This pair of sculptures is the work of American artist and educator Ike Hay (1939–2003), who was known for blending industrial materials with ancient, shamanistic motifs. These figures are characteristic of his signature style, featuring sand-cast aluminum torsos joined to slender, hand-fabricated iron limbs and staffs. The imagery is heavily inspired by the prehistoric rock art of the Pecos River region, utilizing symbolic elements like the Ankh (a symbol of life) and animal-totem headpieces to evoke the spirit of a "Shaman" or ritual guardian. By signing "HAY" directly into the metal base, the artist marked these as distinct, handcrafted studies in texture and form, bridging the gap between modern metalwork and primitive spiritualism. Ike Hay's formal education centered on a deep specialization in sculpture and the mastery of metalwork. After growing up in Bethesda, Maryland, and graduating from Walter Johnson High School, he began his higher education with two years at Montgomery College. The Covington News The Covington News He then transferred to the University of Georgia, where he completed both his Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA) and his Master of Fine Arts (MFA) in sculpture, graduating from the graduate program in 1969. To further refine his skills, he also studied at the Art Institute in New York City. This rigorous academic background provided the technical foundation for his later career as a professor, during which he established a professional-standard bronze foundry at Millersville University.

24	Hermann Augustin 7" Disc Hand Wind Music Box - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: Size:10 1/4" W X 9 1/8 D X 6 1/4" T. With Crank Working sold as is no warranty expressed or implied. This Hermann Augustin top-wind spring music box is a refined piece of late 19th-century German engineering, distinguished by its unique winding mechanism where the removable hand crank fits directly onto the center spindle. Unlike simpler models that require constant cranking, this unit uses that spindle to tension a heavy-duty internal mainspring, storing mechanical energy to power the turntable at a consistent, governed tempo. Housed in a resonant wooden case, this 7-inch disc player represents a more sophisticated grade of tabletop instrument, as its internal "governor" ensures a fluid musical performance without the wavering speed of manual units. These machines remain highly prized by collectors for their clever, space-saving design and the high-quality, automated playback typically found only in much larger cabinet players.

Josef Carl Klinkosch (1822-1888) was a highly skilled Viennese silversmith, who flourished in 19th Century Europe. Apprenticed to his father Carl 1835-1839, certified 1844, the family business produced fine silverware and jewelry. Their success was at the very pinnacle of Austrian society, the business was made Court silversmith from 1837 and given a Royal Warrant from Franz Josef of Austria in 1855. Josef assumed control of the family business in 1851 whereupon he and Stephen Mayerhofer formed the partnership Mayerhofen & Klinkosch. The company's success quickly expanded the business to several hundred employees and a reputation for fine craftsmanship. Klinkosch ended the partnership in 1869/70 and renamed the company J.C Klinkosch. Josef Carl Klinkosch's clients included members of the bourgeoisie and high society and from 1855 he held the Imperial Warrant to the Court of Emperor Franz Josef of Austria. Josef was knighted in 1879 and his pieces still form part of the Austrian Royal collection and are used for Austrian state banquets even today.

55	2 Folk Art Driftwood Face Carving By Skip - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: 5 lb 1 oz Size: 1 - 18" T X 9" W, 1 - 16" T X 7" W. These vintage "Wood Spirit" carvings are exceptional examples of Upper Peninsula folk art, likely from the renowned Skip's Driftwood near St. Ignace, Michigan. Hand-carved from natural wood knots, these "guardians of the forest" feature the classic elongated faces and expressive, textured beards synonymous with the U.P. legend of bringing good luck to the home. This pair is particularly collectible as it includes both a traditional stoic spirit and a rare, whimsical "smoker" variant with a carved pipe, both displaying a rich, warm patina that highlights the intricate craftsmanship.

