A Message from Ann

The Work of Christmas: Hope, Wonder, and Possibility!

The Work of Christmas

*When the song of the angels is stilled,
When the star in the sky is gone,
When the kings and princes are home,
When the shepherds are back with their flock,
The work of Christmas begins:
To find the lost,
To heal the broken,
To feed the hungry,
To release the prisoner,
To rebuild the nations,
To bring peace among brothers,
To make music in the heart.*

~Howard Thurman

This Christmas poem reminds us of the beauty and wonder of the season ~ the miracle that God has entered into human history and into our lives as the Christ child. We are also reminded that part of the beauty of the season is the work in which we are called to participate ~ the work of healing and blessing; of bearing light and bringing hope to a world in need. Christ's coming calls us to the work of providing for basic needs and building up that which has been torn down – whether it is a home or a heart. We are invited to work for peace by living into the peace that Christ brings. How will that take shape in your life in the coming year?

A new year brings with it hope for a future yet unfolding, wonder at the many and varied ways life is different from a year ago, and the possibility of ongoing growth, change, and discovery about ourselves, others, and God!

What are your hopes for 2018? What do you wonder about? What possibilities bring joy and excitement into your heart?

Celebrating the twelve days of Christmas, also known as the season of “Christmastide,” leads us directly into the celebration of Epiphany, the manifestation of Christ. This gives us a chance to reflect upon how it is that we have seen Christ in our lives and our world, and how we will see Christ in the coming year. Think and pray about:

- How can we be most open to seeing Christ – in others and in ourselves?
- How can we be most open to seeing Christ – in our circumstances, both challenging and satisfying?
- How can we be most open to seeing Christ – in places and in people we least expect to find Christ?

May all of your days – all of your tomorrows – be filled with hope, wonder, and possibility; for surely, with Christ all things are possible!

Blessings....Ann

Announcements

Dei Gloriam Handbell Choir will take their newly refurbished handbells on the road to share with the Valley as they perform at Phoenix ZooLights on Thursday, January 11th from 6:00 to 7:30 p.m. All are welcome (with ZooLights admission).

Our Artist Series will host the Valley Chamber Chorale for a concert on Saturday, January 27th at 4:00 p.m.

The group will be under the director of former FPC Organist Dr. Christopher Samuel, and the choir will perform in the beautiful acoustics of Fox Chapel. Freewill donations will be received at the door. Founded in 1988, the Valley Chamber Chorale is currently celebrating its 30th season. It is one of the longest running not-for-profit choral organizations in the Valley. The ensemble has performed at state conventions of the Music Educators National Conference, in 1991 and 1995, the Western Region Convention of the American Guild of Organists in 1995, and the “World’s Largest Organ Concert” with guest artist, Joan Lippincott, in 1996. The group’s compact disc of Renaissance motets and madrigals, “O

Sing Joyfully,” was released in 1996, and can be found in bookstores locally and in select cities nationally.

The First Players will present their 22nd annual theatrical production on March 23, 24, and 25, including a new matinee performance. The show will be DISNEY’S BEAUTY AND THE BEAST. Join the First Players this March for a “tale as old as time.” For production information and tickets, please visit the First Players webpage, fpcmesa.org/first-players.

Coming Events:

- 3/23-25 First Players Dinner-Theater: Disney’s Beauty and the Beast. Tickets: fpcmesa.org/firstplayers.

Humoresque

“The One whose throne is in heaven sits laughing.” - Psalm 2:4

We’ll begin the year with a little choir humor - A Chorister’s Guide to Keeping Conductors in Line - The basic training of every singer should, of course, include myriad types of practical and theoretical emphases. One important area which is often neglected, however, is the art of one-upsmanship. The following rules will guide you as you develop the proper relationship between singer and conductor:

1. Never be satisfied with the starting pitch. If the conductor uses a pitch-pipe, make known your preference for pitches from the piano and vice-versa. Be sure to hum the pitch aloud.
2. Complain about the temperature of the rehearsal room, the lighting, crowded space, and of a draft. It’s best to do this when the conductor is under pressure.
3. Bury your head in the music just before cues, and throughout every rehearsal and performance.
4. Ask for a re-audition or seating change. Ask often. Give the impression you’re about to quit. Let the conductor know you’re there as a personal favor, and offer subtle reminders about how valuable you are.
5. Insist on group precision. Raise your hand often to clarify whether each break is to be an eighth note, a full quarter, or some other variable. Make sure the conductor knows that your score is fully marked, making his or her job just window dressing.
6. Loudly clear your throat during pauses (tenors are trained to do this from birth). Quiet instrumental interludes are a good chance to blow your nose.
7. Check in: Long after a passage has gone by, ask the conductor if your C# was in tune. This is especially effective if you had no C# or were not singing at the time.

