HAPPY THANKSGIVING FROM THE SOUTHWEST NAVAJO NATION!

Southwest Navajo Nation churches wish you all a Happy Thanksgiving. While many pastors and congregations are still dealing with the Covid-19 issues, they need our prayers. Some have restarted services and some are still on line. These Churches are:

Dilkon Bible Church, Dilkon Nazarene Church, Winslow Restoration Church, Winslow Maranatha Assembly of God Church, Birdsprings Skylight Ministries, Birdsprings Family Worship Center, Leupp Presbyterian Church, Leupp Baptist Church, Leupp Nazarene Church, Round Cedar Nazarene Church, Grand Falls Church of God (holiness), Flagstaff Indian Bible Church, Flagstaff Mission to the Navajos, Western Navajo Bible Fellowship (27 Churches), Grand Falls Bible Church, Ranch Hands Ministry, Black Falls Bible Church, Tolani Lake community Church and Birdsprings Full Gospel Church.

Praise God.

Salvatore (aka, Sal, Sam, Sammy) DeAngelis, died peacefully at his home in Huntersville, NC, on November 2, 2021.

Born in Gallup, NM, on December 20, 1940, Sal and his younger sisters, Antoinette and Ellen, moved to Winslow with their parents Russell and Velia DeAngelis, in 1947. He attended St. Joseph's Catholic school, and was an altar server at St. Joseph's Church. He attended the Diocesan Seminary in Santa Fe, NM, for one year, before returning to finish high school in Winslow. An outstanding student, Sal was a member of the National Honor Society, and he participated in nearly every social and service club WHS offered at that time. He played football for legendary coach Emil Nasser, and he served as Winslow High's Student Body President during the 1958-59 academic year.

He enrolled at Arizona State College (now N.A.U.) after high school, but left college to enlist in the United States Army. He was stationed in Germany for three years, where he would meet the woman who would become his wife, Helga Leubner. Returning to Winslow, the young couple were married, and lived briefly in Winslow (where Sal worked as a switchman for the Santa Fe Railroad), and Flagstaff, before ultimately moving to Phoenix, where he would begin his career as a surveyor/engineer. A move to the Los Angeles area followed in 1968, where Sal worked as an engineer for the City of Los Angeles for 30 years. He retired as a bridge inspector in 1998, and worked for a few more years following his retirement as a free-lance engineering consultant.

In 2013, Sal and Helga returned to Winslow's St. Joseph's Catholic Church to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary, and to re-affirm their wedding vows. They subsequently moved to Huntersville, NC.

Sal enjoyed wood-working in his Huntersville backyard woodshop, but his true passions were books and movies. He read voraciously—biographies, histories, and most importantly, westerns. He would often say that his love of the Western genre was fostered in his youth, when Saturday excursions to the Rialto Theatre in the early 1950's would feature western serials. At the time of his death, he was working on a fictional western story of his own, tentatively titled, "Ash Fork."

He will now be reunited with his eldest daughter, Suzette (Joie), who died in March of 2010.

Sal is survived by his wife of 58 years, Helga, his daughter Yvette DeAngelis-Morton and her husband, Ron; grandsons Aaron Davis, Salvatore Paez, and Giovanni Paez; granddaughter Brittany Enriquez and her husband, Alex; and great-grandsons Luca and Dax Enriquez. He is also survived by his sisters, Ellen Meyer and Deborah Leach, and his brother, Steve DeAngelis.