59	Working Used Vintage S. T. Dupont Gold Plated & Black Enamel Tank Watch With Black Alligator Band - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up -Working sold as is no warranty expressed or implied. Size; (24mm X 32mm X 5.7mm thick) This used (with a few bumps and surface scratches) vintage S.T. Dupont "Laque de Chine" Tank watch is a sophisticated 1980s timepiece that combines classic Parisian style with high-quality Swiss craftsmanship. The elegant 18k gold-plated case is uniquely accented with genuine, hand-applied Chinese lacquer on the side rails, a durable and luxurious finish marked by the brand's signature leaf hallmark. Powered by a high-precision Swiss quartz movement for reliable timekeeping, the watch features a striking, minimalist black dial housed behind a scratch-resistant sapphire crystal. Its timeless "Tank" silhouette and slim profile make it a versatile dress watch for collectors and enthusiasts of vintage luxury.
60	Lot Of 3 Used Working Vintage Watches Invicta & Fossil - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: Including; 1 - Super Clean Invicta Pro Diver 29190 is a classic ladies' timepiece that offers a luxury "diver" aesthetic, heavily inspired by iconic designs like the Rolex Submariner, at an accessible price point. It features a 34mm gold-tone stainless steel case paired with a striking black dial, protected by a scratch-resistant mineral crystal and framed by a unidirectional rotating bezel. Powered by a reliable Japanese quartz movement (Hattori Caliber PC32A), the watch is water-resistant up to 100 meters (330 feet), making it suitable for swimming and snorkeling while remaining elegant enough for formal. 1 - Super Clean Relic by Fossil (model ZR77238) is a rugged and functional men's dress-sport watch featuring a 43mm silver-tone stainless steel case and a matching brushed link bracelet. The timepiece is centered around a textured black dial equipped with luminous hands, indices, and a convenient day-date window at the 3 o'clock position for high visibility. Designed for durability and daily wear, it operates on a reliable analog quartz movement and offers 50-meter water resistance, making it suitable for short periods of recreational swimming. 1 - Used Fossil 36mm skeleton watch is a mechanical timepiece from the late 1980s or early 1990s, featuring a gold-tone "coin-edge" case and a transparent dial that showcases its internal movement. Unlike modern quartz watches, it is powered by a manual-wind Swiss Sonceboz ES 55 caliber, which requires the wearer to manually turn the crown clockwise approximately 20 to 30 times daily until resistance is felt to keep it running. Because it relies on a delicate system of gears and springs rather than a battery, it is a collectible "bridge" piece from Fossil's early history that blends traditional Swiss-influenced mechanics with the brand's signature vintage aesthetic. All 3 Working sold as is no warranty expressed or implied And For One Money.

91	Antique Ferdinand Fuchs & Bros. Art Nouveau Sterling Silver Lobed Serving Bowl - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: (290 gr., 9.325 troy oz.) Size: 9" Across 1 3/4" deep. This antique sterling silver serving bowl was manufactured by Ferdinand Fuchs & Bros. of New York, a prestigious silver smithing firm active between 1884 and 1922. The design reflects the opulent Art Nouveau and Rococo Revival styles of the Gilded Age, characterized by a hexagonal lobed well and an elaborate scalloped rim featuring relief-designed floral and foliate motifs. The central script monogram suggests it was originally a personalized family piece, likely used as a centerpiece or for serving items like fruit, bonbons, or berries during formal dinners. Given its high-quality construction and the reputation of the maker, such pieces were often sold through elite retailers like Theodore B. Starr and remain highly collectible examples of late 19th-century American craftsmanship.

Bronze Finish White Metal Lamp With Vintage Fluted Tulip Glass Shade - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: Size: "The Good Fairy" J.M.R. table lamp is a striking Art Deco piece that stands approximately 21 1/2 inches tall, featuring a cast white metal figure finished in a rich antique bronze patina. Based on the 1916 design by Chicago artist Jessie McCutcheon Raleigh (JMR) and sculpted by Josephine Kern, the figure depicts a whimsical, gender-neutral fairy with arms joyously upraised, serving as a symbol of good fortune and innocence. This taller variant is typically crowned by a decorative fluted glass shade, which diffuses light to highlight the intricate details of the sculpture's face and hair while emphasizing the graceful lines of the Art Deco period. Authentic examples are characterized by a stamped mark on the base reading "THE GOOD FAIRY" and "J.M.R. 1916," making it a highly sought-after collectible for enthusiasts of early 20th-century American decorative arts

