Los ajustes estatales se concentraron en un rango estrecho y los cambios semanales son muy pequeños (del orden de centavos por litro), lo que indica una semana estable en lo referente a precios de estos combustibles.

Quintana Roo se mantuvo como el estado con los precios más altos en gasolina regular y diésel; el segundo lugar en ambos combustibles fue Baja California. En gasolina premium, Baja California registró el precio más elevado, seguido de Nuevo León.

En el extremo opuesto, Tamaulipas presentó los precios más bajos en gasolina regular y premium, con Chihuahua en segundo lugar en ambos casos. Para el diésel, Tlaxcala fue el estado con el menor precio, seguido por Puebla, Estado de México y Ciudad de México, entidades del centro del país.

Nota metodológica*: Los valores de esta tabla corresponden a promedios ponderados por el número de gasolineras en cada estado. En contraste, los promedios presentados en la primera parte del boletín se calculan con datos a nivel de estación de servicio, por lo que pueden mostrar ligeras diferencias. Asimismo, el promedio de la página anterior corresponde a un promedio aritmético.
