20	2 Easton Press Leather Bound Books "A Night To Remember" & "Getr A Life" - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: 1 lbs. Size: 1 fine copy of "A Night To Remember" by Walter Lord , Hand Signed # 1133 / 3000 By Walter Lord With COA The Easton Press. - Walter Lord's 1955 classic is a gripping, minute-by-minute recreation of the RMS Titanic's final hours, synthesized from interviews with over 60 survivors to provide a "you-are-there" perspective. The narrative tracks the ship from its initial collision with an iceberg through the ensuing three hours of mounting chaos, highlighting the stark contrast between the calm "unsinkable" myth and the harrowing reality of a shortage of lifeboats. By focusing on individual stories across all social classes—from the stoicism of the wealthy to the desperation of those in steerage—Lord creates a definitive social history that captures both the tragic loss of over 1,500 lives and the end of an era of Edwardian confidence. AND 1 fine copy of "Get A Life" by William Shatner, Hand Signed of A Number Edition Of 1450 Copies Printed With COA Easton Press. "Get A Life!", William Shatner explores the evolution of his relationship with Star Trek fandom, moving from his infamous 1986 Saturday Night Live sketch—where he jokingly told fans to "get a life"—to a sincere appreciation of their dedication. Written with Chris Kreski and published in 1999, the book documents Shatner's four-year "research project" where he went undercover in alien makeup at conventions to interview fans, dealers, and fellow cast members to understand the movement's cultural and sociological power. Through self-deprecating wit and anecdotes, such as his encounter with a wild elephant, Shatner reflects on the mythic importance of the series and finally comes to terms with his enduring legacy as Captain James T. Kirk.

57	1969 Gerald Genta Omega Constellation C Line Automatic 168.029 White Gold Bezel Watch - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: 3 oz. Size: 7 inch This 1969 Omega Constellation C-Line Ref. 168.029 is a historically significant chronometer designed by the legendary Gérald Genta, featuring the iconic "C-shape" tonneau case that bridged the gap between classic horology and the integrated-bracelet era. This specific "German Market" edition is powered by the Caliber 751 movement—Omega’s premier day-date automatic chronometer of the 1960s—and is confirmed by its 28,030,005 serial number to have left the factory during a pinnacle year for Swiss watchmaking. The timepiece boasts a high-contrast aesthetic, pairing a durable stainless steel case and a Ref. 1040 "brick-link" bracelet (featuring correct 518 end links) with a luxury solid 14K or 18K white gold fluted bezel. The bezel’s distinct yellowish tone serves as a hallmark of authenticity, revealing the natural warmth of the white gold alloy as the original rhodium plating has aged into a desirable vintage patina. Complemented by its original German-language day wheel, this watch stands as a remarkably cohesive, regional-market survivor that exemplifies Genta's modernist vision and Omega’s late-sixties mechanical excellence. Working including the quick set date using the crown pulled all the way to change the numbers. Sold as is no warranty expressed or implied.

Box Sizes: 8.75"x4.5"x2.5" & 5.25"x2.25"x2.25" Both Including Original Boxes. The Silver Stag D2 Pocket Series FS13L2.5 folding knife is an American-made, semi-custom gentleman's pocket folder known for its exceptional edge retention and unique natural handle. The knife features a 2.5-inch blade crafted from D2 high carbon tool steel, heat-treated to a 62 Rockwell hardness for impressive durability and wear resistance. Each knife incorporates a unique North American deer or elk antler handle, offering a comfortable and aesthetically appealing grip. It uses a liner lock mechanism and often comes with an antler-tip lanyard for secure pocket retrieval, a feature some users prefer over a traditional pocket clip. While the high-carbon D2 steel requires regular maintenance to prevent rust, expert and user opinions consistently praise the knife's ability to hold a razor edge through extended heavy use, making it a highly valued, heirloom-quality working tool. 1 - The Silver Stag FLN4.0 Large Notch Folder is a high-quality, handmade folding knife, featuring a 4-inch D2 high-carbon tool steel blade and natural antler or select hardwood handles, all 100% crafted in the USA. Designed with functionality, durability, and edge retention as core attributes, it has an ergonomic handle and a traditional notch opening mechanism