Complete with its original high-graphics box (with stain and showing its age see photos), this set is more than just a hobby—it's a rare, tangible piece of 1950s Americana that offers both incredible shelf appeal and a solid investment in toy history.
184	Nautical / Maritime Antique 1946 M.V. Lipscomb Ship Launch Plaque w/ Original Christening Bottle & - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: Size: Box 24 1/2" X 15" X 6 1/2" This commemorative plaque preserves a significant piece of maritime history, documenting the launch of the M.V. Lipscomb on February 22, 1946. Built by the renowned Ingalls Shipbuilding Corporation for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the vessel was a 126-foot twin-screw pushboat (tugboat) specifically designed for inland waterway operations. The plaque features a hand-carved wooden shield adorned with a ship's wheel and stars, and it serves as a display for the original christening bottle. Encased in decorative orange, purple, and blue ribbons, this bottle was traditionally broken against the hull by the ship's sponsor—in this case, Mrs. W.H. Guest, Jr.—to officially name the vessel and "invite good fortune" for its service. Such artifacts were often presented as prestigious keepsakes to the individuals involved in the ceremony, marking the completion of a major engineering project in the post-WWII era.
185	1890s Swiss Movement Bruno Theilmann Meuselwitz, Germany, Fancy Porcelain Dial Key Wind Pocket Watch - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Size: 1- Size 40mm Working Swiss Key Wind Movement Pocket Watch "fancy" dial, made of porcelain dating to the late 19th century. The layout is characterized by bold black Roman numerals for the hours, paired with an outer minute track that utilizes red Arabic numerals at five-minute intervals. A distinctive subsidiary seconds dial is positioned at the 9 o'clock mark, rather than the more common 6 o'clock position, and the center is embellished with concentric gold-toned circular patterns. Completing the ornate aesthetic are the "Louis XV" style hands, which are intricately pierced and gold-finished, a hallmark of mid-to-high-grade European timepieces from this era. The Pocket Watch Was Retailed By Bruno Theilmann, His shop was located in Meuselwitz, Germany. At this time, it was common for local jewelers to import Swiss or French movements and house them in cases branded with their own name. The Case Is Marked On The Inside Dust Cover, Bruno Theilmann Meuselwitz. The movement is a classic Swiss "bar movement," a style that gained widespread popularity in the mid-to-late 19th century (circa 1860–1890). It is characterized by separate, bridge-like "bars" that secure the individual gears of the train, rather than a single large plate covering the mechanism. This specific example features a cylinder escapement, a standard mechanical design for European watches of that era, and utilizes a key-wind system, where a separate watch key is used on the winding square of the mainspring barrel to power the watch. Working With Key And Chain Sold As Is No Warranty Expressed Or Implied.

186	8 Ft. Mahi-Mahi Wood Carving - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Size: 18" tall X 8" Wide. Capture the untamed spirit of the open ocean with this monumental 8-foot custom-carved twin (kissing) Mahi Mahi, a true masterpiece designed for those who demand a presence as bold as the "Bull" himself. Standing 18 inches tall and meticulously hewn from premium, sustainably sourced wood, this isn't just decor—it's an architectural statement. Every inch is hand-detailed to highlight the mahi's signature powerful profile and vibrant, iridescent transitions, finished with a high-luster marine-grade coating that brings the grain to life like sunlight hitting the water. Whether it's anchoring a coastal great room or serving as the crown jewel of a high-end seafood establishment, this massive, one-of-a-kind sculpture provides the unmatched warmth and prestige that only genuine hand-carved wood can offer.

