Finding the Bright Spots in Value-Based Care

By: Farzad Mostashari, MD, Jen Brull, MD, Jonathan Lilly, MD, and Julio Navarro, MD

"Across the country, our health care system is going through a transformational shift, from rewarding volume to rewarding value. This shift, which bases reimbursement on the quality of care provided rather than just the number and type of services, can feel overwhelming, but it may ultimately give family physicians new opportunities to prosper."