103	Early 20th Century Christys' London, City Of London Police PS3 Wicker Bobbie Hat / Helmet & Stand - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: This unique piece is an early English Police "Bobby" helmet, manufactured by the renowned hatmaker Christys' London. The specific "PS3" and round Christys' stamp on the leather band identify it as a high-quality, professional piece of headgear from a company that has been an official manufacturer for UK police forces for two centuries. Wicker Interior: The use of wicker or cane reinforcement is a hallmark of early 19th-century helmets. This design allowed officers to stand on their helmets for a better vantage point over crowds and provided superior ventilation compared to later solid cork or plastic versions. Leather Band: The internal leather sweatband, featuring the Christys' London round stamp, is typical of their "Private Purchase" or early contract helmets, ensuring a comfortable and secure fit. Ball Top Finial: The silver ball ornament on top is a specific variant used by certain regional forces, such as the Cambridge Borough Police or the Devon and Cornwall Constabulary, instead of the more common comb or spike tops. The intricate silver-colored badge features a central shield supported by two heraldic horses and topped with a third lion crest. This ornate design is characteristic of City of London or borough police forces from the late Victorian or early 20th-century era. Also two silver rosettes on the side of the helmet. Condition as seen in photos.

141	Used 1960-70s Vintage Rado Manhattan Stainless Steel Day Date Wrist Watch - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: Size: Slightly Used, Working sold as is no warranty expressed or implied. Rado Manhattan is a hallmark of 1960s and 70s Swiss watch design, celebrated for its "brutalist" square or rectangular stainless steel case inspired by the Manhattan skyline. This specific vintage variant features a striking deep blue dial accented with diamond-like stone hour markers, a horizontal day-date complication, and the signature rotating anchor logo at the 9 o'clock position. Measuring approximately 35mm to 38mm, the watch possesses a substantial wrist presence due to its geometric architectural lines and was originally marketed with a patented high-water-resistance sealing system. Collectors value the model for its bold modernism and the use of high-quality components, such as this original stainless steel NSA bracelet and robust automatic movement.

The history of the American jewelry brand Rondette (1959-1986) began in 1954 in New York. Rondette Limited, founded by talented jewelry designer Ben Khalaf, was located at 20 West 47th Street, New York, New York. Ben Khalaf and his small team of designers produced high-quality jewelry using precious metals and stones set in 14 and 18 carat gold, sapphires, emeralds, rubies and diamonds. Beautifully and meticulously handcrafted, Rondette jewelry occasionally appeared in the pages of fashion magazines of the time. According to some of their ads, the company sold its jewelry in boutiques in Miami, Sutton Ballroom New York, Anatole hotel Dallas and others. The markings traditionally include the word "Rondette", a stylized "R", a copyright symbol, and gold purity.

267	19th C. USS Somers Naval Rescue Congressional Medal, U.S Mint Bronze Restrike, by Charles C. Wright - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: 94.6 grams Size: 2 1/2" Round Table Bronze. The USS Somers Congressional Medal, Obverse has raised image depiction of USS Somers capsizing. Text around the edge reads, "Somers Navis Americana/Ante Vera Cruz/Dec 10th 1846" The reverse depicts British boats and sailors going to the aid of the sunken ship. "Pro vitis Americanorum Conservatis" is above the raised image. "Eng by CC Wright" is below the image. The engravings are based off a print that appeared in The Illustrated London News on 23 January 1847 titled "Loss of USS Somers" that depicts the sinking of the Somers in 1846. On 8 December, while chasing a blockade runner, the Somers was caught in a sudden squall off the coast of Vera Cruz where she foundered and capsized. The sinking of the ship resulted in the drowning of over 30 of her crew. Eight survivors were rescued by HMS Endymion, with the aid of other French, British and Spanish ships. As a result of these actions, Congress authorized a medal in gold and silver be issued to the officers and men who aided in the rescue of the crew. Fun Fact: Commissioned in May 1842, the USS Somers was used as an experimental school ship for naval apprentices. The brig is most famously known for the "Somers Affair" in which the only mutiny allegation resulting in death has occurred in the US Navy. In November 1842, an alleged plot to murder the officers of the vessel by some members of the crew was uncovered. Three men were charged with inciting a mutiny and were hanged from the yardarm. Among these men was the son of the Secretary of War, Acting Midshipman Phillip Spencer, who was named as the ringleader of the conspiracy. Following the incident, the captain of the ship, Alexander Slidell Mackenzie, was placed before a court of inquiry and found innocent. This court of inquiry was followed by court martial proceedings in which Mackenzie was again found innocent. The result of this incident was the creation of a school that would help in the development and training of officers for the US Navy, the United States Naval Academy.

