowadays do not understand what they are talking about. Political problems are not meant to be understood by ordinary people; they can only be comprehended, as I have said before, by rulers who have been directing affairs for many centuries.

From all this, you may conclude that when we shall defer to public opinion, we shall do so in order to ease the working of our machinery. You can also perceive that we seek approval for the various questions not by deeds but by words. We continually assert that, in all our measures, we are guided by the hope and certainty of serving the common welfare.

In order to distract over-restless people from discussing political questions, we provide them with new problems—that is to say, those of trade and commerce. Over such questions let them become excited as they like! The masses consent to abstain and desist from what they think is political activity only if we can give them some new amusements, that is to say, commerce, which we try and make them believe is also a political question.

We ourselves induced the masses to take part in politics in order to secure their support in our campaign against the Gentile governments.

In order to keep them from discovering for themselves any new line of action in politics, we will also distract them by various kinds of amusements, games, pastimes, passions, public houses, and so on.

Soon we shall start advertising in the press, inviting people to enter for various competitions in all manner of enterprises, such as art, sports, etc. These new interests will definitely distract the public mind from such questions which we would have to contest with the populace. As the people will gradually lose the gift of thinking for themselves, they will shout together with us, for the sole reason that we shall be the only members of society who will be in a position to advance new lines of thought, which lines we will advance by means of using as our tools only such persons as could not be suspected of being allied with us.

The part of liberal idealists will be definitely terminated when our government is recognized. Until then, they will do us good service. For this reason, we will try to direct the public mind towards every kind of fantastic theory which could appear progressive or liberal.

It was we who, with complete success, turned the brainless heads of the Gentiles by our theories of progress towards socialism; there is not to be found a brain among the Gentiles which would perceive that in every instance, behind the word “progress” is hidden a deviation from the truth, except in such cases where this word refers to material of scientific discoveries.

For there is but one true teaching, and in it, there is no room for “progress”. Progress, like a false idea, serves to conceal the truth in order that nobody should know the truth besides ourselves, God’s Chosen People, whom he has elected as its guardian.

When we get into power, our orators will discuss the great problems which have been convulsing humanity in order, in the end, to bring mankind under our blessed rule. Who will then suspect that all these problems were instigated by us in accordance with a political scheme which has been understood by no man for so many centuries?

When we establish ourselves as lords of the earth, we will not tolerate any other religion except that of our own, namely, a religion recognizing God alone, with whom our fate is bound by his election of us, and by whom also the fate of the world is determined.

For this reason, we must destroy all professions of faith. If the temporary result of this is to produce atheists, it will not interfere with our object, but it will act as an example to those generations to come who will listen to our teaching on the religion of Moses, which by its resolute and well-considered doctrine, committed to us the duty of subduing all nations under our feet.⁴⁸

⁴⁸ This is a bold-faced lie. Moses commanded the people to listen to the One who was to come, the Messiah, Jesus Christ. (P.A.)

By doing this, we shall also lay stress on the mystic truths of the Mosaic teachings on which, we shall say, is based all its educative powers. Then, on every possible occasion, we will publish articles in which we will compare our beneficial rule with that of the past. The state of blessedness and peace which will then exist, in spite of its having been brought about by centuries of disturbance, will also serve to illustrate the benevolence of our new rule. The mistakes made by the Gentiles in their administration will be demonstrated by us in the most vivid colors.

We will start such a feeling of disgust towards the former regime that the nations will prefer a state of peace in a condition of enslavement, to the rights of the much-lauded liberty which has so cruelly tortured them and drained from them the very source of human existence, and to which they were really only instigated by a crowd of adventurers who knew not what they did.

Useless changes of government, to which we have been prompting the Gentiles and by this means undermining their state edifice, will by that time have so worried the nations that they will prefer to endure anything from us out of fear of having to return to the turmoil and misfortune which they will have gone through.

We will draw special attention to the historical mistakes of the Gentile governments, by which they tormented humanity for so many centuries in the lack of understanding anything that regards true welfare of human life and in their search for fantastic plans of social welfare.

For the Gentiles have not noticed that their plans, instead of improving the relations of man to man, have only made them worse and worse. And these relations are the very foundations of human existence. The whole force of our principles and measures will be in the fact that they will be explained by us as being in the bright contrast to the broken-down regime of former social conditions.

Our philosophers will expose all the disadvantages of Gentile religions, but no one will ever judge our religion from its true point of view, because nobody will ever have a thorough knowledge of it except our own people who will never venture to unveil its mysteries.

In the so-considered leading countries, we have circulated an insane, dirty, and disgusting literature. For a short time after the recognition of our rule, we shall continue to encourage the prevalence of such a literature, in order that it should the more pointedly mark the contrast of the teachings which we will issue from our exalted position. Our learned men, who were educated for the purpose of leading the Gentiles, will make speeches, draw up plans, sketch notes, and write articles, by means of which we will influence men's' minds, inclining them towards that knowledge and those ideas which will suit us.

When we shall eventually have obtained power by means of a number of coups d'etat which will be arranged by us, so that they should take place simultaneously in all countries, and immediately after their respective governments shall have been officially pronounced as incapable of ruling the populace—a considerable period of time may elapse before this is realized, perhaps a whole century—we will make every endeavor to prevent conspiracies being made against us. In order to attain this end, we will make merciless use of executions with regard to all who may take up arms against the establishment of our power.⁴⁹

The institutions of any fresh secret society will be also punishable by death; but those secret societies which exist at the present time and which are known to us, which are serving and have served our purpose, we will dismiss and exile their members to remote parts of the world.

Such is the manner in which we will deal with any Gentile Freemasons who may know more than will suit our convenience. Such masons, whom we may for some reason or other pardon, we shall keep in continual fear of being sent into exile. We will pass a law which will condemn all former members of secret societies to be exiled from Europe, where we shall have the center of our government.

The decisions of our government will be final, and no one will have the right of appeal.

In order to call to heel all Gentile societies in which we have so deeply implanted dissensions and the tenets of the Protestant religion, merciless measures will have to be introduced. Such measures should show the nations that our power cannot be infringed. We must take no account of the numerous victims who will have to be sacrificed in order to obtain future prosperity.

To attain prosperity even by the means of numerous sacrifices is the duty of a government, which realizes that the conditions of its existence do not only lie in the privileges which it enjoys, but also in the executions of its duty.

The main condition of its stability lies in the strengthening of the prestige of its power, and this prestige can only be obtained by majestic and unshakeable might, which should show that it is inviolable and surrounded by a mystic power; for example, that it is by God appointed.

Such has been, up to the present time, the Russian Autocracy, our only dangerous enemy, if we are not to include the Holy See. Remember, at the time when Italy was streaming with blood, she did not touch a hair of Silla's head, and he was the man who made her blood pour out. Owing to his strength of character, Silla⁵⁰ became a god in the eyes of the populace, and his fearless return to Italy made him inviolable. The populace will not harm the man who hypnotizes it by his courage and strength of mind.

Until the time when we attain power, we will try to create and multiply lodges of free masons in all parts of the world. We will entice into these lodges all who may become or who are known to be public-spirited. These lodges will be the main place from which we shall obtain our information, as well as being propaganda centers.

We will centralize all these lodges under one management, known to us alone, and which will consist of our learned men. These lodges will also have their own representatives, in order to screen where the management really lies. And this management will alone have the right of deciding who may speak and of drawing up the order of the day. In these lodges, we will tie the knot of all socialistic and revolutionary classes of society. The most secret political plans will be known to us and will be guided by us in their execution as soon as they are formed.

Nearly all of the agents in the international and secret police will be members of our lodges.

The services of the police are of extreme importance to us, as they are able to throw a screen over our enterprises, invent reasonable explanations for discontent among the masses, as well as punish those who refuse to submit.

Most people who enter secret societies are adventurers who want somehow to make their way in life, and who are not serious minded. With such people, it will be easy for us to pursue our object, and we will make them set our machinery in motion.

If the whole world becomes perturbed, it will only signify that it was necessary for us to so perturb it in order to destroy its great solidity. If conspiracies start in the midst of it, this will mean that one of our most faithful agents is at the head of the said conspiracy. It is only natural that we should be the sole people who direct masonic enterprises. We are the only people who know how to direct them.

We know the final aim of each action, whereas the Gentiles are ignorant of most things concerning masonry; they cannot even see the immediate results of what they are doing. They generally think only of the immediate advantages of the moment, and are content if their pride is satisfied in the fulfillment of their intention; and they do not perceive that the original idea was not their own, but it was inspired by ourselves.

The Gentiles frequent Masonic Lodges out of pure curiosity, or in the hope of receiving their share of the good things which are going on, and some of them do so in order to be able to discuss their own idiotic ideas before an audience.

The Gentiles are on the look-out for the emotions of success and applause; these are distributed freely by us.⁵¹ That is why we let them have their success, in order to turn to our advantage the men possessed by feelings of self-pride, who, without noticing it, absorb our ideas, confident in the conviction of their own infallibility, and that they alone have the ideas and are not subject to the influence of others.

