Fond Farewell

This is my final newsletter article. It feels like I just arrived at Taylorsville and now I am entering my final weeks with all of you. We knew this would be a short appointment. I am only an interim pastor after all. Of course, when I came in August, we had no idea that the last time we would see one another in person would be in March. No one could have predicted that a large portion of our ministry year would be spent in this new reality that is #SafeAtHome.

When I arrived at Taylorsville, I had a few goals in mind to work on. Some of those included helping you all to discern who you are as a congregation and who you want to be known as in the community. Part of that discernment process includes assessing the ministries and activities that you currently have and deciding what is truly necessary for the body of Christ and the sharing of Jesus Christ with the world, and what is something whose time has passed and it is time to let go of. If there is one thing which this pandemic has accentuated, it is those questions. We have stopped a great deal of our usual routines during this pandemic. How many of them do you miss? How many of them are you honestly glad are over for now? Are there new things that have started, or new things which you wish would start, as a result of this changing ministry situation? If so, make sure that folks on the church council know your thoughts. As they begin to shape what the church will look like moving forward into 2021, your ideas are important.

As I prepare to move on to my next appointment as a missionary, you also must prepare to welcome your next pastor. At this time we do not yet know who that person will be. No matter who it is, please remember: Each pastor will bring a unique set of skills, experience, and expertise. Work with his/her strengths and help fill in any gaps where he/she may be lacking in skill. Remember, YOU are the church – your gifts and talents are vital to the survival of the church. Your prayers, presence, gifts, witness and service all help the church to thrive. The pastor just helps steer the ship. You provide the hull, the ballast, and the sails.

I pray God's blessings on each one of you moving forward. I want to remind you of official UMC policy – As of July 1, I will no longer be your pastor and you should not reach out to me for any pastoral questions or requests. We also need to not have a social relationship. You need to have time to bond with your new pastor and allow him/her to be your spiritual leader moving forward. If we are friends on Facebook, don't expect me to comment on your posts for a season. If you contact me through other means, I may not respond in order to keep the boundary which I am supposed to keep. However, if you wish to be added to my missionary mailing list, please email me at jwilson@umcmision.org and I will add you to that list. You will receive periodic updates on my job as a missionary and the project which I am assigned to. That is the only exception I am allowed to make. I appreciate your understanding.

Be blessed,
Rev. Julie

We extend our sympathy to Steve Iden and family upon the death of Steve's father, J. D. Iden. Please know that your church family is praying for you at this time.

Prayers for Service Persons

Sean Grimes (U S Navy-Bahrain)
Thank you for your service Sean!!

REMINDER: Monday, June 1st at 7:00 pm is the next Council meeting via conference call.

Even during the pandemic the Mission Team is continuing to support Westminster Rescue Mission and the United Methodist Church in Unalaska. They also contribute monetarily toward the food purchases each month for the Feed My Sheep program at Wesley Freedom UMC in Sykesville. Although not on a regular monthly basis, donations are sometimes sent to the Baltimore-Washington Conference to contribute toward disaster relief programs.

LET'S WELCOME
KAITLYN FLAGLER
AS A NEW MEMBER OF
TAYLORSVILLE UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. Julie,

You have been a blessing for TUMC and made the role of the SPRC, being the liaison between the Staff and Congregation, quite easy over the ten months you have served as our interim pastor. You accomplished your personal goals which led you to be able to leave the office and congregation ready for the next pastor. Thank you for leading us through the pandemic with virtual worship and teleconferencing Council meetings. Many blessings in your new role as a missionary.

Jean Knill for the SPRC

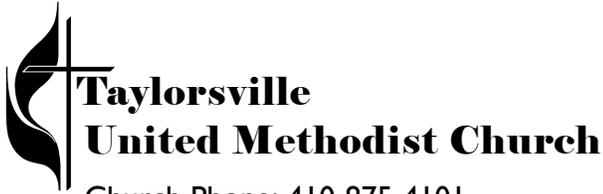

Farewell and Thank You!!