Lithographs 1979 Sunny Choi Cormack 31/380, Commissioned by Imperial Oil, Toronto - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: Size: 37 1/2" Tall X 27 1/2" Wide Framed Under Glass. This pair of limited edition prints are very early stages of Sunny Choi Cormack's career as a great fashion designer. She had exhibited as a painter at the prestigious 21 McGill Gallery and at Hart House in Toronto in the early 80s, Imperial Oil commissioned her for 2 original paintings "Oriental Man on Horseback" and "Oriental Woman on Horseback" which were then offered as limited editions lithographs to their cardholders. Both are signed with her stylized kanji (chop mark) "79" and pencil signed "Sunny Choi" numbered "31/380". Nice early collectible of such a renowned designer. Choi moved to Toronto from Seoul to study communication and design at the Ontario College of Art (OCAD). After a brief period as an illustrator, she launched her fashion brand in 1985. Red Carpet & High-End Retail: She became a favorite for red-carpet gowns, with her pieces worn by celebrities such as Susan Sarandon, Sharon Stone, Daryl Hannah, and Alison Krauss. Her collections were sold in major department stores like Saks Fifth Avenue and Nordstrom.

Size: 18 1/8" X 22 3/8" Framed Under Glass. Rare Founding Document of Terrell County Texas: The Official Gubernatorial Commission of Sheriff G. W. Fenley, Reads; "In The Name And By The Authority Of The State Of Texas, It Has Been Made Known To Me That G. W. Fenley Of The County Of Terrell, Has Been Duly Elected To The Office Of Sheriff And Tax Collector And Has Duly Qualified By Taking The Prescribed Oath And Giving Bond: Now, Therefore, Know Ye, That S.W.T.Lanham, Governor Of The State Of Texas, Do By Virtue Of The Authority Vested In Me By The Constitution And Laws Of Said State. Commission The Said G. W. Fenley All Rights, Privileges, And Emoluments Appertaining Tom Sais Office, For And During The Term Prescribed By Law. In Testimony Whereof, I Have Hereunto Signed My Name, And Caused The Seal Of The State To Be Affixed, At The City Of Austin, The Second Day Of December In The Year Of Our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred And Five And The Independence Of The United States Of America The One Hundred And Thirtieth, And Of Texas The Seventieth". Historical Context; Establishment of Terrell County: The county was created by the Texas Legislature on February 16, 1905, from territory originally belonging to Pecos County. G. W. Fenley's Role: As the county was organized that same year, Fenley was elected to serve as its inaugural Sheriff and Tax Collector. S. W. T. Lanham: Samuel Willis Tucker Lanham served as the 23rd Governor of Texas from 1903 to 1907. He was the last Confederate veteran to hold the office. Significant Dates: The commission marks the 70th year of Texas independence (dating from 1836) and the 130th year of United States independence (dating from 1776). See Photos, This Document Is Signed By The Secretary Of Texas O. K. Shannon. Why Is Lanham's Signature Is Not Seen On The Document; Account for the "missing" Lanham signature by noting the document is a State Commission—which traditionally features the Seal of the State of Texas and the signature of the Secretary of State. This Document Has Both Of These, Making It The Official Document For This Historic Appointment In Texas History.

