Launch Release: New Magazine Aims To Celebrate Conscious Living

A Powerful Mission and Eyebrow Raising Features Like “Spirituality Is Not About Being Nice” Are Sure to Put Best-Selling Author Shaman Isis’ SoulTech Magazine On The Map

What’s a communication pioneer, author, and creator to do when she has a spiritual mission, needs a creative platform, and wants to promote a “cure for the mental health crisis”? In the case of Shaman Isis, the avatar of Cynthia L. Elliott, you build a brand and media company. Enter the newest addition to her blossoming venture, Gothic House Media, SoulTech Magazine, part of the SoulTech.World lifestyle brand. The clever new pub covers topics like wellness, fashion, tech, and culture in a manner designed to raise human consciousness.

Years of driving marketing trends, such as creating the brand communications industry, lay a solid foundation for a new media platform. Combine that with the spiritual guru’s success as a marketing futurist and the popularity of spiritual wellness among key demographics, and you have a recipe for impact.

Either way, Shaman Isis is used to beating the odds. In her best-selling new book Memory Mansion, she shared her stunning journey from a Tennessee orphanage to the red carpets of global fashion. After recovering from depression by raising her consciousness, she has been on a one-woman mission to teach others that by raising their level of consciousness, they can create mental and emotional fitness.

SoulTech.World produces content, like the magazine and events designed to uplift humanity. Their first event, Soundbites2Solutions is a screening and panel event at the Anthology Film Archives in NYC on April 4th and will cover the topic of immigration.

The launch issue of SoulTech Magazine arrives on 3/6. It features a cover story titled “Spirituality: It’s Not About Being Nice,” and articles on conscious living, culture, wellness, eco-fashion, and female philosophers. The pub is available in immersive and classic formats. Visit SoulTech.World for more details and links to all formats.

Soundbites2Solutions Event Series Kicks Off With Immigration Crisis Discussion

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: New York, NY, April 8, 2024 - Following the resounding success of its inaugural event, SoulTech Magazine and FairSay Films are pleased to announce the kick-off of the Soundbites2Solutions event series. The first event in this groundbreaking series, held on April 4th at the Anthology Film Archives, delved into the pressing issue of the immigration crisis.

The evening commenced with a private screening of FairSay Films' poignant short film, DISPLACED, which left attendees moved and inspired. Renowned actor Luis Guzman, whose emotional response to the script echoed the sentiments of many, described how it "brought him to tears." DISPLACED offers a heartfelt portrayal of immigrants navigating America's intricate immigration system, aiming to humanize their experiences and shed light on systemic injustices.

Following the screening, a discussion led by event host and best-selling author Cynthia L. Elliott explored the themes and challenges depicted in DISPLACED. Esteemed panelists included filmmakers Tiffany Hodges and Cristina Doikos, NYC Council member Keith Powers, pro bono attorney Alexandra McCown, and Sadye L. Campoamor, Chief Equity Officer at the Office of the NYC Comptroller Brad Lander. Together, they engaged in a dynamic conversation, offering valuable insights and perspectives on the immigration crisis and potential solutions.

Tiffany Hodges and Cristina Doikos, founders of FairSay Films, expressed their gratitude for the opportunity to share DISPLACED and engage with attendees. "It was truly humbling to witness the impact of DISPLACED and to facilitate meaningful conversations around immigration," they remarked. "We are excited to continue exploring pressing social issues through the Soundbites2Solutions series."

"We are thrilled by the overwhelming response to the inaugural Soundbites2Solutions event," said Cynthia Elliott, SoulTech founder and co-host of the event. "The thoughtful discussions and passionate engagement demonstrated the importance of addressing critical societal issues like immigration."

Soundbites2Solutions aims to foster dialogue, inspire action, and drive positive change by addressing pressing social issues through events, film, art, discussion, and community engagement. The inaugural event's success sets a promising precedent for future discussions and collaborations.

For those who missed the first event, stay tuned for updates on upcoming Soundbites2Solutions events and how you can get involved. Visit the SoulTech.World website for more on the series, and FairSay Films for more on the film DISPLACED.