You have no idea how easy it is to bring even the most clever of the Gentiles to a ridiculous state of naivete by working on his conceit, and, on the other hand, how easy it is to discourage him by the smallest failure or even by simply ceasing to applaud him, and thus bring him to a state of servile subjection, holding out to him the prospect of some new success. Just as our people despise success, and are only anxious to see their plans realized, so the Gentiles love success and are prepared to sacrifice all their plans for its sake. This feature in the character of the Gentile renders it much easier for us to do what we like with them. Those who appear to be tigers are as stupid as sheep, and their heads are full of emptiness.

We will let them ride in their dreams on the horse of idle hopes of destroying human individuality by symbolic ideas of collectivism. They have not yet understood, and never will understand, that this wild dream is contrary to the principal law of nature, which, from the very beginning of the world, created a being unlike all others in order that he should have individuality.

Does not the fact that we are capable of bringing the Gentiles to such an erroneous idea prove, with striking clearness, what a narrow conception they have of human life in comparison to ourselves? Herein lies the greatest hope of our success. How farseeing were our wise men of old when they told us that in order to attain a really great object, we must not stop short before the means, nor count the number of victims who must be sacrificed for the achievement of the cause!⁵²

We never counted the victims of the seed of those brutes of Gentiles, and although we have sacrificed many of our own people, we have already given them such a position in this world as they formerly never dreamed that they would attain. Comparatively few victims on our side have safeguarded our nation from destruction. Every man must inevitably end by death. It is better to hasten this end in the case of people who impede our cause than in that of those who advance it.

⁵² Jesus said, "There is no greater love than he who would lay down his life for his friends." Take note: it was these Protocol men, the Pharisees, who out of jealousy killed him, and they did not let all of Jesus's good works, miracles, acts of healing, and the huge crowds that loved him, stand in their way. (P.A.)

We put freemasons to death in such a manner that no one, except the brotherhood, can have the least suspicion of the fact; not even the victims themselves suspect beforehand. They all die, when it is necessary, apparently from a natural death. Knowing these facts, even the brotherhood itself dares not protest against it.

By such means we have cut to the very root of protest against our orders so far as the freemasons themselves are concerned. We preach liberalism to the Gentiles, but on the other hand, we keep our own nation in entire subjection.

Under our influence, the laws of the Gentiles have been obeyed as little as possible. The prestige of their laws has been undermined by liberal ideas, which have been introduced by us into their midst. The most important questions, both political and moral, are decided by the Courts of Justice in whatever manner we prescribe.

The Gentile administrator of justice looks upon cases in whatever light we choose to expose them. This we accomplished by means of our agents and people with whom we appear to have no connection: opinions of the press and other means; even senators and other high officials blindly follow our advice. The brain of the Gentile, being of a purely bestial character, is incapable of analyzing and observing anything, and moreover of foreseeing to what the development of a case may lead if it is placed in a certain light.

It is just in this difference of mentality between the Gentiles and ourselves that we can easily see the mark of our election by God and our superhuman nature when it is compared with the instinctive bestial brain of the Gentiles. They only see facts but do not foresee them, and are incapable of inventing anything, with the exception, perhaps, only of things material.

From all this, it is clear that nature herself meant us to govern openly, and the moment will come to show the benevolence of our rule, and we shall amend all the laws. Our laws will be short, clear, and concise, requiring no interpretation, so that everybody will be able to know them inside out. The main feature in them will be the obedience required towards authority, and this respect for authority will be carried to a very high pitch.⁵³

Then all kinds of abuse of power will cease, because everybody will be responsible before the one supreme power, namely that of the sovereign. The abuse of power on the part of people other than the sovereign will be so severely punished that all will lose the desire to try their strength in this respect.

We shall closely watch each step taken by our administrative body, from which will depend the working of the state machine; because if the administration becomes slack, disorder will arise everywhere. Not a single illegal act or abuse of power will remain unpunished.

⁵³ Their laws were at a high pitch two thousand years ago when they not only killed the Son of God based on their rules, but they killed most of the Apostles and many of Jesus's other disciples; and when one Pharisee in their midst, Saul of Tarsus, turned to faith in Jesus, they spent years trying to kill him, and eventually succeeded. They have placed their schemes and laws above God Almighty, making themselves out to be God, and just so, since the Anti-Christ, whom they call the King of Israel, will do the same. But Jesus is the true King of Israel and seed of David, and he too is coming soon to destroy them and their despot. (P.A.)

All acts of concealment and of willful neglect on the part of officials of the administration will disappear after they have seen the first examples of punishment.

The grandness of our might will require that suitable punishments should be awarded, that is to say, that they should be harsh, even in the case of the smallest attempt to violate the prestige of our authority for the sake of personal gain.

The man who suffers for his faults, even if too severely, will be like a soldier dying on the battlefield of the administration in the cause of power, principle, and law, which admit of no deviation from the public path for the sake of personal interests, even in the case of those who drive the public chariot.

For example, our judges will know that, by attempting to show their indulgence, they will violate the law of justice, which is made in order to award an exemplary punishment to men for the offences which they have committed, and not in order to enable the judge to show his clemency. This good quality ought only to be shown in private life, and not in the official capacity of a judge, which influences the whole basis of the education of mankind.

Members of the law will not serve in the courts after 55 years of age for the following reasons:

1. Because old men adhere more firmly to preconceived ideas and are less capable of obeying new orders.

2. Because such a measure will enable us to make frequent changes in the staff, which will thus be subject to any pressure on our part. Any man who wishes to retain his point will, in order to secure his, have to obey us blindly. In general, our judges will be selected from among men who understand that their duty is to punish and to apply laws, and not to indulge in dreams of liberalism, which might inure the educational scheme of the government, as the Gentile judges at present do.

Our scheme for changing officials will also help us to destroy any kind of combination which they might form among themselves, and so they will work solely in the interest of the government, from which their fate will depend. The rising generation of judges will be so educated that they will instinctively prevent any action which might harm the existing relations of our subjects one to another.

At present, judges of the Gentiles are indulgent to all manner of criminals, for they do not possess the correct idea of their duty, and for the simple reason that rulers, when appointing judges, do not impress the idea of their duty upon them.

The rulers of the Gentiles, when nominating their subjects to important posts, do not trouble to explain to them the importance of the same and for what purpose the posts in question were created; they act like animals when these send their young out in search of prey.

Thus, the governments of the Gentiles fall to pieces at the hands of their own administrators. We will take one more moral, drawn from the results of the system adopted by the Gentiles, and use it for the edification of our government.

We will root out all liberal tendencies from every important institution of propaganda in our government, from which may depend the education of all those who will be our subjects. These important posts will be reserved exclusively for those who were specially educated by us for administration.

Should it be observed that to put our officials prematurely on the retired list might prove too expensive for our government, I will reply that, first of all, we shall try to find private occupation for such officials in order to compensate them for the loss of their posts in government employment, or else that, in any case, our government will be in possession of all the money in the world, therefore expense will not come into consideration.

Our autocracy will be consistent in all its actions, therefore all decision which our high command may choose to take will always be treated with respect and unconditionally obeyed. We shall ignore any kind of grumbling or dissatisfaction, and punish every sign of discontent so severely that other people will accept it as an example for themselves.

We will cancel the right of appeal and reserve it only for our own use; the reason being that we must not allow the idea to grow up among the people that our judges are capable of erring in their decisions. In case of a judgment requiring revision, we will immediately depose the judge in question and publicly punish him, in order that such an error should not occur again.

I repeat what I have said before, namely, that one of our main principles will be to watch administrative officials, and this chiefly in order to satisfy the nation, because it has a full right to insist that a good government should have good administrative officials.

Our government will bear the appearance of a patriarchal trust in the person of our ruler. Our nation and our subjects will look upon him as upon a father who takes care to satisfy all their needs, looks after all their actions, and arranges the dealings of his subjects one with another, as well as their dealings with the government. Thus, the feeling of reverence towards the ruler will penetrate so deeply into the nation that it will not be able to exist without his care and leadership. They cannot live in peace without him, and will finally recognize him as their sovereign autocrat.

The people will have such a deep feeling of reverence towards him as will approach adoration, especially when they are convinced that his officials blindly execute his order and that he alone rules over them. They will rejoice to see us regulate our lives as if we were parents desirous of educating their children with a keen sense of duty and obedience.

As regards our secret policy, all nations are children, and their governments also. As you can see for yourselves, I base our despotism on Right and Duty. The right of the government to insist that people should do their duty is in itself an obligation of the ruler, who is the father of his subjects. Right of might is granted to him in order that he should lead humanity in the direction laid down by the laws of nature, that is to say, towards obedience.

Every creature in this world is under subjection, if not under that of a man, then under that of circumstances or under that of its own nature, in any case, under something that is more powerful than itself. Therefore, let us be more powerful for the sake of the common cause.

We must, without hesitation, sacrifice such individuals as may have violated the existing order, because in exemplary punishment is the solution of the great educational problem.

