From this premise, David Anderson painted, reflecting on particular experiences rather than creating new ones for the viewer. A native Pennsylvanian (Charleroi, PA), born November 26, 1926, the 30-year resident of the St. Petersburg-Tampa Bay area began his interest in the arts with theater and turned to painting as a more satisfactory means of communication. Early training and interests in theater contributed heavily to the dramatic quality in his work, as well as studies and training with Christopher Clark, internationally known portraitist. His paintings had appeared in "Artists U.S.A." for several years and were shown with the Art in Embassies program under the aegis of the U.S. Department of State. He was commissioned by the Huegenot Society to execute a muralistic oil, commemorating the landing of Jean Ribeau and the Huegenots in Florida. The painting was reproduced in the national Methodist magazine Today, and was presented to the Governor as a gift to the State of Florida. In the annual competition of the Society of Fine Arts, Beaux Arts Gallery, Anderson was the grand prize winner for many consecutive years. Also, he was selected by the editors of Who's Who in American Art for inclusion in 1973 and 1975. He was elected as a Fellow in the Royal Society of Arts, in London, England, in 1974. He was the co-owner of the Anderson-Marsh Galleries, in St. Petersburg, Florida. Former Exhibits:, Benson Baker Galleries, New York City, Galerie Fountainbleu, Miami Beach, Artists Cove, North Miami Beach, Portsmouth Art League, Portsmouth, Ohio, Artists Market, Clearwater, Florida, Harmon Galleries, Naples, Florida, Beaux Arts Gallery, Pinellas Park, Florida, Contemporary Gallery, St. Petersburg, Florida, Ringling Museum, 9th Annual Exhibit, Sarasota, Florida, Gallerie Lucille, St. Petersburg, Florida, Abilene Fine Arts Museum, Abilene, Texas, Lynn Kottler Galleries, New York City, Champions Fine Art Galleries, Houston, Texas, Museum of Modern Art, Mexico City {in house shipping available}

Daughter of eastern European Jewish immigrants, her work was shaped by the melting pot of NYC post-WWII, urban social realism and the mind-quest of the Beat Generation, as well as the vibrancy of modern art, contemporary literature and world music. Painfully shy, she was isolated by and struggled with the stigmas of disability from polio and paranoid schizophrenia, from which grew profound awareness of paradox. Despite her challenging reality, she was buoyed by an enormous intellect. She absorbed aesthetic influences in palette, brushwork and line from artists as diverse as Chagall, Arp, Leger, Hans Hofmann, Ben Shahn and illustrators Ronald Searle and Al Hirschfeld. Acutely aware of the enigma that was her mind, she teased the viewer with a personal iconography of letter and number shapes, phrases and visual puns. Faces (both human and creature) peer slyly from her canvases. Though her disorder prevented her from the social mingling necessary for notice in the art world, Phyllis worked with strictly professional materials (oils, acrylic, canvas, paper, watercolor, pencils and ink). Living her art, she found joy in life and left a legacy of art worth preserving. Her vibrant color owed to her Gulf-coast Floridian residency. Gifted with a wry sense of humor and a steely gentleness, she depicted compassion, sense of place, love of the wild, vulnerability, and freedom versus confinement in kaleidoscopic, stream-of-consciousness drawings and paintings.. She was an avid follower of the art world and was registered with NARSAD Artworks, an outlet of what is now the Brain and Behavior Research Foundation. {in house shipping available} - (in house shipping available)