Size: Framed Under Glass 25 1/8" X 19 1/8" See Photos For Wear And Tears. The 1970 Berkeley rent strike was part of a broader wave of radical activism in the area, with 1925 Grove Street serving as a key hub. Tom Hayden, along with Linda Morse and Art Goldberg, ran an Independent Left Student (ILS) office at this address, organizing and preparing for revolutionary actions in the community. The Great Berkeley Rent Strike, launched on February 1, 1970, was a massive citywide action organized by the Berkeley Tenants Union (BTU) to protest skyrocketing rents—which had increased 15% to 50%—and deplorable living conditions. Described as a "Tet Offensive Against Tenant-Slavery," the strike involved an estimated 500 to 824 units and over 1,000 participants who used the leverage of withheld rent to demand collective bargaining rights and improved maintenance. While the six-month struggle faced aggressive legal opposition and resulted in only ten landlords signing union contracts, it successfully radicalized the local housing debate and paved the way for the Berkeley Rent Board and California's first postwar rent control law in 1972, What a great piece of history.

367	Hand Made Wool Persian Tabriz Carpet - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Size: 10'x6'9" This room-size Persian Tabriz rug is a hand-knotted masterpiece featuring a vibrant and complex design. Its classical composition is characterized by a central medallion, intricate floral motifs, and a series of detailed formal borders. The rug showcases a rich, traditional color scheme that blends warm and cool tones. A bold red serves as the dominant background color of the main field. Deep navy blue highlights the central medallion and outer border. These are complemented by ivory, beige, and cream accents throughout the floral patterns and inner border bands. Small touches of green, gold, and brown are used to define botanical details like leaves and vines. A striking, multi-layered star-shaped medallion anchors the center of the rug. The main red field is densely filled with "Shah Abbasi" palmettes, scrolling vines, and delicate flower heads. A wide, primary border in navy blue features a repeating floral pattern, framed by several smaller, contrasting guard borders in cream and red.
368	Mid Century Modern Deilcraft Walnut & Glass Table + Harald Relling Leather & Tube Steel Sling Chair - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: Size: Including; 1970s Harald Relling Westnofa Wing Chair & Ottoman – Black Leather Chrome Mid-Century Modern Lounge. The 1970s "Wing" chair, designed by Harald Relling and manufactured by Westnofa in Norway, is a celebrated example of Scandinavian mid-century modern design. It features a distinctive cantilevered chrome-plated tubular steel frame, accented teak inserts at the base, and a high-back "wing" silhouette designed for ergonomic head and neck support. The seating consists of deep, button-tufted aniline leather cushions resting on a tensioned canvas sling, a construction that offers a characteristic "floating" comfort. While frequently Misattributed to his brother Ingmar Relling—creator of the famous "Siesta" chair—Harald's Wing chair is a rarer and more substantial piece, 1- Deilcraft model #23535 side table, a standout piece of mid-century Canadian design, produced by Dominion Electrohome Industries Limited in Kitchener, Ontario, during the late 1960s. Its architectural silhouette features a rich walnut veneer frame with a sophisticated smoked glass insert top, all supported by a rhythmic arrangement of 10 square pillar slats. The functional two-tier design includes a solid lower shelf and a grounded, solid round foot finished in contrasting black paint. While it remains a striking example of "Scandinavian" influenced vintage furniture, the smoked glass insert unfortunately bears a small chip on the underside of its edge—a common but regrettable sign of its long history.