On the day when the king of Israel places upon his sacred head the crown, presented to him by the whole of Europe, he will become the Patriarch of the world.

The number of victims who will have to be sacrificed by our king will never exceed the number of those who have been sacrificed by Gentile sovereigns in their quest for greatness and in their rivalry with one another.

Our sovereign will be in constant communication with the people, he will deliver speeches from tribunes, which speeches will be immediately circulated all over the world.

With the object of destroying any kind of collective enterprise other than our own, we will annihilate collective work in its initial state—this is to say, we will transform the universities and reconstruct them according to our own plans.

The heads of the universities and their professors will be specially prepared by means of elaborate secret programs of action, in which they will be instructed, and from which they will not be able to deviate with impunity. They will be very carefully nominated and will be entirely dependent on the government. We will exclude from our syllabus all teachings of civil law, as well as of any other political subject.⁵⁴

Only a few men from among the initiated will be selected for their conspicuous abilities,

⁵⁴ The universities have already been taken over by rabid liberalism, and Marxist social justice warriors can already speak a word and have a professor fired. Recently, one professor spoke a Chinese word that merely sounded similar to the slang N word, and he was promptly released from his employ; and not based on the ignorance of his accusers, but to be made an example of, so that no hint of disobedience to the New Marxist/Black Lives Matter cause in America's universities will be tolerated. (P.A.)

in order to be taught these sciences.

Universities will not be allowed to turn out into the world green young men with ideas on new constitutional reforms, as though these were comedies or tragedies, or who concern themselves with political questions of which even their fathers had no understanding.

A wrong acquaintance of politics among a mass of people is a source of utopian ideas and makes them into bad subjects. This you can see for yourselves from the educational system of the Gentiles. We had to introduce all these principles into their educational system in order that we might as successfully destroy their social structure as we have done.

When we are in power, we will remove from educational programs all subjects which might upset the brains of youth, and will make obedient children out of them, who will love their ruler and recognize in his person the main pillar of peace and of public welfare.

Instead of classics and the study of ancient history, which contains more bad examples than good, we will introduce the study of the problems of the future. We will erase from the memory of man the bygone ages, which may be unpleasant to us, leaving only such facts as would show the errors of the Gentile governments in marked colors.

Subjects dealing with questions of practical life, social organization, and with the dealings of one man with another, as also lectures against bad selfish examples, which are infectious and cause evil, and all other similar questions of an instinctive character, will be in the forefront of our educational program. These programs will be specially drawn up for the different classes and castes, the education of which will be kept strictly apart.⁵⁵

⁵⁵ In other words: all of society shall be driven into neurosis, hypochondria, anxiety, obsessive thoughts, anxiety, and paranoia, leading to a brainwashed state of obedient and frightened slaves. (P.A.)

It is most important to lay stress on this particular system. Each class or caste will have to be educated separately, according to its particular position and work. A chance genius always has known and always will know how to penetrate into a higher caste, but for the sake of this quite exceptional occurrence, it is not expedient to mix the education of the different castes and to admit such men into higher ranks in order that they may only occupy the places of those who are born to fill them. You know for yourselves how fatal it was for the Gentiles when they gave way to the absolutely idiotic idea of making no difference between the social classes.⁵⁶

In order that the sovereign should gain a firm place in the hearts of his subjects, it is necessary that, during his reign, the nation should be taught, both in schools as well as in public places, the importance of his activity and the benevolence of his enterprise.

⁵⁶ While African Americans who are pushing the Marxist Black Lives Matter movement in America, and cheering the Democrats, may believe that they are seeking freedom from white oppression, the truth is, when their desired Marxist/Communist haven arrives, that which they themselves are hurrying onto the scene, it will come with a renewed caste system, in which black people will be reduced down to the lowest class of society, where they will be returned to slavery, not by whites, but by their own ignorance of who it is they've been duped into following. (P.A.)

We will abolish every kind of private education. On holidays, students and their parents will have the right to attend meetings in their colleges as though these were clubs. At these meetings, professors will deliver speeches, purporting to be free lectures on questions of men's dealings with one another, on laws and on misunderstandings which are generally the outcome of a false conception of men's social position; and finally, they will give lessons on new philosophical theories, which have not yet been revealed to the world. These theories we will make into doctrines of faith, using them as a stepping-stone to our faith.

When I have finished taking you through the whole program, and when we shall have finished discussing all our plans for the present and for the future, I will read to you the plan of that new philosophy theory. We know from the experience of many centuries that men live and are guided by ideas, and that people are inspired by these ideas only by means of education, which can be given with the same result to men of all ages, but of course by various means.

By systematic education we shall take charge of whatever may remain of that independence of thought, of which we have been making full use of for our own ends for some times past. We have already established the system of subduing men's minds by the so-called system of demonstrative education (teaching by sight), which is supposed to make the Gentiles incapable of thinking independently, and so they will, like obedient animals, await the demonstration of an idea before they have grasped it.

One of our best agents in France is Bouroy⁵⁷: he has already introduced the new system of demonstrative education.

The profession of the law makes people grow cold, cruel, and obstinate, and also deprives them of all principles and compels them to take a view of life which is not human but purely legal. They have become used to looking on circumstances purely from the point of view of what is to be gained from defense, and not from that of the effect which such a defense might have on the public welfare.

A legal practitioner never refuses to defend any case. He will try to obtain an acquittal at all costs by clinging on to small tricky points in jurisprudence, and by these means, he will demoralize the court.

Therefore, we will limit the sphere of action of this profession and will place lawyers on a footing with executive officials. Barristers, as well as judges, will have no right to interview their clients and will receive their briefs only when they are assigned to them by the law court, and they will study these solely from reports and documents, and will defend their clients after they have been examined in court by the prosecution, basing the defense of their clients on the result of this examination.

Their fee will be fixed, regardless of the fact whether the defense has been successful or not. They will become simple reporters on behalf of justice, counter-balancing the prosecutor, who will be a reporter on behalf of the prosecutor.

Thus, legal procedure will be considerably shortened. By this means, we will also attain an honest impartial defense, which will be conducted not by material interests, but by the personal conviction of the lawyer. This will also have the advantage of putting an end to any bribery or corruption, which can at present take place in the law courts of some countries.

We have taken great care to discredit the clergy of the Gentiles in the eyes of the people, and thus have succeeded in injuring their mission, which could have been very much in our way. The influence of the clergy on the people is diminishing daily.

Today, freedom of religion prevails everywhere, and the time is only a few years off when Christianity will fall to pieces altogether.⁵⁸ It will be still easier for us to deal with the other religions, but it is too early to discuss this point.

We will confine the clergy and their teachings to such a small part in life, and their influence will be made so uncongenial to the populace that their teachings will have the opposite effect to what it used to have.

⁵⁸ That's what they said after killing Jesus and imprisoning Peter. (P.A.)

When the time comes for us to completely destroy the Papal Court, an unknown hand, pointing towards the Vatican, will give the signal for the assault. When the people in their rage throw themselves onto the Vatican, we shall appear as its protectors in order to stop the bloodshed. By this act, we will penetrate to the very heart of this Court, and then no power on earth will expel us from it, until we have destroyed the Papal might. The king of Israel will become the true Pope of the universe, the Patriarch of the International Church. ⁵⁹

But until we have accomplished the re-education of youth by means of new temporary religions, and subsequently by means of our own, we will not openly attack the existing churches, but will fight them by means of ⁵⁹ The irony of this is: Catholicism is not Christianity. It is a New Testament corruption of Old Testament corrupted Judaism. It is the spirit of apostasy that was first in Judaism, (the woman in the basket in Zechariah), and then was flown to its new home, the Vatican, (the Harlot in Revelations). It's the same woman, the same harlot, the same spirit of apostasy in both Jews and Gentiles. Judaism (Freemasons) and Catholicism (Jesuits) are the two horns on a lamb that talks like a dragon. (P.A.)

criticism, which already has and will continue to spread dissensions among them.

Generally speaking, our press will denounce governments, religious and other Gentile institutions, by means of all kinds of unscrupulous articles, in order to discredit them to such an extent as our wise nation only is capable of doing.

Our government will resemble the Hindu god Vishnu. Each of our hundred hands will hold one spring of the social machinery of state.

We shall know everything, without the aid of official police, which we have so corrupted for the Gentiles that it only prevents the government from seeing real facts. Our program will induce a third part of the populace to watch the remainder from a pure sense of duty and from the principle of voluntary government service.

Then it will not be considered dishonorable to be a spy; on the contrary, it will be regarded as praiseworthy. On the other hand, the bearers of false reports will be severely punished in order to prevent abuse being made of the privilege of report.

Our agents will be selected both from among the upper and the lower classes; they will be taken from among administrators, editors, printers, booksellers, clerks, workmen, coachmen, footmen, etc. This force of police will have no independent power of action, and will not have the right to take any measures of their own accord, and therefore, the duty of this powerless police will consist solely in acting as witnesses and in issuing reports.