These heavy-duty miniatures are iconic symbols of early open-hearth cooking. Artisanal Bellows: Hand-decorated with traditional floral motifs, these bellows are the perfect functional folk-art accent for stoking a small fire or adding a pop of color to your hearth. Dual-Era Lighting: Includes a vibrant red hurricane lantern for a rustic touch, a delicate glass-chimney oil lamp for soft ambiance, and a classic blue taper candle in a tiered brass holder. Polished Fireplace Toolset: A complete set of wrought iron tools with brass finials, including a hearth shovel, tongs, and pokers. And a cast iron beetle boot jack to take off your boots to relax and enjoy your "Hearth & Home Treasures"
241	Collection Of Lionel Train Cars - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: 7 lbs 7 oz. Size: See Photos. Step into the golden age of railroading with this exceptional Lionel collection, headlined by a classic No. 259E Prewar Steam Locomotive and its matching Lionel Lines coal tender, a rugged duo from the 1930s that defined the "O" gauge era. 280	3 Tole Ware Painted Trays - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: 9 Lbs. 14 Oz. Size: Three approx. 20" x 30" vintage toleware trays - Tole ware originated in the late 17th century in Wales as a way to prevent household tin from rusting, and became known as "poor man's silver" for its ability to mimic expensive lacquered or silver pieces through a process called japanning. Each tray in this set features a classic scalloped edge and a rich, black lacquered finish, serving as a canvas for hand-painted motifs including a pastoral landscape, a lush floral bouquet, and a vibrant fruit and berry design. These motifs were often applied using the "one-stroke" technique, where a single brush load of multiple colors creates immediate depth and shading. Their extra-large size makes them highly desirable as striking wall decor, oversized serving platters, or even as the centerpiece for tray-top tables. While displaying light surface wear consistent with mid-20th-century vintage pieces, the colors remain vivid and the finishes retain a glossy, protective sheen. This collection offers a blend of historical folk art and functional design, making it a perfect find for collectors of Americana or Victorian-style decor.

301	2 - Porcelain Figurines From Spain Lladro & Zaphir - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: 5 lbs 6 oz. This figurine is a retired Lladro porcelain sculpture titled "Feeding the Ducks" (or Comida a los patos), cataloged as model #4849. Designed by sculptor Antonio Ruiz, it was first introduced in 1973 and remained in production until its retirement in 1995. The piece features a young girl in a classic glazed finish, wearing a blue bodice and tan skirt, kneeling to offer food from a small basket to two white geese. It stands approximately 6.25 inches high and is roughly 9 inches wide, 1 - 10 1/2" W X 9 3/4" T X 5 1/2" D. Zaphir, a Spanish brand closely linked to Lladro that operated primarily between 1978 and 1982. Titled "Siesta" or "Sleeping Boy with Dog under a Tree," the piece showcases the classic Spanish porcelain style characterized by a high-gloss finish and a muted, pastel color palette. It depicts a peaceful scene of a young boy napping against a tree trunk with a small dog perched protectively on his shoulder. Because the Zaphir line was discontinued decades ago, these figurines are now sought-after collectors. Both One Money.
302	2 Used Pieces Of Tiffany & Co. Sterling Silver Hanging Heart Book Mark And Hex Head Screw Box - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Including; 1 - Rare Tiffany & Co. "Return to Tiffany" Heart Tag Bookmark is a retired vintage accessory crafted from 925 sterling silver. Measuring approximately 6 inches in length, it features a sleek, curved stem ending in a dangling heart charm engraved with the iconic "Please Return to Tiffany & Co. New York" inscription. Because this specific style is no longer in production, it has become a sought-after collectible for book lovers and jewelry enthusiasts alike. And 1 - Authentic vintage Tiffany & Co. sterling silver pill box, meticulously crafted in the industrial form of a hex-head bolt. Dating to the mid-20th century, these "nut and bolt" containers are highly sought after by collectors for their whimsical, "trompe l'oeil" design. While the exterior is solid .925 sterling silver, the interior is vermeil (gold-plated over silver) to prevent medicinal contents from reacting with the metal. Although This one shows some dents and bumps, many collectors feel this "distressed" look adds realistic character, making it resemble a functional, "used" workshop bolt. Both Tiffany & Co. Sterling Silver Pieces Are One Money.
303	Size 12 StockX Nike SB Dunk High Atlas Lost At Sea 2020 Box, Paper, Tags, Extra Red Lace, - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: Size: See Photos Sweet Sweet Sweet, NEVER WORN!!! The Nike SB Dunk High Pro QS "Atlas - Lost At Sea" is a 2020 collaboration with the Bay Area-based skate shop Atlas, inspired by a real-life maritime mishap from 1990 where thousands of Nike sneakers were lost in a cargo spill. To reflect the look of shoes that might have washed up on shore years later, the design features an off-white cracked leather upper, a pre-yellowed vintage-style midsole, and faded blue accents on the Swoosh and collar. A notable detail is the Atlas branding on the tongue, which uses a retro font reminiscent of the Nike Air Flight 90, the specific model famously found in the San Francisco Bay following the spill.

