MAGAZINE RELEASE!

LivingME magazine & website releases a free, fun preview edition packed with the latest gossip from the chronic community, and it's an instant hit!

FUTURE NEWS REPORT

LIVING ME

Through the wonders of time travel, we are now able to go beyond breaking news to future news!

Yes. We have traveled to Saturday, August 24th, 2024 and the news is hot, hot, hot.

Wildflower Wisdoms™ has released a free, fun preview issue of a never before attempted lifestyle magazine for people living with chronic illnesses such as ME/CFS (myalgic encephalomyelitis), Long COVID, fibromyalgia, Ehlers Danlos and similar health conditions. It's called Living ME.

"The week before the Summer 2024: Special Preview Gossip Edition was finally ready for download, I almost lost faith that we would be able to release it to the public. I was experiencing exhaustion, severe hip pain, shoulder and neck soreness, and increased brain fog," said Monique Susanna Simón, Founding Editor and Creative Director of the magazine. "I finally had the perfect collection of content and images from an amazing group of contributors, but by the time we had gathered it all, I had run out of steam."

Yet, after another one-week delay, the preview issue was indeed released to an enthusiastic readership. A new era in magazine media was born and the rest, as we now say, is future history.