The verification of their reports and the actual arrests will depend on a group of responsible police inspectors; actual arrests will be made by “gendarmes”⁶⁰ of city police. In case of failure to report any misdemeanor concerning political matters, the person who should have reported the same will be punished for willful concealment of a crime, if it can be proved that he is guilty of such concealment.

Like our brothers have to do now, namely, on their own initiative to report to the proper authority all apostates and all proceedings that might be contrary to our law. So, in our universal government, it will be the duty of all our subjects to serve their sovereign by taking the above-mentioned action.⁶¹

An organization such as this will root out all abuse of power and various kinds of bribery and corruption—in fact, it will destroy all ideas with which we have contaminated the life of the Gentiles, by means of our theories on super-human rights.

How could we achieve our aim of creating disorder in the administrative institutions of the Gentiles if not by some such means as this?

⁶¹ In Democrat run states in America, particularly New York, the citizens were commanded to report anyone not wearing a mask or isolating at home during the fake Covid-19 pandemic. It appears to be a forerunner of what is coming. (P.A.)

Among the most important means for corrupting their institutions is the use of such agents as are in a position, through their own destructive activity, to contaminate others by revealing and developing their own corrupt tendencies, such as abuse of power and a free use of bribery.

When the time comes for us to take special police measures by putting the present Russian system of “Okhrana”⁶² in force (the most dangerous poison for the prestige of the state), we will stir up mock disorders among the populace, or induce it to show protracted discontent, and this with the aid of good orators. These orators will find plenty of sympathizers, thus giving us an excuse for searching people’s houses and placing them under special restrictions by making use of our servants among the police of the Gentiles.

⁶² Okhrana: the secret police of the Russian tsars, created following the assassination of Tsar Alexander II in 1881. For over 30 years, they infiltrated, monitored, censored, and detained groups seen as destabilizing the nation or threatening the autocratic power of the Russian Empire. (MW)

As most conspirators are actuated by their love for such art and for that of chattering, we will not touch them until we see that they are about to take action, and we will confine ourselves to introducing among them a, so to speak, reporting element. We must remember that a power loses prestige every time that it discovers a public conspiracy against itself. In such a revelation lies the presumption of weakness, and what is still more dangerous, the admission of its own mistakes.

It must be known that we have destroyed the prestige of reigning Gentiles by means of a number of private assassinations accomplished by our agents, the blind sheep of our flock, who can easily be induced to commit a crime, so long as such a crime is of a political character.

We will force rulers to admit their own weakness by openly introducing special police measures, "Okhrana", and thus we shall shake the prestige of their own power.

Our sovereign will be protected by means of most secret guards, as we will never allow anyone to think that there might exist such a conspiracy against our ruler that he could not personally destroy, and from which he is obliged to hide himself. If we were to allow the existence of such an idea to prevail, as it prevails among the Gentiles, we should thereby sign the death warrant of our sovereign, or if not of himself, then of his dynasty.

By a strict observance of appearances, our ruler will use his power only for the benefit of the nation, but never for his own good or for that of the dynasty.

By strictly adhering to such a decorum, his power will be honored and protected by his subjects themselves. They will worship the power of the sovereign, knowing that to this power is tied the welfare of the state, because from it will depend public order.

To guard the king openly is equivalent to an admission of the weakness of his power.

Our ruler will always be amidst his people and will appear to be surrounded by an inquisitive crowd of men and women, apparently always by chance occupying the rows nearest to him and thus holding back the mob with a view to keeping order merely for order's sake. This example will teach others to exercise self-control.

In case of a petitioner among the people trying to submit a demand and pushing through the mob, the people in the first rows will take his petition and will remit it to the ruler in the presence of the petitioner, in order that everyone should know that all petitions reach the sovereign, and that he himself controls all affairs. In order to exist, the prestige of power must occupy such a position that the people can say among themselves, "If only the king knew about it," or "When the king knows about it."

The mysticism, which surrounds the person of the sovereign, vanishes as soon as a guard of police is seen to be placed around him. When such a guard is employed, any assassin has only to exercise a certain amount of audacity in order to imagine himself stronger than the guard; he thus realizes his strength and so only has to watch for the moment when he can make an assault on the said power.

We do not preach this doctrine to the Gentiles, and you can see for yourselves the results which the employment of open guards has had for them.

Our government will arrest such people as they may more or less rightfully suspect of political crimes. It is not desirable that fear of us misjudging a man should give the man an opportunity of escape.

We will, indeed, show no mercy to such criminals. In certain exceptional cases, it may be possible to consider attenuating circumstances when dealing with ordinary criminal offenses; but there can be no excuse for a political crime, that is to say, no excuse for men to become involved in politics, which none, except the ruler, should understand.

And, indeed, not all rulers are capable of understanding true politics.⁶³

We will prohibit individuals from becoming involved in politics, but, on the other hand, we will encourage every kind of report or petition submitting suggestions for the approval of the government which deal with the improvement of social and national life.

Thus, by these means, the mistakes of our government and the ideals of our subjects will become known to us. We will answer these suggestions by accepting them, or, if they are unsatisfactory, by producing a sound argument to prove that they are impossible of realization and based on a short-sighted conception of affairs.

⁶³ Their “true politics” is only that of scheming murderers, and that’s why most men don’t understand it. Most men aren’t psychopaths bent on killing as many innocent people as possible just to gain the power to rule over them. Though lately in America, the Democrats are throwing aside their disguises and showing their Luciferian insanity. I guess decades of raping and killing babies will do that to those mad-hatters. (P.A.)

Sedition is no more than the barking of a dog at an elephant. In a government that is well organized from a social point of view, but not from a point of view of its police, the dog barks at the elephant without realizing his strength. The elephant has only to show its strength by one good example for the dogs to stop barking and to start wagging their tails as soon as they see the elephant.

In order to deprive the political criminal of his crown of valor, we will place him in the ranks of other criminals on an equal footing with thieves, murderers, and other kinds of repulsive malefactors. Then public opinion will mentally regard political crimes in the same light as ordinary crimes and will place the same common stigma on both.⁶⁴

⁶⁴ They believed Jesus was a political opponent trying to take their power from them, so they numbered him with transgressors and crucified him between two thieves. (P.A.)

We have done our best to prevent the Gentiles from adopting their particular method of dealing with political crimes. In order to attain this end, we have made use of the press, public speaking, and cleverly thought-out history school books, and inspired the idea of a political murderer being a martyr, because he died for the idea of human welfare. Such an advertisement has multiplied the number of liberals and has swollen the ranks of our agents by thousands of Gentiles.

Today, I will deal with our financial program, which I have left for the end of my report, as being the most difficult question and forming the final clause in our plans. Before discussing this point, I will remind you of that which I have touched upon before, namely, that our whole policy is dependent on a question of figures.

When we get into power, our autocratic government will, for the sake of self-interest, avoid imposing heavy taxation on the populace, and will always bear in mind that part which it has to play, namely, the part of father protector.

But, as the organization of the government will absorb vast sums of money, it is all the more necessary to raise the required means for maintaining it. Therefore, we must exercise great care in working out this question and see that the burden of taxation is fairly distributed.

Through a legalized fiction, our sovereign will be the owner of all property in the state (this is easily put into practice). He will be able to raise such sums of money as may be necessary to regulate the circulation of currency in the country.

Hence, the best means to meet government expenses will be by a progressive taxation of property. Thus, taxation will be paid without oppressing or ruining the people, and the amount at which it will be assessed will depend on the value of each individual property.

It must be understood by the rich that it is their duty to hand over part of their surplus wealth to the government, because the government guarantees them safe possession of the remainder of their property and gives them the right to earn money by honest means. I say honest, because the control of property will preclude robbery on legal grounds.

This social reform must be in the forefront of our program, as it is the principal guarantee of peace and will brook no delay.

Taxation of the poor is the origin of all revolutions, and always greatly conducive to injury to the government, as the latter, while trying to raise money from the poor loses its chance of obtaining it from the rich.

Taxation of capital will diminish the increase of wealth in private hands, into which we have up till now purposely allowed it to accumulate, in order to act as a counterpoise to the government of the Gentiles and their finances.

Progressive taxation assessed according to the fortune of the individual will produce a much larger revenue than the present system of taxing everybody at an equal rate. This system is at the present (1901) most essential for us, it creates discontent among the Gentiles.

Our sovereign's power will rest mainly on the fact that he will be a guarantee for the balance of power and for the perpetual peace of the world, and in order to obtain such a peace, capitals will have to surrender some of their wealth so as to safeguard the government in its action.

Government expenditure must be paid for by those who can best afford to do so, and from whom money can be raised.

Such a measure will stop hatred on the part of the poorer classes for the rich, in whom they will recognize the necessary financial supporters of the government and will see the upholders of peace and public welfare; for the poorer classes will understand that the rich provide the means for supplying them with social benefits.

In order that the intelligent classes, that is to say, the taxpayers, should not complain excessively about the new system of taxation, we will furnish them with detailed accounts in which will be set forth the manner in which their money is being spent, excepting of course such portion of it as is spent on the private needs of the sovereign and on the requirements of the administration.