308	2 Vintage Working Pocket Watches Elgin & Westclox - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Including; 1 - 1919 Elgin Grade 301 a unique "sidewinder" configuration, featuring a size 12s, 7-jewel hunting movement (Model 2) housed in an open-face Illinois Watch Case Co. "Spartan" case, which rotates the sub-seconds register to the 3 o'clock position. The dial reflects a transitional Art Deco aesthetic with a matte champagne finish and bold, stylized Arabic numerals framed by a crisp "railroad track" outer minute chapter. The recessed sub-dial at 3 o'clock creates a distinct asymmetrical balance, complemented by thin blued-steel hands. This specific setup, housed in the durable and ornate base-metal "Spartan" case, suggests the movement was originally intended for a flip-cover hunting case but was later fitted into this open-face bezel to create a reliable and distinctive daily-wear timepiece. 1 - Westclox "Scotty" is an iconic American "dollar watch," a line of mechanical timepieces that brought reliable timekeeping to the general public throughout the 20th century. This specific model, featuring a luminous black dial and shock-resistant movement, dates from the 1960s to early 1970s, representing one of the final styles produced by Westclox in the USA. While these watches were originally sold as durable time pieces, they have become a popular collectible today due to their rugged mid-century aesthetic and historical significance as one of the last great mechanical watches of the pre-quartz era. Both are working sold as is no warranty expressed or implied for one money.

333	Grouping Of Iconic Framed Marilyn Monroe Photographs - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: Size: 1 - Framed 42" X 29 1/2" under glass, This iconic black-and-white portrait captures the timeless allure of Marilyn Monroe during a photo session in the summer of 1954. Photographed by Baron (Ted Baron) in Palm Springs, California, the image showcases Marilyn in a classic striped turtleneck dress, a look that has since become one of her most recognizable fashion statements. Her playful yet elegant expression, combined with her signature wavy blonde hair, perfectly embodies the "Old Hollywood" glamour she remains famous for today. Because of its enduring popularity, this specific shot is a staple in vintage photography collections and is widely reproduced as high-quality wall art and posters. 1 - Framed 39 1/2" X 27 1/2" under glass, This iconic photograph features Marilyn Monroe in a white fur coat, captured by the celebrated photographer Milton H. Greene during a 1955 session. Often titled "Marilyn in Mink," the image is a masterclass in soft-focus glamour, emphasizing Monroe's luminous skin and signature platinum blonde curls against a clean, high-key background. Greene was a close personal friend and collaborator of the actress, and this specific portrait is considered one of the most elegant and timeless depictions of her persona. It has since become a staple of pop culture, appearing frequently on fine art prints, collectible wine labels, and in the definitive photography book, Milton's Marilyn. And 1 - Framed 37 1/2" X 26 3/4" under glass, This iconic photograph, captured in 1955 by Ed Feingersh, depicts Marilyn Monroe in an intimate, candid moment as she prepares for a night out in New York City. The image shows her delicately dabbing Chanel N°5 perfume, a visual confirmation of her famous 1952 remark that she wore nothing to bed but a few drops of the scent. Her closed eyes and soft expression radiate a sense of private glamour and vulnerability that has made this shot one of the most enduring symbols of 20th-century celebrity culture

373	George Merritt Milton, American (1919–2005) Striking Pair of Mid-Century Modernist Portraits - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: Size: Both 14 1/2" X 21 1/2" Framed. This striking pair of mid-century modernist portraits showcases his signature "impasto" style, characterized by a heavy, sculptural texture on board. Rendered in a warm, earthy palette of ochres and burnt siennas, the compositions feature a woman with a vibrant red flower and a man in a classic white tank top, both depicted with the expressive, soulful quality Milton was known for during his tenure at Florida State University. Housed in their original period-correct golden "scoop" frames, these coordinated pieces serve as a balanced narrative set, representing a significant example of the 1950s–60s regional American art movement. Milton was a distinguished American artist, educator, and scholar who became a central figure in the mid-century art scene of Tallahassee, Florida. Born in Marianna, Florida, into a family with deep historical roots, he was a direct descendant of John Milton, Florida's governor during the Civil War. Education and Service Milton's diverse background included serving in the U.S. Air Force during World War II. He pursued a broad education, studying at: Alabama Polytechnic Institute (Auburn) Corcoran School of Art in Washington, D.C. Florida State University (FSU), where he later became a long-time faculty member. Professional Career Milton was a true polymath, balancing careers as an artist, anthropology professor, and museum curator.