Manny Vega's public art transforms the streets of East Harlem (El Barrio) into an open-air gallery celebrating Nuyorican culture and the African Diaspora. His most prominent installations include the "Sábado en la Ciento Diez" (1996) mosaics at the 110th Street Station (6 train), which depict vibrant neighborhood life, and the "Spirit of East Harlem" mural at 160 East 104th Street, a towering community homage he restored in the late 1990s. Other essential stops on his "mosaic trail" include the Julia de Burgos Mosaic (2006) on the corner of Lexington Avenue and East 106th Street, and "Al Ritmo de La Paz" (To the Rhythm of Peace) located on East 104th Street. To see his smaller-scale works, you can visit the Museum of the City of New York (1220 5th Ave), which recently hosted his major solo retrospective, Byzantine Bembé: New York by Manny Vega, showcasing his intricate watercolors and ink drawings alongside maps of his public works. 393	Used Rare Working Vintage Chronosport Mini Quartz 30 With Date Goldtone & Black 28mm Wrist Watch - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Size: Working sold as is no warranty expressed or implied. This Chronosport Mini Quartz 30 is a rare, Used shows wear vintage 28mm ladies' diver that shares its design heritage with the iconic Sea Quartz 30 famously worn in the early seasons of Magnum, P.I.. Despite its small diameter, the watch maintains a robust and "chunky" profile, offering a professional tool-watch feel in a compact size. Produced around 1979, it features a gold-plated case, a champagne dial with a date window at 3 o'clock, and a reliable Swiss ESA quartz movement. This specific timepiece is highly collectible because it is physically identical to the Breitling ref. 80170 from the same era, as both were assembled in the same factory during a period of close brand association. A key highlight of this example is its original integrated folding clasp bracelet, confirmed by the period-correct "JB Champion Stainless Steel USA" engraving on the clasp. Finding this specific bracelet—originally manufactured by Jacoby-Bender—still paired with the watch significantly increases its value, as it completes the seamless, integrated aesthetic intended for this watch. Surface scratches and gold wear but sill running strong, See photos.

399	RARE 1966-70s Omega Automatic "Giant Square" Ref-166.081 Black Dial Date Wrist Watch Leather Strap - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: Size: Slightly Used, Working sold as is no warranty expressed or implied. While the Omega Reference 166.081 is most commonly found with "Genève" or "De Ville" branding, having a Seamaster branded dial on this specific model is possible due to transitional production periods, market-specific variations, or later service replacements. The appearance of a Seamaster-branded black date dial in a giant square case can be attributed to several factors: Transitional Branding During the late 1960s and early 1970s, Omega frequently moved models between different lines. Transitional Models: Omega occasionally released "transitional" watches that combined elements from different collections. For example, some models from 1967-1968 featured Seamaster case backs with Genève dials. Collection Shifts: The Genève line was often used for entry-level models, while the Seamaster name was reserved for watches with higher water resistance or more "special" features. If your 166.081 was produced during a shift in marketing strategy, it might have received Seamaster branding. This watch is the ultimate 1970s power move, a "Big Square" tank that eats up wrist real estate with its massive 39mm brushed steel cushion case and aggressive retro-futurist geometry. While most collectors are stuck with the standard silver dials, rocking the rare Seamaster-branded black date dial gives this watch a dark, high-contrast edge that feels more like a tactical pilot's tool than a vintage dress piece. It's a rare transitional flex—blending the "Genève Dynamic" era's experimental design with the rugged prestige of the Seamaster name—making it a deep-cut choice for those who want 1970s Genta-style energy without following the crowd.