From this premise, David Anderson painted, reflecting on particular experiences rather than creating new ones for the viewer. A native Pennsylvanian (Charleroi, PA), born November 26, 1926, the 30-year resident of the St. Petersburg-Tampa Bay area began his interest in the arts with theater and turned to painting as a more satisfactory means of communication. Early training and interests in theater contributed heavily to the dramatic quality in his work, as well as studies and training with Christopher Clark, internationally known portraitist. His paintings had appeared in "Artists U.S.A." for several years and were shown with the Art in Embassies program under the aegis of the U.S. Department of State. He was commissioned by the Huguenot Society to execute a muralistic oil, commemorating the landing of Jean Ribeau and the Huguenots in Florida. The painting was reproduced in the national Methodist magazine Today, and was presented to the Governor as a gift to the State of Florida. In the annual competition of the Society of Fine Arts, Beaux Arts Gallery, Anderson was the grand prize winner for many consecutive years. Also, he was selected by the editors of Who's Who in American Art for inclusion in 1973 and 1975. He was elected as a Fellow in the Royal Society of Arts, in London, England, in 1974. He was the co-owner of the Anderson-Marsh Galleries, in St. Petersburg, Florida. Former Exhibits:, Benson Baker Galleries, New York City, Galerie Fontainebleau, Miami Beach, Artists Cove, North Miami Beach, Portsmouth Art League, Portsmouth, Ohio, Artists Market, Clearwater, Florida, Harmon Galleries, Naples, Florida, Beaux Arts Gallery, Pinellas Park, Florida, Contemporary Gallery, St. Petersburg, Florida, Ringling Museum, 9th Annual Exhibit, Sarasota, Florida, Galerie Lucille, St. Petersburg, Florida, Abilene Fine Arts Museum, Abilene, Texas, Lynn Kottler Galleries, New York City, Champions Fine Art Galleries, Houston, Texas, Museum of Modern Art, Mexico City

The female ancestors are venerated and the "first" female ancestor ("mukaukila") is honored through these Okuyi "white masks" of the mwiri male initiation society. Embodying the spirit of a deceased young maiden in the spirit realm, these masks are believed to harness the powers of female ancestors. They are worn and danced in communal rites such as funerals, youth initiations, and births. Okuyi masks are also worn by stilt performers (up to three meters high) from the mwiri society during ritual ceremonies to request spiritual intervention in the hunt for malicious sorcerers and witches. The masks capture the likeness of the most beautiful woman in the village. They are white face, have high ample hairstyles with full carved black braids, diamond scarification on forehead and temples of "natural" dimension face with ample crested headdress, also called in different regions ocuya, ukuyi, mokoi, ikwara, okokwe, mukudj, mukuyi and mbwanda - both show natural wear from use, minor worm wood and white kaolin loss to face -12" mask is complete with slightly worn kaolin white finish, small chip near right eye, 8" his painted with a light tan color possibly some minor wood worm to hair, both have hanger attached to back with old hook marks as well - in house shipping available

553	Phyllis Trager Hyman (1936-2011) Acrylic On Canvas 2004 "Flight" - From The Estate Of Phyllis Trager Hyman 24" X 30" signed on verso -Phyllis was a Sophisticated outsider artist whose imagery - lyrical, whimsical, nightmarish, puzzling, and penetrating - reveals a life fulfilled by creativity .Daughter of eastern European Jewish immigrants, her work was shaped by the melting pot of NYC post-WWII, urban social realism and the mind-quest of the Beat Generation, as well as the vibrancy of modern art, contemporary literature and world music. Painfully shy, she was isolated by and struggled with the stigmas of disability from polio and paranoid schizophrenia, from which grew profound awareness of paradox. Despite her challenging reality, she was buoyed by an enormous intellect. She absorbed aesthetic influences in palette, brushwork and line from artists as diverse as Chagall, Arp, Leger, Hans Hofmann, Ben Shahn and illustrators Ronald Searle and Al Hirschfeld. Acutely aware of the enigma that was her mind, she teased the viewer with a personal iconography of letter and number shapes, phrases and visual puns. Faces (both human and creature) peer slyly from her canvases. Though her disorder prevented her from the social mingling necessary for notice in the art world, Phyllis worked with strictly professional materials (oils, acrylic, canvas, paper, watercolor, pencils and ink). Living her art, she found joy in life and left a legacy of art worth preserving. Her vibrant color owed to her Gulf-coast Floridian residency. Gifted with a wry sense of humor and a steely gentleness, she depicted compassion, sense of place, love of the wild, vulnerability, and freedom versus confinement in kaleidoscopic, stream-of-consciousness drawings and paintings.. She was an avid follower of the art world and was registered with NARSAD Artworks, an outlet of what is now the Brain and Behavior Research Foundation. {in house shipping available}