8. Use your pencil. At dramatic moments in the music (which the conductor is emoting), be busy marking your music so that the climaxes will sound empty and disappointing.
  9. Timing is everything. Wait until well into a rehearsal before letting the conductor know that you don't have music.
  10. Look at your watch frequently. Shake it in disbelief occasionally. Tap one foot throughout the last seven minutes of rehearsal to help the conductor wrap things up. Whenever possible, start packing up during this period, or for more impact, go to #15.
  11. When possible, sing your part either an octave above or below what is written. This is excellent ear-training for the conductor. If he hears the pitch, deny it vehemently and claim that it must have been the combination tone.
  11. Tell the conductor, "I can't find the beat." Conductors are frequently sensitive about their "stick technique", so challenge it frequently.
  12. Offer your own knowledge. If you are singing in a language with which the conductor is the least bit unfamiliar, ask her as many questions as possible about the meaning of individual words. If this fails, ask her about the pronunciation of the most difficult words. Occasionally, say the word twice and ask her preference, making to say it exactly the same both times. If she remarks on their similarity, give her a look of utter disdain and mumble under your breath about the "subtleties of inflection".
  13. Offer additional resources. Ask the conductor if he has listened to the von Karajan recording of the piece. Imply that he could learn a thing or two from it. Also good: ask, "Is this the first time you've conducted this piece?"
  14. If your articulation differs from that of others singing the same phrase, stick to your guns. Do not ask the conductor which is correct until backstage, just before the concert.
  15. Find an excuse to leave the rehearsal about 15 minutes early so that others will become restless and start to fidget.

Happy New Year from our little Preschool! We hope that you and your family were able to celebrate the grace of our Lord's birth together. It has been a beautiful time of year to share our joy with you and the families of the preschool. We were able to bring Mrs. Claus in to read the story of Jesus' birth to the children during our chapel time. The kids really enjoyed that!

Since the weather has been so fabulous, we have been very engaged in imaginative play outside using some large shipping boxes as our school bus and 2-car train! The kids helped paint them and have been taking each other on pretend tours out on our play yard. They have really been enjoying this kind of creative fun!

This month we will be learning about Outer Space, Transportation, Community Helpers and the Ocean. We will be welcoming Officer Camberg into the classroom to talk about bike safety and showing us her uniform gear. We will also be welcoming the Mesa Fire Department as they bring their fire truck for the kids to explore, too. What a busy month!

We want to thank all of the families for their sweet gift that helped to make the teachers feel special. We feel blessed to have such a wonderful community here at First Presbyterian Church. We love being with all of you!

Sincerely,
Shiloh Murillo, Director

FPC Mesa is seeking a part-time Youth Director. The Youth Director will work with the Pastor, Director of Christian Education, Youth/Young Adult Elder and Discipleship Commission to provide leadership and administrative direction for FPC's youth ministry. The ideal candidate is an individual who loves God, loves Junior and Senior High Youth and is gifted at planning lessons, recreation, and fellowship activities in a format that appeals to youth. The Youth Director must be available Wednesday evenings and Sunday mornings. A full job description is available on the FPC website. Applicants must submit a cover letter and resume.

Dear FPC Family,

Thank you very much for all the things that you have given to our mission in the Philippines, including 36 Backpacks, many kinds of school supplies, an electronic calculator and clothes for the boys and girls. We have written down everything that the church has given.

Our special appreciation to Peter and Sue Eisenklam who have worked hard with love and joy to express their concerns to the homeless, poor and needy children in the Philippines,

We sent two packages to the Philippines, and they are very appreciative and joyful to receive them. Your love and care for the needy is deeply appreciated.

Wishing you a Blessed Christmas and a fruitful coming year to all.

Nate and Ruth Robinson

Christmas Angels – Thank you for your participation in our annual Christmas Angel Tree. We are so blessed to be able to make a difference in the lives of the four families for whom we gave gifts.

Food Pantry - As always, thank you for your ongoing support and generosity to the food pantry. They continue to need canned fruits, canned vegetables not green beans and canned meats like ravioli or beef stew or chili with meat but not tuna fish.

I Help – Volunteers are needed for people to pick up clean laundry from Friendship Village and bring it back to the church on Wednesday or Thursday. This is a once a month commitment. Also needed are people to take prayer requests from the ladies on the Sunday nights they are with us. Call Janet Verch at 480-218-1357 if interested in serving in either of these ways.

Save the Dates – Have you thought about your family vacation being a time to grow in faith together as well as make new friends and make a difference in the lives of others? Perhaps this year will be the year that you will choose to bring the whole family and join the 2018 Mission Trip to Tseyi Bidaa Presbyterian Church in Del Muerto, AZ from July 7- July 14. With family or individually, all are invited to prayerfully consider coming along this year. If you are thinking you would like to participate in our international mission trip to Guatemala in the spring of 2019, this year's trip is the last opportunity to qualify to go. The requirement for the international trip is that you have attended a local one first. Now is the time to start planning. More information will be provided starting in February.

Mission Trip

Mission Trip Planning Team – If you are interested and willing in being part of the mission trip planning team, please talk to Sue Eisenklam (480-993-6512).

MINISTRY

Clerk of Session (Chair) — Linda Hayball
Property (E) — Robert Harding
Personnel (E) — Jeanne Partida

Personnel (D) — Susan McMichael
Nominating (E) — Barbara Walker

Nominating (D) — Steve Post
Stewardship/Finance (E) — Bob Gerlach

- ◆ Robert Harding has been nominated by Session for the George Brooks Award because of his continuing work with prisoners.
- ◆ Session has approved the first of three parts of the revised Child Protection and Sexual Misconduct Policy. Once it has all been approved, it will be made public.
- ◆ It was affirmed we would continue to use only the Presidium Background Check for any adults working with individuals under 18 years old. Those of us who have undergone other checks will still need this one. Since Presidium is our church's insurance company as well as Presbytery's, this is the best way to protect our children, employees, volunteers and FPC itself.
- ◆ We will pray for illumination before Scripture reading and will also vary the Creeds we use during worship.
- ◆ The Youth will wrap Christmas gifts as a fund raiser, but will also wrap any Angel Tree gifts without charge.