The sovereign will have no personal property, as everything in the state will belong to him, for if the sovereign were allowed to own private property, it would appear as though all property in the state did not belong to him.

The relations of the sovereign—except his heir, who will also be kept at government expense—will have to serve as government officials or else work in order to retain the right of holding property, the privilege of being of royal blood would not entitle them to live at the expense of the state.

There will be a progressive stamp duty on all sales and purchases as well as death duties. Any transaction without the required stamp will be considered illegal, and the former owner will be obliged to pay to the government a percentage on the duty from the date of the sale.⁶⁵

All transfer vouchers must be delivered weekly to the local surveyors of taxes, together with a statement of the name and surname of both the new and previous owner, as well as the permanent addresses of both.

Such a procedure will be necessary for transactions in excess of a certain amount, that is to say, in excess of the amount equal to the average daily expenditure. The sale of prime

⁶⁵ What the Elders continuously call “stamps” in these writings, from well over a hundred years ago, may eventually be the mark of the beast: that which must be had by all, or they will not be allowed to buy or sell. . . or even be allowed to live. (P.A.)

necessities will only have to be stamped with an ordinary fixed duty stamp.

Just count by how many times the amount of such taxation will surpass the income of the governments of the Gentiles.

The state will have to keep in reserve a certain amount of capital and in case the income from taxation were to exceed this specified sum, such superfluous income will have to be put back into circulation. These surplus sums will be expended on the organization of various kinds of public works.

The directorate of such works will be under a government department, and thus the interests of the working classes will be closely connected with those of the government and with their sovereign. A portion of this surplus money will also be allotted to premiums for inventions and productions.

It is most essential not to allow currency to lie inactive in the state bank, beyond such a specified sum as may be intended for some special purpose. For currency exists for circulation and any congestion of money always has a fatal effect on the course of state affairs, since money acts as a lubricant in the state mechanism, and if the lubricant becomes clogged, the working of the machine is thereby stopped.

The fact that bonds have been substituted for a large part of the currency has now created a congestion such as just described. The consequences of this fact are becoming sufficiently obvious.

We will also institute an auditing department, so as to enable the sovereign at any time to receive a full account of the expenditure of the government and its revenue. All reports will be kept strictly up to date, except those of the current and preceding months.

The only person who could not be interested in robbing the state bank will be its owner, namely, the Sovereign. For this reason, his control will stop all possibility of leakage or unnecessary expenditure. Receptions for the sake of etiquette, which waste the valuable time of the Sovereign, will be abolished in order that he may have more opportunity to attend to affairs of state.

Under our government, the Sovereign will not be surrounded by courtiers, who usually dance attendance on the monarch for the sake of pomp and are only interested in their own affairs, putting aside as they do the welfare of the state.

All economic crises, which we have so skillfully arranged in the Gentile countries, we carried out by means of withdrawing currency from circulation. Large fortunes are congested, money being withdrawn from the government, which in its turn is obliged to appeal to the owners of such fortunes, in order to raise loans. The loans have put heavy burdens on the governments, compelling them to pay interest on the borrowed money, and thus tying their hands.

Concentration of production into the hands of capitalism has sucked all productive power of the people dry, and with it also the wealth of the state.

Currency at the present time cannot satisfy the requirements of the working classes, as there is not enough to go around.

The issue of currency must correspond to the growth of the population, and children have to be reckoned as consumers of currency from the first day of their birth. Occasionally revision of currency is a vital question for the whole world.

I think that you know that gold currency has been the destruction of the states which have adopted it, because it could not satisfy the requirements of the population, all the more so because we have done our best to cause it to be congested and to be withdrawn from circulation.

Our government will have a currency based on the value of the working power of the country, and it will be of paper or even of wood.

We will use currency sufficient for each subject, adding to this amount on the birth of every child, and diminishing it with the death of each person.

Government accounts will be kept by separate local governments and by county offices.

In order that delays should not occur in the paying of government expenses, the Sovereign himself will issue orders as to the term of payment of such sums, thus the favoritism which is sometimes shown by ministries of finance to certain departments will be terminated.

The revenue and expenditure accounts will be kept together in order that they may always be compared with one another.

The plans which we will make for the reform of the financial institutions of the Gentiles will be introduced in such a manner as will never be noticed by them. We will point to the necessity of reforms, as being due to the disorderly state which Gentile finances have reached. We will show that the first reason for this bad state of finance lies in the fact that they start their financial year by making a rough estimate for the budget, the amount of which increases from year to year, and for the following reason: the annual budget is with great difficulty made to last till the end of the half year; then a revised budget is introduced, the money of which is generally expended in three months; after that, a supplementary budget is voted; at the end of the year accounts are settled by a liquidation budget.

The budget for the year is based on the total expenditure of the preceding year; therefore, each year, there is a deviation of about 50 per cent from the nominal sum, and the annual budget at the end of 10 years is increased threefold. Thanks to such a procedure, which was tolerated by the careless Gentile governments, their reserves have been drained. Then, when the period of loans arose, it emptied their state banks and brought them to the verge of bankruptcy.

You will readily understand that such a management of financial affairs, which we induced the Gentiles to pursue, cannot be adopted by our government.

Each loan proves the weakness of the government and its failure to understand its own rights. Each loan, like the sword of Damocles⁶⁶, hangs over the heads of the rulers, who, instead of raising certain sums directly from the nation by means of temporary taxation, come to our bankers, cap in hand.

⁶⁶ Sword of Damocles: From an ancient parable made famous by Cicero, showing that a ruler always has a sword above his head, hanging by a single thread of horse hair. It implies constant peril and the apprehension felt by those in power. (History.com)

External loans are like leeches which cannot be separated from the body of the government until they fall off of themselves or until the government manages to shake them off. But the governments of the Gentiles have no desire to shake off these leeches; on the contrary, they increase their number, and therefore, their state is bound to die from self-inflicted loss of blood.

For what is an external loan if not a leech?

A loan is an issue of government paper which entails an obligation to pay interest amounting to a percentage of the total sum of the borrowed money. If a loan is at 5 percent, then in 20 years, the government will have unnecessarily paid out a sum equal to that of the loan, in order to cover the percentage. In 40 years, it will have paid twice, and in 60, three times that amount, but the loan will still remain as an unpaid debt.

From this calculation, it is evident that such loans, under the existing system of taxation (1901) draw the last cents from the poor taxpayer in order to pay interests to foreign capitalists, from whom the state has borrowed the money, instead of collecting the necessary sum from the nation free of all interest in the shape of taxation.

As long as the loans were internal, the Gentiles only transferred money from the pockets of the poor into those of the rich; but after we bribed the necessary people to substitute external loans for internal, all the wealth of the states rushed into our safes, and all the Gentiles started paying us what amounted to nothing short of tribute.

Through their carelessness in statesmanship, or owing to the corruption of their ministers, or their ignorance of finance, Gentile sovereigns have put their countries in debt to our banks so that they can never pay off these mortgages. You must understand to what pains we must have gone to in order to bring about such a state of affairs.

In our government, we will take great care that congestion of money shall not occur, and therefore, we will not have state loans, except one of 1 percent exchequer⁶⁷ bonds, in order that payment of percentage should not expose the country to being sucked by leeches.

The right of issuing bonds will be given exclusively to commercial companies. These will have no difficulty in paying the percentage out of their profits because they borrow money from commercial enterprises, but the government cannot make profits from borrowed money, because it borrows solely in order to spend what it has taken on loan.

Commercial shares will also be bought by the government, which will thus become a creditor instead of being a debtor and payer of tribute as it is at present. Such a measure will put an end to indolence and laziness, which were useful to us as long as the Gentiles were independent, but would be undesirable in our government.

The emptiness of the purely bestial brains of the Gentiles is sufficiently proved by the fact that, when they borrowed money from us at interest, they failed to understand that each sum so borrowed, together with the interest on the amount, would eventually have to come out of the resources of the country. It would have been simpler to have taken the money from their own people at once without having to pay interest. This proves our genius, and the fact that our people have been elected by God. We have so managed as to present the question of loans in such a light to the Gentiles that they even thought that they found a profit in them.⁶⁸

Our estimates, which we will produce when the time comes, and which will have been worked out with the experience of centuries and which we have been considering while the Gentiles have been governing, will differ from those made by the Gentiles in their extraordinary clearness, and will prove to the world how beneficial are our new plans.

These plans will terminate such abuses as those by which we became masters of the Gentiles, and as cannot be allowed in our reign. We will so arrange the system of our budget that neither the ruler himself or the most insignificant clerk will be in a position unobserved to extract the smallest portion of the money or use it for any other purpose than that to which it has been allotted in the first estimate.

Without a definitely fixed plan, it is impossible to rule successfully. Even knights and heroes perish when they take a road not knowing where it leads, and start on their journey without being properly provisioned.

The sovereigns of the Gentiles, whom we helped to induce to forsake their duties in the government by means of representations and entertainments, pomp, and other diversions, were no more than screens to hide our intrigues.