401	Estate Collection Of Germain Cameras Diax II, Ikonta Pronto SV, Peerfleka V, And Montanus Super - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: 6 lbs 8 oz. Size: See Photos Sold As Found, No Cloudy Lenses. The Montanus Super Reflex is a vintage, all-metal Twin Lens Reflex (TLR) camera manufactured by the German company Montanus in the mid-1950s, designed to produce 6x6cm images on 120 roll film. It features an advanced design for its time, including a reliable Prontor-SVS leaf shutter and a convenient film advance lever for semi-automatic operation. This camera is notably paired with the Rodenstock Trinar 80mm f/2.9 lens on both the taking and viewing sides, an upper-quality three-element anastigmat lens that delivers sharp images, particularly within the center of the frame. While not as famous as its contemporary, the Rolleiflex, the Montanus Super Reflex is an attractive and capable collector's item prized for its solid construction and quality German optics. 1 - Peerfleka V, a twin-lens reflex (TLR) model manufactured in the mid-1950s by Welta in East Germany. It is essentially a rebadged version of the Welta Refleka, produced specifically for Peerless Camera, a well-known retailer based in New York City [2]. As a TLR, it uses one lens for viewing and another for capturing images on 120 roll film, typically producing square 6x6 cm negatives. These vintage cameras are popular among collectors and film enthusiasts. 1 - The Voss Diax II is a high-quality 35mm coupled rangefinder camera manufactured by the German firm Walter Voss in Ulm between 1951 and 1954. A relatively rare model within the Diax series, it was an evolution of the Diax I, featuring an enlarged top housing to accommodate the rangefinder and a larger, flat rewind knob. The camera is noted for its exceptionally solid all-metal construction, often described as having Leitz-level craftsmanship, though this makes it quite heavy and typically front-heavy when resting on a flat surface. It utilizes a high-performance Synchro-Compur leaf shutter with speeds ranging from 1 second to 1 /500th and was available with premium lens options, including the Schneider 45mm f /2.0 Xenon. 1 - Zeiss Ikon Ikonta 35, an iconic German-made folding camera from the late 1940s that was later renamed the Contina. Compact and built with high-quality metal, it features a 45mm f/3.5 Novar-Anastigmat lens and uses standard 35mm film, making it a popular choice for vintage photography enthusiasts today. Because it is a viewfinder camera without a built-in rangefinder, you must manually estimate the distance to your subject and set it on the lens barrel to achieve focus. The style of this Jaeger-LeCoultre ladies' watch is characteristic of the late 1950s to 1960s, an era defined by refined elegance and technical precision. The design aesthetic is minimalist and timeless, featuring a classic round 9-karat gold case with elegant, slightly extended lugs that transition smoothly into the black leather strap. The clean, silver-toned dial is a perfect example of mid-century dress watch style, utilizing sharp, applied baton and subtle arrowhead hour markers along with distinctive dauphine hands, all of which prioritize legibility and sleek sophistication over ornamentation. To add a little sparkle they protected the dial with a reverse cut crystal. This blend of classic form and reliable manual-wind function captures the essence of a sophisticated vintage timepiece, reflecting the horological excellence of the "Grande Maison" during a period of post-war luxury.

He had an "open house" in the Morningside area overlooking Biscayne Bay and anyone could come visit him any time. He had a sculpture garden and the fence was decorated with whimsical sculptures. He created the Simian sculptures for the Monkey Jungle and also created an Alice in Wonderland park in the Tampa area. He called himself "Magus Supreme, Pro Tem of the Supreme Order of Magi" and told stories about aliens and warlocks. This painting, presented in its original 1950's presents an evening river landscape with suggested ruins and a small mystical bird in the forefront

