

To whom it may concern:

Mr. Don Azcona worked at AltaStream Power Systems for just under 16 months.

During this period Don worked as our operations manager and was responsible for delivering the products and projects we complete for our customers. Don was well liked, had a very good relationship with the customers, vendors and other staff. He performed his work in a very professional manner and was a strong part of our team.

Over the last 6 months Don started to also fulfil the role of improving our Customer relationships and working to develop a geographic expansion of our service and distribution network. Don's provided us with the ability to present a much more professional face to our customers.

Unfortunately due to the current oil and gas market situation we are forced to reduce our staffing. His presence in our company will be missed.

I recommend Don for a position that requires a knowledgeable, conscientious, service oriented manager with strong team management experience.