The reports of their followers, who used to be sent to represent the sovereign in his public duties, were made for them by our agents. On each occasion, these reports used to please the short-sighted minds of the sovereigns, accompanied, as they were, by various schemes for future economy. "How could they economize by fresh taxes?" they could have asked, but they did not ask the readers of our reports.

You yourselves know to what a state of financial chaos they have come by their own negligence; they have ended in bankruptcy in spite of all the hard work of their subjects.

I will now add to what I told you at our last meeting and give you a detailed explanation of internal loans. But I will not discuss external loans any further, because they have filled our coffers with Gentile money, and also because our universal government will have no foreign neighbors from whom they could borrow money.

We made use of the corruption of the administrators and of the negligence of the Gentile sovereigns in order to obtain twice and three times the amount of the money advanced by us to their governments, which in reality, they did not need at all. Who could do the same with regard to us? Therefore, I will only go into the question of internal loans.

When it announces the issue of such a loan, the government opens a subscription for its bonds. In order that these bonds might come within the reach of everybody, they are issued down to the very small amount. The first subscribers are allowed to buy below par. On the following day their price is inflated in order to convey the idea that everybody is anxious to buy them.

In the course of a few days, the safes of the exchequer are full with all the money which has been oversubscribed. (Why continue accepting money for an oversubscribed loan?) The subscription is evidently considerably in excess of the amount asked for; in this lies the whole effect—the public evidently trusts the government!

But when the comedy is over, there arises the fact of a very large debt. And, in order to pay the interest on this debt, the government has to have recourse to a fresh loan, which, in its turn, does not annul the state debt, but only adds to it. When the borrowing capacity of the government is exhausted, the interest on the loans must be paid by new taxations. These taxations are nothing but debts contracted in order to cover other debts.

Then comes a period of conversions of loans, but such conversions only diminish the amount of interest to be paid and do not annul the debt. Moreover, they can only be made with the consent of the creditors. When such conversions are announced, the creditors are given the right to accept them or to have their money back, in case they do not wish to accept the conversions. If everybody were to reclaim his own money, the government would be caught by its own bait, and would not be in a condition to return all the money.

Luckily, the subjects of the Gentile governments do not understand much of finance, and they have always preferred suffering a fall in the value of their securities and a reduction of interest to the risk of a new investment; thus, they have often given their government an opportunity to get rid of a debt, which probably amounted to several million.

The Gentiles would not dare to do such a thing with external loans, knowing very well that, in such a case, we would demand all our money.

By such action, the government would openly admit its own bankruptcy, which would plainly show the people that their own interests have nothing in common with those of their government. I especially draw your attention to this fact as also to the following: at present, all internal loans are consolidated by so-called temporary loans, that is to say, debts, the period for the payment of which is short.

These debts consist of the money placed on deposit in the state banks or saving banks. This money, being at the disposal of the government for a considerable length of time, is used for paying interest on external loans, and in lieu of the money, the government places an equal amount in its own securities into these banks. These state securities cover all deficits in the state safes of the Gentiles.

When our Sovereign is enthroned over the whole world, all these tricky financial operations will vanish. We will destroy the market in public funds, because we will not allow our prestige to be shaken by the rise and fall of our stocks, the values of which will be established by law at par without any possibility of fluctuation in price. Rise gives cause to fall, and it is by rises that we started the discredit of the public funds of the Gentiles.

For stock exchanges will be substituted enormous government organizations, the duty of which will consist in taxing commercial enterprises as the government may think fit. These institutions will be in a position to throw on the market millions worth of commercial shares, or to buy up the same, in one day. Thus, all commercial enterprises will be dependent on us.⁶⁹

⁶⁹ Their government will be the puppet-master over every commercial business, deciding who rises and who falls. No more capitalism, no more free-market, no more enterprise, no more initiative, no more creative endeavor, no more progress, and most of all, no more freedom, which they call an empty word which they themselves created. Can anyone say: gaslighting? How about: liars? (P.A.)

You can imagine what a power we will thus become.⁷⁰

In all which I have told you up till now, I have tried to give you a true picture of the mystery of the present events, as also of those of the past, which all flow into the river of Fate, and the result of which will be seen in the near future. I have shown you our secret plans by which we deal with the Gentiles as well as our financial policy. I have only to add a few more words.

In our hands is concentrated the greatest might of the present days, this is to say, gold. In the course of two days, we can draw any amount of it from our secret treasure rooms.

Is it still necessary for us to prove that our rule is the will of God? Is it possible that, with such vast riches, we shall not be able to prove that all the gold, which we have been accumulating for so many centuries, will not help in our true cause for good—that is to say, for the restoration of order under one rule?

It may require a certain amount of violence, but this order will eventually be established. We will prove that we are the benefactors who have restored lost peace and freedom to the tortured world. We will give the world the opportunity of this peace and freedom, but certainly only under one condition—that is to say, that it should strictly adhere to our laws.⁷¹

Moreover, we will make it clear to everyone that freedom does not consist in dissoluteness or in the right of doing what people please. Likewise, that the position and power of a man does not give him the right to proclaim destructive principles such as freedom of religion, equality, or similar ideas. We will also make it clear that individual freedom does not convey the right of any man to become excited or to excite others by making ridiculous speeches to disorderly masses.

⁷¹ The Apostle Paul said of the Pharisees and Elders in 1Peter 2:19: “They promise freedom, but they themselves are slaves of sin and corruption.” And of the last days, 1Thes. 5:3 says: “When they say, ‘Peace and safety,’ then sudden destruction will come upon them, like travail upon a woman with child, and they shall not escape.” (P.A.)

We will teach the world that true freedom consists only in the inviolability⁷² of a man's person and of his property, who honestly adheres to all the laws of social life. That a man's position will be dependent on the conception which he has of other men's rights, and that his dignity prohibits fantastic ideas on the subject of self.

Our power will be glorious, because it will be mighty and will rule and guide, but by no means follow leaders of the populace or any kind of orators who shout senseless words which they call high principles, and which are in reality nothing else but utopian ideas.

Our power will be the organizer of order in which lies peoples' happiness. The prestige of this power will bring to it mystic adoration, as well as subjection of all nations. A true power does not yield to any right, even to that of God.⁷³ None will dare to approach it with the object of depriving it even of a thread of its might.

In order that people should become accustomed to obedience, they must be trained to modesty, therefore, we will reduce the production of objects of luxury. By these means, we will also impose morals, which are being corrupted by continual rivalry on the grounds of luxury. We will patronize "pleasant industries" in order to injure private factories.

The necessities for such reforms also lie in the fact that large private factory-owners often instigate their workmen against the government, perhaps even unconsciously.

⁷³ "Every knee shall bow, and every tongue confess, that Jesus Christ is Lord."
(Romans 14:11)

The populace engaged in local industries does not know the meaning of being “out of work”, and this makes it cling to the existing order, and induces it to support the government. Unemployment is the greatest danger for the government. For us it will have done its work as soon as, by its means, we shall have obtained power.

Drunkenness will also be prohibited as a crime against humanity, and will be punishable as such; for man becomes equal to a beast under the influence of alcohol.

Nations only submit blindly to a strong power which is absolutely independent of them, and in whose hand they can see a sword, acting as a weapon of defense against all social insurrections. Why should they want their sovereign to possess the soul of an angel? They must see in him the personification of strength and might.

A ruler must arise who will supersede the existing governments which have been living upon a crowd, whose demoralization we ourselves have brought about among flames of anarchy. Such a ruler must commence by extinguishing these flames, which are incessantly springing up from all sides.

In order to obtain such a result, he must destroy all societies which may be the origin of these flames, even if he has to shed his own blood. He must form a well-organized army, which will anxiously fight the infection of any anarchy which may poison the body of the government.

Our sovereign will be chosen by God and appointed from above in order to destroy all ideas influenced by instinct and not by reason, by brutal principles and not by humanity. At present, these ideas successfully prevail in their robberies and violence under the banner of right and freedom.

Such ideas have destroyed all social organizations, thus leading to the reign of the king of Israel. But their part will be played as soon as the reign of our sovereign commences. Then we must sweep them away, so that no dirt should lie in our sovereign's path.

Then we shall be able to say to the nations, "Pray to God and bow down before him who bears the mark of the predestination of the world, and whose star God himself guided, in order that none other but himself should be able to set humanity free from all sin."

Now I will deal with the manner in which we will strengthen the dynasty of King David, in order that it may endure until the last day.

Our manner of securing the dynasty will consist chiefly of the same principles which have given to our wise men the management of the world's affairs, that is to say, the direction and education of the whole human race.

Several members of the seed of David will prepare kings and their successors, who will be elected not by right of inheritance but by their own capabilities. These successors will be initiated in our secret political mysteries and plans of governing, taking great care that no one else should acquire them.

