In this camouflage painting, Doolittle answers the question and shows us that there are many levels to the visual experience. "I want to change the experience of seeing."--Bev Doolittle" -Image Size:15 3/4 x 42 1/2 in. Framed Size: 19 x 46 1/2 in. Edition Size: 1,579 of 69,996, fancy cut work matting in museum quality 23 1/4" x 51" frame , The Greenwich Workshop original folder with seal authenticity note in back pocket - Bev Doolittle's phenomenal success has been a by-product of her desire to work hard at what she loves to do most – create art with meaning. "My love for nature, as well as man's relationship with it, is the driving force behind all of my artwork. She Works with The Greenwich Workshop to produce fine art archival limited edition prints of her intricate original camouflage art. "I am not a prolific painter," Bev explains. "My art style prevents that. Reproducing my painting in print was the perfect answer. I was able to concentrate on my most important ideas while still having my work represented in galleries around North America as well as abroad. My relationship with The Workshop and its extended family of artists, galleries and their customers has been a joy for me for more than twenty-five years." Nearly all of Bev's prints have been sell-outs and five books of her art have been released. Bev's work reflects her love of horses, passion for the natural world and her affinity for the Native American's spiritual relationship to the land. Bev and her husband, Jay, both graduates of the Art Center College of Design, began married life as art directors for an advertising agency in Los Angeles. Five year of living in the city made them more aware of what they were missing: the outdoors and creating their own art. "We hoarded our savings and struck out on our own, living out of our camper for a year. Calling ourselves, 'Traveling Artists,' we painted our way through the West. For me, success followed my passion. Passion is what drives me." Bev, Jay and their son Jayson live close to nature in the California high desert. Joshua Tree National Park is their backyard

Representing the ideal characteristics of a scholar-gentleman, the trio came to be known as the Three Friends of Winter. They stood as symbols of hope and sheer determination, encouraging perseverance in the face of adversity. Consequently, these three symbols of virtue became a popular theme in Chinese painting, poetry, and calligraphy throughout the ages.

Signed Lower Left, N. Brumm - Norman Brumm (1938-2008) was active in Michigan and known for his enamel on copper work in sculpture, plates and paintings. Although formally trained in oil painting, Brumm produced exceptional water colors and pen and ink drawings. He moved into the field of enamel on metal with the same enthusiasm he had brought to his paintings. The opportunity to depict in sculpture the things in nature he loved drew him deeper into the process of enameling. He created both plates and sculptures in this medium. He has left a large legacy of works behind - they are very popular and have many collectors. A few highlights of Brumm's career include his wall hanging of Apple Blossoms presented to President Gerald R. Ford in the White House; His sculpture of Pine given to the Empress of Japan; and Beatrice, Queen of the Netherlands, requested an art piece. The Chanab was placed in the center of what was called in a Straits Chinese home, the Sam Kai Altar, the most important altar in the family home.
