

Our policy is required under the Equality Act

- Ask the school to tell you where exactly in the Equality Act 2010 their policy is supported. Have the school checked in the Act itself or are they using unreliable third parties to tell them what it says?
- Has the school carried out an Equality Impact Assessment that considers all relevant groups, including girls, disabled children and religious children? Although not specifically required as part of an Equality Impact Assessment, schools should also consider girls who have been or are being sexually abused, bearing in mind that most children who have been abused do not disclose at the time and therefore will not be known to the school.