Little about me:

I am extremely passionate when it comes to sports, but softball is my true love! I started playing at a young age and grew to love this game. I can no longer see my life without the sport that has taught me so much. There's no greater feeling than giving back to the game that has provided me with so many opportunities, and that's why I have become a Coach. I want to share my love for the game with the next generation and also use the game to help guide these young ladies in life. The words I live by as a Coach are "Every moment is a teaching moment." My experience as a player and coach has given me perspective on how to approach players and their different learning styles and I cannot wait to continue to build these young athletes through their own career.
