

My child's school says:
Transgender policies

EIS/Other unions endorse this policy

Union guidance or advice does not trump the law or safeguarding frameworks. Many unions have been advised by lobby groups who do not understand the law or safeguarding. There are no exceptions where safeguarding is concerned; individual adults, schools, teaching unions or lobby groups do not know better. Schools are legally responsible for their actions and the resources they choose to use, and cannot pass responsibility onto any other organisation.