477	Collection Of Working Vintage Watches Invicta, Citizen, Bulova & Westclox - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: 1 - Invicta Professional 660 ft Diver # 9312, Precise Ronda Caliber 705 Quartz movement. Design: 18k gold-plated stainless steel case and bracelet with a uni-directional rotating blue bezel. Dial: Blue analog dial with luminous gold-tone hands and dot hour markers; features a date window at the 3 o'clock position with a magnifier. Crystal: Flame Fusion crystal for scratch resistance. Dimensions: 40mm case diameter, 10mm thickness, With Black Leather Band. 1 - This vintage Westclox automatic wristwatch, often referred to as a "Mad Men era" timepiece, is a classic example of mid-century professional design from the 1960s to early 1970s. Part of the brand's higher-end offerings, this model features a 17-jewel mechanical movement designed for increased precision and reliability compared to budget pin-pallet models. The watch typically showcases a 35mm to 40mm stainless steel or gold-plated case, a sunburst dial with applied baton indices, and a distinctive day/date window at the 3 o'clock position. While Westclox was primarily renowned for its American-made clocks, these "Crown Line" or "Crown Series" watches often paired Swiss-made automatic movements with American styling, making them a popular choice for collectors seeking accessible mid-century horology. Citizen Eco-Drive Weekender (model AW1385-11H) features a substantial 48 mm black-plated stainless steel case with a thickness of 12 mm. Its sporty design is highlighted by vibrant electric green accents on the dial and crown, while the black dial itself displays a unique punched metal motif. Powered by the sustainable J810 Eco-Drive movement, it converts any light source into energy, eliminating the need for battery changes. The watch is equipped with luminous hands, large Arabic numerals at the 6, 9, and 12 positions, and a date window at 3 o'clock, all protected by a scratch-resistant mineral crystal. A black leather strap with green stitching and a green underside completes the look, and its 100-meter water resistance ensures durability for swimming and snorkeling. 1 - Bulova 96G46 is a sophisticated men's dress watch characterized by its sleek, barrel-shaped (tonneau) stainless steel case and matching integrated bracelet. The design features a minimalist black dial protected by a raised, scratch-resistant mineral glass crystal, accented by silver-toned sword-shaped hands and discrete square markers. Functionally, the timepiece is powered by a reliable Japanese Miyota quartz movement and includes a convenient date window at the 6 o'clock position. It is engineered with a standard water resistance of 30 meters (3 ATM), making it suitable for brief splashes but not for swimming, and it is secured with a hidden double-press deployment or butterfly clasp for a seamless look. 483	Collection Of Working Vintage Watches Swarovski, Borel, Welsbro, Porsche, & Westclox - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: All working sold as is no warranty expressed or implied. Including; 1 - Westclox 17 Jewel Manual Wind Gold Tone Pendant Watch With Chain, 1 - Welsbro 23-jewel manual-wind watch is a high-grade vintage timepiece typically dating from the late 1940s to the 1950s. While many Welsbro models featured standard 17-jewel Swiss movements, the 23-jewel versions were premium offerings. These extra jewels were added to the gear train to further reduce friction, significantly improving the movement's long-term precision and durability. This specific model utilizes a "tank" or Art Deco-style case, common for the era, and requires regular hand-winding to maintain its roughly 40-hour power reserve. 1 - Swarovski Daytime Beige Watch (model 5130547) is an elegant, Swiss-made timepiece designed with a focus on sophisticated simplicity and the play of light. The watch features a refined 34mm circular face with a sunray-patterned dial, adorned with a signature swan logo at the 12 o'clock position and clear crystal pavé detailing along the bezel. It is powered by a reliable quartz movement and is paired with a neutral beige or tan calfskin leather strap, making it a versatile accessory for everyday wear or special occasions. 1 - Rare Model Ernest Borel Cocktail watch is a vintage Swiss timepiece, most notably produced during the 1950s and 1960s, that is famous for its unique "kaleidoscope" or "mystery" dial. Instead of traditional hands, these watches utilize two rotating, patterned discs—one for minutes and one for seconds—that create a hypnotic, swirling visual effect as they move. Time is typically read using small red arrow markers located along the outer edge of the dial. Many models feature a 17-jewel mechanical movement (either manual wind or automatic) and often include a see-through "skeleton" case back to display the inner workings.

He studied at the Escuela Superior de Bellas Artes de San Jorge in Barcelona and won the Young Painter's Prize in 1956, which led to his first one-man show in Barcelona in 1957. The following year the Institute Francais awarded him the First Prize of the Circulo Maillol - a scholarship to Paris. This led to an Ecole de Paris group show at the Galerie Chapentier, various salons, and finally to a painting contract with the Galerie Drouant, which, in 1963, gave Alvar his first one-man show of paintings in Paris. These shows for him have been repeated every two or three years since then. Besides shows in France and Spain, Alvar has exhibited in New York, Tokyo, New Orleans, Los Angeles, and San Francisco, as well as in Sweden, Switzerland, Tel Aviv, London, and Alexandria. His works are represented in several American museums and have won the Acquisition Prize of the Museum of Modern Art in Barcelona (from American Design Ltd)