Such measures will be necessary in order that all should know that only those can rule who have been initiated in the mysteries of political art. Only such men will be taught how to apply our plans in practice by making use of the experience of many centuries. They will be initiated in the conclusions drawn from all observations of our political and economic system and in all social sciences. In a word, they will be told the true spirit of the laws that have been founded by nature herself in order to govern mankind.

Direct successors to the sovereign will be superseded in the event of their proving to be frivolous or soft-hearted during their education, or in case they show any other tendency likely to be detrimental to their power, and which may render them incapable of ruling and even to be dangerous to the prestige of the crown.

Only such men as are capable of governing firmly, although perhaps cruelly, will be entrusted with the reins of government by our elders.

In case of illness or loss of energy, our sovereign will be obliged to hand over the reins of government to those of his family who have proved themselves more capable.

The king's immediate plans, and still more, his plans for the future, will not even be known to those who will be called his nearest councilors. Only our sovereign, and the three who initiate him, will know the future.

In the person of the sovereign, who will rule with an unshakable will and control himself as well as humanity, the people will recognize as it were fate itself and all its human paths. None will know the aims of the sovereign when he issues his orders; therefore, none will dare to obstruct his mysterious path.

Of course, the sovereign must have a head capable of dealing with our plans. Therefore, he will not ascend the throne before his brain-power has been ascertained by our wise men.

In order that all his subjects should love and venerate their sovereign, he must often address them in public. Such measures will bring the two powers into harmony, namely, that of the populace and that of the ruler, which we have separated in the Gentile countries by holding the one in awe of the other.

We had to hold these two powers in awe one of another in order that they, when once separated, should fall under our influence.

The king of Israel must not be under the influence of his own passions, especially that of sensuousness. He must not allow animal instincts to get the better of his brain. Sensuousness, more than any other passion, is certain to destroy all mental and foreseeing powers; it distracts men's thoughts towards the worst side of human nature.

The Column of the Universe in the person of the World Ruler, sprung from the Holy seed of David, had to forego all personal passions for the benefit of his people.

Our sovereign must be irreproachable.

Signed by the representative of Zion, of the 33rd degree.

EPILOGUE

Sergyei Nilus, 1905

The minutes were stealthily removed from a large book of notes on lectures. My friend found them in the safes at the headquarter offices of the Society of Zion, which is at present situated in France.

France compelled Turkey to grant various privileges to the schools and religious institutions of all denominations, which will be under the protectorate of the French diplomacy in Asia Minor. Of course, these do not include the Catholic schools and institutions which were expelled from France by the late governments.

This fact merely proves that the diplomacy of the Dreyfus schools is only anxious to protect the interests of Zion, and is working for the colonization of Asia Minor by French Jews. Zion always knew how to acquire influence for itself by means of what the Talmud calls its “working brutes”, by which it refers to the Gentiles in general.

According to the records of secret Jewish Zionism, Solomon and other Jewish learned men already, in 929 B.C., thought out a scheme in theory for a peaceful conquest of the whole universe by Zion.

As history developed, this scheme was worked out in detail and completed by men who were subsequently initiated in this question. These learned men decided by peaceful means to conquer the world for Zion with the slyness of the symbolic serpent, whose head was to represent the initiated into the plans of the Jewish administration, and the body of the serpent to represent the Jewish people. The administration was always kept secret, even from the Jewish nation itself.

As this serpent penetrated into the hearts of the nations which it encountered, it got under and devoured all the non-Jewish power of the states. It is foretold that the snake has to finish its work, strictly adhering to the designed plan, until the course which it has to run is closed by the return of its head to Zion, and until, by this means, the snake has completed its round of Europe, and it has encompassed the whole world. This it is to accomplish by using every endeavor to subdue the other countries by an economic conquest.

The return of the head of the serpent to Zion can only be accomplished after the power of all the sovereigns of Europe have been laid low, that is to say, when by means of economic crisis and wholesale destruction effected everywhere, there shall have been brought about a spiritual demoralization and a moral corruption,⁷⁴ chiefly with the assistance of Jewish women masquerading as French, Italians, etc. These are the surest spreaders of licentiousness into the lives of the leading men at the heads of nations.

Women in the service of Zion act as a decoy for those who, thanks to them, are always in need of money, and therefore, are always ready to barter their conscience for money. This money is in reality only lent by the Jews, for it quickly returns through the same women into the hands of bribing Jewry—but, through these transactions, slaves are bought to the cause of Zion.⁷⁵

It is natural for the success of such an undertaking that neither the public officials or private individuals should suspect the part played by the women employed by Jewry. Therefore, the directors of the cause of Zion formed, as it were, a religious caste—eager followers of the Mosaic Law and of the statutes of the Talmud.

⁷⁵ Look into the Jeffrey Epstein saga: a sleazy billionaire spy for the Israeli secret intelligence, who lured politicians and powerful people to an Island for sexual debauchery and pedophilia, and filmed them from hundreds of pin-hole cameras mounted in all the rooms, for the purpose of blackmail. President Bill Clinton was one of those who flew to the Island in Epstein's jet called The Lolita Express. (Lolita was a famous novel about an older man who fell in love with a twelve-year-old girl.) (P.A.)

All the world believed that the mask of the Law of Moses is the real rule of life of the Jews. No one thought of investigating the effect of this rule of life, especially as all eyes were directed on the gold, which could be supplied by the caste and which gave this caste absolute freedom for its economic and political intrigues.

Its first stage in Europe was in 429 B.C. in Greece, where, in the time of Pericles, the serpent first started eating into the power of that country. The second stage was in Rome in the time of Augustus, about 69 B.C.

The third in Madrid in the time of Charles V. in 1552 A.D. The fourth in Paris about 1700, in the time of Louis XVI. The fifth in London from 1814 onwards (after the downfall of Napoleon.)

The sixth in Berlin in 1871, after the Franco-Prussian War. The seventh in St. Petersburg, over which is drawn the head of the serpent under the date of 1881.

All these states which the serpent traversed have had the foundations of the constitutions shaken; Germany, with its apparent power, forming no exception to the rule. In economic conditions England and Germany are spared, but only until the conquest of Russia is accomplished by the serpent, on which at present, all its efforts are concentrated. The further course of the serpent is not shown on this map, but arrows indicate its next movement towards Moscow, Kieff, and Odessa.

It is now well known to us to what extent the latter cities form the centers of the militant Jewish race. Constantinople is shown as the last stage of the serpent's course before it reaches Jerusalem.⁷⁶

Only a short distance still remains before the serpent will be able to complete its course by uniting its head to its tail.

In order to enable the serpent to pass easily over its course, the following measures were taken by Zion with the purpose of recasting society and converting the labor classes. First of all, the Jewish race was so organized that none should penetrate into it and thus disclose its secrets.

God himself is supposed to have told the Jews that they were predestined to rule over the whole earth in the form of an indivisible kingdom of Zion. They have been told that they are the only race which deserves to be called human, all the rest being intended to remain "working brutes" and slaves of the Jews, and that their object must be the conquest of the world and the erection of the throne of Zion over the universe. (See Sanh. 91,21,1051.)

The Jews were taught that they are Supermen, and that they must keep themselves apart from all other nations. These theories inspired the Jews with an idea of self-glorification, because they are by right the sons of the God. (See Jihal 67, I; Sanh. 58, 2.)

The secluded mode of living of the race of Zion is strictly adhered to by the system of the “Kaghal”, which compels every Jew to help his kinsman independently of the assistance which he receives from the local administrations, which screen the government of Zion from the eyes of those of the Gentile states, which, in their turn always eagerly defend the Jewish self-government, erroneously regarding them as a purely religious sect.

The above-mentioned ideas, instilled into the Jews, have also considerably influenced their material life.

When we read such works as “Gopayon,” 14, page I; “Eben-Gaizar,” 44, page 81; “XXXVI. Ebamot,” 98; “XXV. Ketubat,” 36; “XXXIV. Sanudrip,” 746; “XXX. Kadushin,” 68A, which were all written in order to glorify the Jewish race, we see that they really treat all Gentiles as though they were beasts, created only to serve them. They think that peoples, properties, and even their lives belong to the Jews, and that God permits his chosen race to make what use they like of them.

According to their laws, all their ill-treatment of the Gentiles is forgiven them on the day of their New Year, at which time also, indulgence is given them to sin likewise in the coming year.

In order to excite hatred of their people towards all Gentiles, the leaders of the Jews acted as “agents-provocateurs” in anti-Semitic risings by allowing the Gentiles to find out some of the secrets of the Talmud. Expressions of anti-Semitism were also very useful to the leading Jews, because they created compassion in the hearts of some Gentiles towards the people who were being apparently ill-treated, thus enlisting their sympathies on the side of Zion.

The anti-Semitism, which brought about persecutions of the lower orders among the Jews, helped their leaders to control and hold their kinsmen in subjection. This they could afford to do, because they always intervened at the right time and saved their fellow people. Note that the leaders of the Jews never suffered from anti-Semitic risings as regarded their personal belongings or their official position in their administration. This is not to be wondered at, as these heads themselves set the "Christian bloodhounds" against the humbler Jews and the bloodhounds managed to keep their herds in order for them, and thereby helped to establish the solidity of Zion.

