Lot Number	Title & Description
1	Julio De Diego (1900-1979) 18K Yellow Gold & Jelly Opal Necklace - (In house shipping available) 2" X 1 3/4" mid-century modern brutalist pendant with handmade flattened bar chain all 18k yellow gold. (Total dwt 20.1). De Diego settled in the artists' colony of Sarasota, Florida, in the late sixties and remained there until his death on August 22, 1979. Reports of his years there recounted him as an animated character who entertained with tales of past encounters with famed Surrealists Andre Breton and Max Ernst, the artist Man Ray, Peggy Guggenheim and becoming the third husband of Gypsy Rose Lee. Throughout his years, life and art remained codependent entities within the artist, who noted, "A painting is not what it is, but the memory that we have a life." Julio de Diego's works capture the sweeping vision, ambition, and passion of a curious and multifaceted artist. In the late 60s he met Mr. and Mrs. Wagner of Sarasota FL and they became friends. Mr. Wagner was a well-known potter. with this piece of jewelry is a snapshot of De Diego at a cocktail party at the Wagner's home dated Dec 15th, 1968. While this piece is unsigned, we guarantee this to be an authentic Julio De Diego necklace commissioned by Mr. and Mrs. Wagner.

18	Le Coultre Jaeger Atmos 528-6 Mantle Clock - {local pickup or in house shipping available} Working sold as is no warranty expressed or implied, Brass Case Needs Buffing, Should Have Complete Cleaning. What inspiration led the JaegerLeCoultre watchmakers to dream up the Atmos clock in 1928? How did they think to use variations in temperature to power it? The Atmos clock still surprises people today because of its inventiveness. Within a sealed capsule, a mixture of gases expand and contract with each temperature change. Thus, the mechanism winds naturally, without any human intervention. The subtle union between the classic and the modern is the secret to the Atmos collection's timelessness. Its unique design allows the observer to see the complexity of its machinery from all angles. It is a tribute to the very first Atmos clock and its avant-garde nature. From Art Déco through to contemporary art, the rare crafts and complexities of watchmaking, the Atmos has always kept up with the times, while maintaining its soul thanks to the reinterpretations of great designers working together with Jaeger-LeCoultre.

Connie Francis. Pat Boone. Buddy Greco. Sergio Franchi. Jerry Vale. At one time or another, they all marched to the beat of drummer Bob Grauso, who served as their personal percussionist during his musical career spanning 50-plus years. He was personal percussionist for singer Connie Francis. And traveled with her to Vietnam in 1967. In an interview with the Orlando Sentinel; "We go back a long way -- to 1962 when I was the drummer with the house band at the Copacabana nightclub. That's when Connie hired me as her personal percussionist," Grauso recalled. "Connie also has her own personal conductor. Wherever we appeared, the venue would supply the band. That's the way it's done. Not many artists carry a full band," added Grauso, who worked with the singer eight or 10 times a year. After Bobby passed away, His wife Anita contacted Connie Francis and asked about this Jules Jurgensen 14K gold watch. This typed and hand signed note on Connie Francis stationary dated 5/11/21 stating she gave this watch to Bobby as a gift for traveling to Vietnam with her in 1967, will be sold with the watch.

On the dial crossed arrows trademark of the Hamburg American Clock Company or HAC. HAC was formed in Germany in 1873 by Paul Landenberger and Phillip Lang. The initial company was known as Landenberger & Lang Uhrenfabrik and had a trademark, a steamship with the words 'In God We Trust'. Paul Landenberger, son in law of Erhard Junghans, worked at Junghans for several years before starting up this new company. The company was involved in the production of clock movements, clock parts, dials, and cases for all types of clocks. Most of these products were sold to the trade as they wer not in the business of selling finished clocks, it seems. The company changed their name to Hamburg Amerikanische Uhrenfabrik and Hamburg American Clock Company (HAC) in 1883. The famous crossed arrows became their trademark in 1892, at which time the company had aspirations toward the sale of finished clocks to the export market, particularly to Great Britain and North America. They were involved in the production of mantel, longcase, wall, ship, and specialized industrial clocks, and they were still supplying components such as decorative parts dials cases, parts, and hardware for the clock industry. The company was a major producer of clocks in Germany, with 1300 employees in 1910. They produced many types of clocks from alarm clocks to 'Ticket clocks' to wall and mantel striking and chiming clocks. In 1926 the company went into a cooperative with Junghans and in 1930 they finally merged with Junghans.
