She established herself as a spiritualist medium and healing in New York and was both a respected teacher of psychic development and a famous healer who traveled around the world. Under a light trance, Wojciechowsky created automatic writings and paintings, a process where she cleared her mind and freed her hands to follow celestial instructions. Her swirling watercolors form landscape like abstractions or reveal colorful faces, each work acts as a glimpse into another world or unknown consciousness. Entirely self taught, Wojciechowsky believed that spirits were controlling her hands as she created in a trance like state. This 16" x 13.5" sight watercolor suggests an etheric forested landscape populated by amorphous faces looking back at us. Mounted in 25" x 22.5" frame
