St. Peter's Episcopal Church

Keynotes

October 2026

There's a phrase spoken often in polite company: "We don't talk about politics or religion." I've heard that so many times in my life, but only half of it seems true. We are a culture that talks about politics far more than anything else. That might not be entirely true, but it feels true, and that matters to how we perceive the world and move through it. Our political climate has placed us into camps of winners and losers, which makes us feel the need to always be ready to attack or defend. Meaning, we talk politics a lot.

But what about religion? Oh, sure, we talk about religion a lot…inside of the church. We talk a lot about religion…as we say our quick prayers of thanksgiving over dinner. But we don't really feel comfortable sharing perspectives on faith and spirituality with even the closest of friends, let alone a stranger on the street corner.

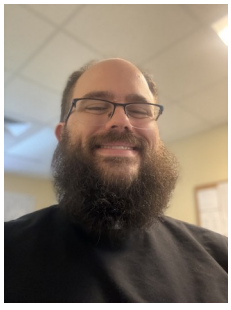

As a professional Christian, I don't have a problem talking about my faith, which means I can't fully understand those who find it difficult to invite others to worship, or to share about an upcoming event that might get them into the doors. But I know that many people believe such invitataions and conversations to be far less attractive than a screaming match about which political animal is best, elephant or donkey!

Sharing our faith can be scary, and it feels vulnerable. So much of what is called evangelism is saturated with guilt, power, and control. Like our political discourse, our culture has turned spirituality into a game of winners and losers. So, religious conversations become about who is right, whose God is more powerful, and which holy book is more accurately reflective of the mind of God.

Yet, there are other ways, other approaches, that aren't saturated by guilt, power, or control. Picture in your mind what you love most about Jesus Christ, spirituality, or St. Peter's. What brings you here every week? What has kept you engaged with Christianity despite its many problems? When you have that answer, an answer brimming with positive vibrations, take a few minutes to turn that into a five sentence invitation. Or a four sentence. Heck, anything will do. Flex the same muscles we use when we talk about a sports team we love, or a piece of music that moved us to tears. Focus on the positives in your life that have sprung up because of Christ and the Church. Then simply invite others to join that oasis of love.

The Early Church grew because of faithful action and faithful proclamation. The same goes for Saint Peter's. Find what proclamation looks like in your life, in your context, and then put some invitations out and see what happens!

Every Wednesday at 7am and 11am the Holy Eucharist is celebrated. We reflect on the lives of significant saints in the history of the Church and are empowered by their faithful witness to the Gospel. These services are wonderful opportunities to be encouraged and strengthened in your discipleship. The 11 am service also includes anointing with holy oil and special prayers for healing as desired.

The Choir Needs You! There is room for you! If you love to sing (and we know some of you do, because we hear you singing from your pews on Sundays!), come make music with us. We rehearse Wednesday evenings from 6:30pm-8pm. Want to learn more, feel free to contact Charles Porter at cpmusicmaker@gmail.com, or come visit with us after the service on Sundays.

There is an anonymous group of people that make beautiful blankets for babies that are baptized at Saint Peter's. My twin grandchildren were blessed to receive these on their special day. Thank you so much from our family by blood and marriage to our Saint Peter's family!

All members, past and present, are invited to join us.

Our meetings take place on the 2nd Sunday of each month following the 10am service in All Saints Hall.

Our Reunion Group meets on the 4th Tuesday at 1pm Riverwalk Coffee

A Story

As I climbed the sand dune Tuesday, something in a clump of grass caught my eye. When I got closer I stopped to see what was tangled in the small patch of sea grass. I was somewhat shocked when I reached down and came up with a $50.00 bill. No one was in sight and the wind was blowing strong. How could I possibly find the owner?

Since I was not hungry or without any necessities, I decided to use it to help feed the children. Please add this to the BPB Kitty.

The Day School Gives Thanks

The School Board, staff, and families of St. Peter's Day School would like to extend our heartfelt gratitude to the parishioners and friends of St. Peter's Episcopal Church for your generous support of our Giving Tree Campaign. Your donations of classroom supplies and materials are truly a blessing to our school community.

The items you have contributed, help provide much-needed supplies for our classrooms and ease the financial burden on families who would otherwise need to purchase additional school materials. Your kindness and generosity directly impact our students and help create a positive learning environment where they can thrive. Thank you for supporting our mission and investing in the children of our school.

Day School News

It's been a wonderful month at St. Peter's Day School! Our students had a blast making apple volcanoes in science class, exploring how reactions can create exciting eruptions. Music classes have sparked creativity and excitement as the children use instruments and colorful scarves while singing, dancing, and expressing themselves through music.

Recently, our children enjoyed a field trip to the Chocowinity Fire Department, where they explored fire trucks and an ambulance, learned about fire safety, and even had the opportunity to use a fire hose. It was an exciting and memorable experience for everyone!

Another special highlight this month was our Blessing of the Stuffed Animals Chapel service with Pastor Chris. The children brought their beloved stuffed animals and toy horseshoe crabs to chapel for a special blessing. They also prayed a special blessing for Pastor Chris's treasured Superman. One of our four-year-old students, Braelynn, shared, "I love going to chapel and hearing the prayers Pastor Chris prays with us." Moments like these remind us how meaningful chapel is to our students and how their faith continues to grow.

Thank you for the many ways you support St. Peter's Day School through your prayers, encouragement, and generosity. We are grateful to be part of such a caring church family and look forward to all the wonderful experiences still to come this year.

The Day School loves to have parishioners come share their talents with the children. Sing a song, read a book, or teach them something interesting! Give Beth a call to schedule a visit! 336-467-8398

Cornelius the Centurian was a Roman centurion in the first century AD who is considered by some Christians to be one of the first gentile converts to Christianity.

The baptism of Cornelius is an important event in the history of the early Christian church, along with the conversion and baptism of the Ethiopian eunuch. The reception of Cornelius sparked a debate among the leaders of the new community of followers of Jesus, culminating in the decision to allow Gentiles to become Christians without conforming to Jewish requirements for circumcision.

To hear more about Cornelius, join us in the Chapel Wednesday, October 21st at 7am or 11am.

The crystal chandelier and baptismal font, along with a few chancel furnishings, were saved in the fire that completely destroyed the original St. Peter's in 1864. The fire was a result of the Union Army's occupation of Washington.

A parishioner's family is in search of a gently used shower chair to borrow or purchase. If you have one available, please contact Jennifer in the church office. (946-8151) Thank you for your kindness and help!