Size: longest 10" Including; 1 - Schrade Walden H-15 Fixed Blade with Leather Sheath. Officially known as the "Utility Hunter," is a classic American-made fixed-blade knife produced between approximately 1958 and 1975. While designed as a commercial hunting knife based loosely on the Imperial M3 military design, it gained legendary status as a popular "Private Purchase" item for U.S. soldiers during the Vietnam War. The knife features a 5-inch carbon steel clip-point blade and a distinctive stacked leather handle accented with red plastic spacers and an aluminum pommel. 1 - 2960TWW Schrade Scrimshaw Trapper; A vintage "Scrimshaw of the Great American Outdoors" series, which was manufactured in the USA between 1976 and 1996. This specific model typically features a traditional two-blade design—a 3.25" clip point and a spey blade—making it highly versatile for tasks like skinning or detail work. The knife is defined by its ivory-colored synthetic handles that serve as a canvas for this detailed Wolf scene. 1 - Silver Stag D2 FSN3.5 Small Notch Folding Knife is a high-quality, handmade non-locking pocket knife designed as an elegant yet durable everyday carry (EDC) or field tool. The knife features a 3.5-inch D2 high-carbon tool steel drop point blade, double disc ground and heat-treated to a 62 Rockwell hardness, which provides exceptional edge retention and durability. The handle is crafted from genuine, naturally shed North American antler, making each piece unique in character and providing a comfortable, secure grip. This American-made knife has an adjustable tension pivot pin for user preference and is carried via a traditional lanyard tie system rather than a pocket clip, emphasizing its classic design and functionality. 1 - Silver Stag Small Notch Folder a traditional slip joint knife handmade in the USA. It features a 3.25-inch clip-point blade made from highly durable D2 high carbon tool steel. The handles are constructed from various types of stabilized hardwood, such as Black Walnut or Cocobolo, which are treated to resist environmental changes and ensure longevity in the field. Alvar Sunol Munoz-Ramos was born in a Catalan fishing village near Barcelona, Catalonia, in 1935. He studied at the Escuela Superior de Bellas Artes de San Jorge in Barcelona and won the Young Painter's Prize in 1956, which led to his first one-man show in Barcelona in 1957. The following year the Institute Francais awarded him the First Prize of the Circulo Maillol - a scholarship to Paris. This led to an Ecole de Paris group show at the Galerie Chapentier, various salons, and finally to a painting contract with the Galerie Drouant, which, in 1963, gave Alvar his first one-man show of paintings in Paris. These shows for him have been repeated every two or three years since then. Besides shows in France and Spain, Alvar has exhibited in New York, Tokyo, New Orleans, Los Angeles, and San Francisco, as well as in Sweden, Switzerland, Tel Aviv, London, and Alexandria. His works are represented in several American museums and have won the Acquisition Prize of the Museum of Modern Art in Barcelona (from American Design Ltd)

626	Bear & Son 517D Damastic Steel Butterfly - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: 7 oz. Box Size: 7.5"x1.75" x3" NOTICE Florida Law: The possession and carrying of the Bear & Son 517D is legal in Florida. Florida law is permissive regarding knife ownership and carry, as it does not specifically prohibit butterfly knives. Interstate Sales: WE WILL NOT SHIP THIS OUT OF STATE. Including; 1 - Bear & Son 517D is a premium, American-made butterfly knife that combines traditional aesthetics with modern construction, featuring a 5-inch closed length and a visually striking 512-layer Damascus steel blade. This balisong stands out due to its genuine India stag bone handles and polished nickel silver bolsters, offering a unique "thumbprint" pattern on every piece that appeals to both collectors and enthusiasts. Built with Zen pin construction for improved durability and smooth flipping action, it weighs approximately 5.9 oz and includes a T-latch for secure locking in both open and closed positions. Proudly manufactured in Jacksonville, Alabama, the 517D is backed by a lifetime guarantee, though users should note that the carbon-based Damascus blade requires a light coat of oil to maintain its distinctive etched finish and prevent corrosion.