559	Phyllis Trager Hyman (1936-2011) Acrylic On Canvas Diptych 2005 "Creations Hope" - From The Estate Of Phyllis Trager Hyman diptych 2 panels 30" X 22" signed on verso. -Phyllis was a Sophisticated outsider artist whose imagery - lyrical, whimsical, nightmarish, puzzling, and penetrating - reveals a life fulfilled by creativity .Daughter of eastern European Jewish immigrants, her work was shaped by the melting pot of NYC post-WWII, urban social realism and the mind-quest of the Beat Generation, as well as the vibrancy of modern art, contemporary literature and world music. Painfully shy, she was isolated by and struggled with the stigmas of disability from polio and paranoid schizophrenia, from which grew profound awareness of paradox. Despite her challenging reality, she was buoyed by an enormous intellect. She absorbed aesthetic influences in palette, brushwork and line from artists as diverse as Chagall, Arp, Leger, Hans Hofmann, Ben Shahn and illustrators Ronald Searle and Al Hirschfeld. Acutely aware of the enigma that was her mind, she teased the viewer with a personal iconography of letter and number shapes, phrases and visual puns. Faces (both human and creature) peer slyly from her canvases. Though her disorder prevented her from the social mingling necessary for notice in the art world, Phyllis worked with strictly professional materials (oils, acrylic, canvas, paper, watercolor, pencils and ink). Living her art, she found joy in life and left a legacy of art worth preserving. Her vibrant color owed to her Gulf-coast Floridian residency. Gifted with a wry sense of humor and a steely gentleness, she depicted compassion, sense of place, love of the wild, vulnerability, and freedom versus confinement in kaleidoscopic, stream-of-consciousness drawings and paintings.. Painfully shy, she was isolated by and struggled with the stigmas of disability from polio and paranoid schizophrenia, from which grew profound awareness of paradox. Despite her challenging reality, she was buoyed by an enormous intellect. She absorbed aesthetic influences in palette, brushwork and line from artists as diverse as Chagall, Arp, Leger, Hans Hofmann, Ben Shahn and illustrators Ronald Searle and Al Hirschfeld. Acutely aware of the enigma that was her mind, she teased the viewer with a personal iconography of letter and number shapes, phrases and visual puns. Faces (both human and creature) peer slyly from her canvases. Though her disorder prevented her from the social mingling necessary for notice in the art world, Phyllis worked with strictly professional materials (oils, acrylic, canvas, paper, watercolor, pencils and ink). Living her art, she found joy in life and left a legacy of art worth preserving. Her vibrant color owed to her Gulf-coast Floridian residency. Gifted with a wry sense of humor and a steely gentleness, she depicted compassion, sense of place, love of the wild, vulnerability, and freedom versus confinement in kaleidoscopic, stream-of-consciousness drawings and paintings.. She was an avid follower of the art world and was registered with NARSAD Artworks, an outlet of what is now the Brain and Behavior Research Foundation. {in house shipping available}

605	1930s Oahu Publishing Company 50K Acoustic Guitar case - This is a 1930s Oahu Style 50K acoustic guitar, with a square neck and a metal nut riser showing that it was intended to be played lap-style as a Hawaiian guitar. At this point, steel guitar was almost exclusively Hawaiian; Blues and country slide styles barely existed. The top, back and sides are likely birch laminate, with poplar for the neck. The metal pyramid bridge is characteristic of Oahu student model guitars, and is bolted to the top.The Oahu Publishing Company was based in Chicago, Illinois, and was set up by Harry G. Stanley in the 1930s as a sheet-music mail order house. To go with the sheet music, Oahu also contracted with companies like Regal, Harmony, Valco and Rickenbacker to supply Oahu-branded guitars {in house shipping available}
