DESIGN ■ SPACES

InterioSquare, a prominent furniture manufacturing company since 1999, has been operating & accumulating years of valuable experience and has recognized a gap in the market, particularly in the northeastern part of India, where many people are still unfamiliar with design aesthetics and principles of interior design. The company has taken initiative to address this issue. In this region, the prevailing approach sees people depending on their local contractors to construct their ideal homes. In response to this need, the company has established an Interior Design Studio. Here, customers can enjoy a comprehensive "touch and feel" experience, witnessing firsthand the transformative power of effective space planning and utilization. This studio provides clients with a tangible sense of the quality of work on offer, allowing them to envision and realize their dream spaces.

The company also boasts its own manufacturing facilities, with one dedicated exclusively to doors located in Kalapahar, and a second one closely linked to their studio in Narengi, Bonda. Leveraging their extensive manufacturing expertise and experience in serving a diverse range of international and national clients, the company is well-positioned to offer competitive pricing without compromising on quality. Additionally, they offer comprehensive design and supervision services to ensure the seamless realization of clients' visions.

Why us?

People who employ contractors to get their work done for interiors are unable to get proper after sales service, unlike when they get it done from interior designers or interior designing firms. The quality of the work provided by them is irreparable as compared to the modular repairable fittings provided by the interior designers or firms.

SUSTAINABLE HOMES

Many individuals often overlook the crucial role of an architect in constructing a sustainable and eco-friendly home. To address this gap and ensure optimal use of available land, proper room positioning, adequate car parking, and Vastu compliance based on the building's orientation, wind flow direction, and window placement, the company employs its own in-house architect. Attention to such intricate details, when incorporated into the construction process in collaboration with an architect, can result in a highly sustainable home. This not only promotes energy and water conservation but also reduces maintenance costs, leading to long-term financial savings through decreased electricity bills. The company boasts a team of highly skilled architects and interior designers who meticulously attend to every detail, thereby preventing potential future issues and ensuring a hassle-free experience for clients.

REGULAR PROJECT UPDATE

Clients get regular updates on the progress of the ongoing work in site via WhatsApp group messages, thereby saving time and energy to visit the office or site for regular work updates.

Similarly, for children, the company devises plans that prioritize safety and creativity. This includes ensuring all edges within the home are non-sharp, designing a specialized kids' room to encourage creativity and productive playtime, using non-toxic materials, and incorporating ample storage space to accommodate the needs of growing children.
