

CONTRIBUTORS

Umberto Bresciani is a missionary from Cremona, Italy and has been teaching in the Fujen Catholic University, Taiwan since 2003. He is a member of the International Advisory Board of the Phavisminda Journal. His previous teaching appointments were in the Loyola School of Theology, Ateneo de Manila University and the National Taiwan University, Taipei (where he taught Italian). He finished his M.A. and Ph.D. in Chinese Literature from the National Taiwan University, Taipei, Taiwan, and his B.A. major in History minor in Chinese Studies from the University of Maryland. He has a Licentiate in Philosophy & Theology from the Studentato Teologico Saveriano, Parma, Italy.

Bernardo Caslib, Jr. is an Assistant Professor of Ethics and Philosophy at the University of the Philippines Manila. He finished his B.A. (magna cum laude), M.A., and is completing his Ph.D. in Philosophy at the University of the Philippines Diliman. He attended a summer school on Aquinas' Ethical theory at the Aquinas Institute, Dublin, Ireland. His research interests are in the fields of ethics, applied ethics, bioethics, philosophy of education, and history of philosophy. He was DepEd NCR's trainer of teachers for the teaching of Philosophy of the Human Person and CHED's national trainer of trainers for the teaching of Ethics as a general education course. His articles have appeared in national and international journals.

Ian Anthony Davatos is the current chairperson of the Humanities Department of the College of Arts and Humanities of Palawan State University (PSU). He has a Master's degree in Philosophy from Ateneo de Manila University. He has published articles in Kritike, Philosophia, and SES Journal of Applied Philosophy. His areas of specialization are socio-political philosophy, ethics, and philosophy of religion.

Raymun Festin is a Divine Word missionary currently assigned in the Divine Word Generalate in Rome. He earned his Ph.D. in Philosophy from the Catholic University of Leuven, Belgium. He is the author of Beliefs and Certitudes (Logos: Manila, 2008), and is a member of the International Advisory Board of the Phavisminda Journal.

Joshua Jose R. Ocon is currently a third-year undergraduate for the Bachelor of Arts degree in Philosophy at the San Carlos Seminary, Makati. He has recently published an article for Talisik, the Undergraduate Journal of the University of Santo Tomas' Department of Philosophy, titled Foundations and Justification: A Response to Klein's Objections to Foundationalism as a Solution to the Epistemic Regress Problem. His areas of interest are epistemology, metaphysics, philosophy of God, and science and religion.

John Romel Nuñez is currently finishing his Master of Arts in Philosophy in the University of San Carlos. He received his Bachelor of Arts in Philosophy (2019) from Saint Thomas of Villanova Institute. His research interests are Simone Weil and philosophy of religion.

Anton Heinrich L. Rennesland is an instructor and a Ph.D. researcher of the Department of Philosophy, University of Santo Tomas, where he also obtained his A.B. and M.A. (summa cum laude) Philosophy degrees. He is a managing editor of Kritike: An Online Journal of Philosophy. He has journal articles and book chapters published locally and abroad on his fields of interest: Friedrich Nietzsche, Peter Sloterdijk, urbanism, and comparative philosophy.

Santiago Sia, from Eastern Visayas, is author of several academic books, three philosophical novels, and several articles in international scholarly and professional journals in philosophy, ethics, education and interdisciplinary studies. He received his Ph.D. in Philosophy from Trinity College (University of Dublin) and was awarded a D.Litt. for his published scholarly work by the National University of Ireland. Prior to retirement, he was Professor and Dean of Philosophy at Milltown Institute of Philosophy and Theology (National University of Ireland) and previously Professor of Philosophy at Loyola Marymount University, Los Angeles, CA, USA.

Rhoderick John Abellanosa is the Editor-in-chief of the Phavisminda Journal. He has master's degrees in Philosophy (2006) and Political Science (2008) from the University of San Carlos. In 2011 he was awarded Graduate Research Fellowship by the Asia Research Institute of the National University of Singapore (NUS). He also took audit Theological Studies in the Seminario Mayor de San Carlos. His research interests are in the areas of political philosophy, Filipino philosophy, religion and society, business ethics, and Catholic social ethics. He is a regular columnist of Sunstar Bacolod under the title Fringes and Frontiers.