The LWAL takes care to handle all artwork gently, however, the LWAL is not responsible for any damages to or any loss of any piece of art that may occur. Each LWAL member artist has liability only insurance, through their membership.

The LWAL retains 20% of the purchase price of any art work sold. This amount will be deducted from the artist's proceeds. The LWAL charges and collects sales tax. The gallery is entitled to 20% of any work sold, related to, or as a result of any LWAL show, regardless of location when sold. Any artist found to not have given the gallery its 20% share will lose their LWAL membership and will not be able to show in any future LWAL sponsored exhibition.

Each exhibiting artist must work in the gallery each time they exhibit, or pay a fee so that a replacement worker can be hired. Special exemption is at the discretion of the Gallery Manager and the Board of Directors. Students are not required to work.

Once a piece has been accepted for take-in, fees are not refundable. Any artwork left after a scheduled show pick-up will be charged a storage fee of $50. Art remaining after 30 days will become the property of the LWAL.
