Park City Resort is only a 45 minute bus ride from Salt Lake City International Airport. Since combined with the Canyons, together they are over 7300 acres of skiable terrain.

Our lodging is either the Park Station Condos with 2br/2ba or Town Pointe with 3br/3ba. Park Station is one block from the Town Lift which drops right into the heart of Park City Old Town. There is a return ski-way that crosses a bridge over Park Ave that brings you right back to the Town Lift. Town Pointe is next door to Park Station.

At the Town Lift is our rental shop – they allow overnight storage of your rental skis/board, so no schlepping skis/board to the condo! In the day, you can store your street shoes there. This makes a one or two block walk plus some stairs (all in street shoes) and you need carry only your boots.

Last year we did the wilderness trip to Whitefish. This year, we are doing the exact opposite with an urban trip. So if you missed the partying last year, you'll have ample opportunity to compensate this year.

This is an EPIC Lift ticket mountain so all you military can take advantage of the sweet deal offered to retired military. And since you can get a season pass, consider doing Telluride with the Club because it is an EPIC lift ticket mountain also. The rest of us will buy EPIC lift tickets through our vendor, Sports America. The link for that will come later.

Now the bad news; staying in downtown Park City one block from a chair lift is expensive. That and the crazy airline business model... At this time we do have airline seats but are so way overpriced, we plan to dump them when better choices become available, so they are NOT in the base package at this time, but will be eventually.

Note that your EPIC lift ticket price is NOT included in the package price, but ought to be about $421/5-day.

Those sensitive to altitude note that the top of the mountain is 10026 feet with 3226 feet of vertical, 8% beginner / 42% intermediate / 50% expert. 11 restaurants on the mountain. You will be sleeping at 6800 feet. Each condo comes with a full kitchen, living room, fire place, and an equal number of bedrooms and bathrooms.

We are looking at a possible day trip the Deer Valley – no snowboards, even for the daughter of POTUS.