The Jews, in their own opinion, have already attained the position of a super-government over the whole world, and are now throwing away their masks.

Of course, the main conquering power of Zion always lay in their gold; therefore, they only had to work in order to give a value to this gold.

The high price of gold is chiefly accounted for by gold currency; its accumulation in the hands of Zion is accounted for by the Jews being able to profit and make use of any serious international crisis in order to monopolize gold. This is proved by the history of the Rothchild family, published in Paris in the "Libre Parole."

By means of these crises, the might of capitalism was established under the banner of liberalism, and protected by cleverly thought-out economic and social theories. By giving these theories a scientific appearance, the Elders of Zion obtained extraordinary success.

The existence of the balloting system always affords Zion an opportunity of introducing, by means of bribery, such laws as may suit its purpose. The form of Gentile government most after the Jews' own heart is a Republic, because with such they can the more easily manage to buy a majority, and the republican system gives their agents and army of anarchists unlimited freedom.

For this reason, the Jews are such supporters of liberalism, and the stupid Gentiles, who are fooled by them, ignore the already evident fact that, under a republic, there is no more freedom than under an autocracy; on the contrary, there exists an oppression of the few by the mob, which is always instigated by the agents of Zion.

According to the will of Montefiore, Zion spares no money or means in order to attain these ends. In our days, all governments throughout the world, consciously or unconsciously, are subject to the orders of that great super-government which is Zion, because all their bonds are in the possession of the latter and all countries are indebted to the Jews to such an extent as never to be able to pay off their debts.

All trade, commerce, as well as diplomacy, are in the hands of Zion. By means of its capital, it enslaved all Gentile nations. By dint of intensified education on a material basis, the Jews laid heavy chains on all the Gentiles with which they have attached them to their super-government.

The end of national freedom is at hand, and therefore also liberty will come to an end, because true liberty cannot exist where the lever of money renders it possible for Zion to govern the mob and to reign over the more worthy and more reasonable portion of community⁷⁷. . .

“Those that have ears to hear, let them hear.”

⁷⁷ Consider George Soros, a billionaire Jew, who spends his money funding “the leftist mob” to bring down nations. (i.e.: Black Lives Matter, Antifa, Liberal Mass Media, Mass Migration, Democrat Criminal Voter Fraud, just to name a few). (P.A.)

It will soon be four years since “the Protocols of the Elders of Zion” have been in my possession. God alone knows how numerous have been the unsuccessful attempts which I have made in order to bring them to light or even to warn those who are in power and reveal to them the cause of the storm which hangs over apathetic Russia, who seems unfortunately to have lost all count of what is going on around her.

And only now, when I fear that it is too late, have I succeeded in publishing my work, in the hope that I may be able to warn those who still have ears to hear and eyes to see.

There is no room left for doubt. With all the might and terror of Satan, the reign of the triumphant king of Israel is approaching our unregenerate world; the king born of the blood of Zion—the Anti-Christ—is near to the throne of universal power.

Events in the world are rushing with stupendous rapidity; dissensions, wars, rumors, famines, epidemics, and earthquakes—what was but yesterday impossible, has today become an accomplished fact. Days rush past, as it were, for the benefit of the chosen people.

There is no time to minutely enter into the history of humanity from the point of view of the revealed “mysteries of iniquity”, to historically prove the influence which the “the elders of Israel” have had on the misfortunes of humanity, to foretell the already approaching certain future of mankind or to disclose the final act of the world’s tragedy.

The Light of Christ alone and that of his Holy Spirit universal church can penetrate into the Satanic depths and reveal the extent of their wickedness.

In my heart I feel that the hour has struck for summoning the Eighth Ecumenical Council to which, oblivious of the quarrels which have parted them for so many centuries, will congregate the pastors and representatives of the whole of Christianity to meet the advent of the Anti-Christ.

Ezekiel 28

A Prophecy against the Ruler of Tyre

And the word of the LORD came to me, saying, “Son of man, tell the ruler of Tyre that this is what the Lord GOD says:

Your heart is proud,
and you have said,
‘I am a god;
I sit in the seat of gods
in the heart of the sea.’

Yet you are a man and not a god, though you have regarded your heart
as that of a god.

Behold, you are wiser than Daniel;
no secret is hidden from you!
By your wisdom and understanding you have gained your wealth and amassed gold and silver for your treasuries.
By your great skill in trading
you have increased your wealth,

but your heart has grown proud because of it.

Therefore, this is what the Lord GOD says:

Because you regard your heart
as the heart of a god, behold, I will bring foreigners against you,
the most ruthless of nations.
They will draw their swords against the beauty of your wisdom and will defile your splendor.
They will bring you down to the Pit, and you will die a violent death in the heart of the seas.

Will you still say, 'I am a god,' in the presence of those who slay
you?
You will be only a man, not a god,
in the hands of those who wound
you.
You will die the death of the uncircumcised

at the hands of foreigners.

For I have spoken,
declares the Lord GOD."

A Lament for the King of Tyre

Again, the word of the LORD came to me, saying, "Son of man, take up a lament for the king of Tyre and tell him that this is what the Lord GOD says:

'You were the seal of perfection [gold],
full of wisdom and perfect in beauty.
You were in Eden,
the garden of God.
Every kind of precious stone adorned
you:
ruby, topaz, and diamond,
beryl, onyx, and jasper,
sapphire, turquoise, and emerald.
Your mountings and settings were crafted in gold, prepared on the day of your creation.

You were anointed as a guardian cherub,

for I had ordained you.
You were on the holy mountain of God;
you walked among the fiery stones.
From the day you were created you were blameless in your ways — until wickedness was found in you.

By the vastness of your trade, you were filled with violence, and you sinned.

So, I drove you in disgrace
from the mountain of God, and I banished you, O guardian cherub,
from among the fiery stones.
Your heart grew proud of your beauty;
you corrupted your wisdom because of your splendor;
so, I cast you to the earth;
I made you a spectacle before kings.

By the multitude of your iniquities and the dishonesty of your trading you have profaned your sanctuaries.
So, I made fire come from within you,
and it consumed you.

I reduced you to ashes on the ground in the eyes of all who saw you.
All the nations who know you are appalled over you.
You have come to a horrible end and will be no more.'"

Closing Note by Pamela Ayn Austen

In Daniel's prophecy concerning the Anti-Christ, it says, "Then the king will do as he pleases and will exalt and magnify himself above every god, and he will speak monstrous things against the God of gods. . . He will show no regard for the gods of his fathers, nor for the one desired by women, nor for any other god, because he will magnify himself above them all." Daniel 11:36a-37

There's been little in Christian writings to explain who the "one desired by women" is. Some have re-worded the statement to imply that the Anti-Christ would not care for women, and perhaps be homosexual, but that isn't how the text reads. There is someone who is desired by women, someone god-like, and among all the other gods the Anti-Christ will care nothing about, this particular person or god will be no exception.

I believe that person, whom the Protocol Elders and their Freemason cult have shown great regard for and attachment to, is Solomon, whether he is called Solomon, or by his evil-side's code name: The King of Tyre. Solomon is the only person, in all of Scripture, that has a book specifically devoted to the love of women. In that small book, we're told in verse 1:3: "The fragrance of your perfume is pleasing; your name is like perfume poured out. No wonder the maidens love you."

In saying that the Anti-Christ will have no regard for any god, and not even for the one beloved by women, Scripture appears to be saying that, even though the Protocol Elders of Zion may have always believed that they would usher in the "king of Israel", the Anti-Christ, and they would be the actual rulers behind his back, they will actually be dismissed by the Anti-Christ, who will care nothing for them, their gods, or their original god-like leader, Solomon.

The Protocols will be child's play to him, and a product of mere human reasoning, from a people he hates right along with the Gentiles. The Anti-Christ isn't coming to help the Jews. He's coming to help the Dragon, and make war with Jesus, the Son of God. And while the Protocol Elders will try to reason with him and make deals and covenants with him, he'll lie to them, break the treaties, mock their religion, their sacrifices, and their God; and he'll utterly destroy them and set up his own image to be worshipped.

The spirit of the Anti-Christ, it is said, rises from the abyss, making him neither entirely man or subject to men. The Elders of Zion will not be able to contain or control him any more than they could contain and control Jesus, who was born of the Spirit of God, and who was part man, part God Almighty.

And herein lies the danger to those who have no faith in the spirit, but rather, believe that things of the spirit are merely arranged by the will of man or fate. While their eyes are on what they can see, God and Satan are working in ways they do not see, and toward agendas not concocted by the human mind.

We are mere animals to the spirit world, and even the Great Solomon, Lord of the Zionist Elders and Freemasons, said, "As for the sons of men, God tests them so that they may see for themselves that they are but beasts. For the fates of both men and beasts are the same: As one dies, so dies the other; they all have the same breath. Man has no advantage over the animals, since everything is futile. All go to one place; all come from the dust and return to the dust." Eccles. 3:18-20