388	3 Dominic Toming Cheng Acrylic on Silver Foil Paintings of Orchids and Egrets - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: Size: See Photos. Dominic Toming Cheng (born 1949) is a Chinese-American artist celebrated for his innovative "acrylic on silver foil" technique, a method he developed to create luminous, climate-resistant works. Born in Canton, his formal training began in Chinese painting at the Lingnan Art School, followed by degrees in Graphic Design from Hong Kong China University and Industrial Design from Hong Kong Polytechnic. This collection features three luminous works by the Chinese-American artist Dominic Toming Cheng, showcasing his signature "acrylic on silver foil" technique that blends traditional Lingnan School naturalism with modern industrial materials. White Egrets (Top Left): A serene depiction of two egrets amongst reeds. The silver foil base is used effectively here to create a shimmering, water-like depth in the background, making the white plumage of the birds appear to glow. Large Cattleya Orchid (Right): The centerpiece of the group, this painting captures a white orchid with a vibrant magenta throat. A small dragonfly rests on a nearby branch, adding a sense of momentary stillness. The reflective foil highlights the delicate, translucent quality of the petals. Small Cattleya Orchid (Bottom Left): A more intimate study of a single orchid, mirrored in style and color to the larger piece. The textured, dark background contrasts sharply with the bright white flower, emphasizing its organic form. Together, these pieces illustrate Cheng's focus on light and climate-resistant beauty, using the metallic leaf to ensure the colors remain vibrant and the "blank space" of the composition remains dynamic.

This classic piece of "Golden Era" Hi-Fi history. The Marantz 2238 is legendary among audiophiles for its signature "warm" analog sound and iconic blue-lit aesthetics. Delivering a conservative 38 Watts per channel into 8 ohms with an ultra-wide frequency response of 15Hz to 60kHz, this receiver provides incredible headroom and musicality that modern digital units simply cannot replicate. It features the famous weighted Gyro-Touch tuning wheel, a rare mid-range tone control for precise acoustic tailoring, and a high-quality built-in Phono stage for your turntable. Item Condition & Technical Notes Status: SOLD TO REFURBISH OR PARTS. The unit powers on, pulls in stations, and outputs are scratchy and in and out, needs a pro cleanig Cosmetic: Housed in the classic wood-grain case (as pictured) with the sought-after silver faceplate and balance slider. Service Recommendation: This is an "unmolested" vintage unit. While lighting up, it is a prime candidate for a professional cleaning (DeOxit) of the potentiometers and switches to eliminate typical age-related "scratchiness" and ensure long-term reliability. Potential: With a simple detailing or an LED bulb upgrade, this unit is a top-tier candidate to become a collector-grade showpiece. Vintage Electronics Disclaimer This is a vintage electronic device manufactured approximately 50 years ago. While the unit is currently fully operational and has been tested for basic functionality, please understand that vintage components like capacitors, transistors, and original lighting can be unpredictable and may fail without warning. To ensure the highest level of performance, a professional internal cleaning or calibration is recommended. This item is being sold "as-is" with no expressed or implied warranties. Please review all high-resolution photos carefully to assess cosmetic condition before purchasing.

This 11 1/4" round Firkin, Sugar Bucket, Early American Box is a ruggedly authentic 19th-century primitive pantry box that balances structural durability with meticulous handmade details. It features a unique material mix of brown ash staves, a heavy oak bottom, and a lightweight pine top. The flush-fitting lid is intentionally designed without a top knob, emphasizing its clean, utilitarian silhouette. Its most striking feature is the vertical seam secured by a tight line of copper brads spaced every 1/2", a reinforcement that provided the stability needed for storing heavy dry goods like sugar or salt. The sturdy oak swing handle rotates smoothly on dual-sided wood mushroom-peg pivots, completing a piece that is as much a work of early American engineering as it is a historic collectible.

411	Masterpiece Chinese Art Deco "Superwash" Rug A True Icon Of 20th-Century Design. - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: Size: 147"x108" This stunning, hand-knotted wool rug epitomizes the elegance of the Art Deco era, blending traditional Chinese craftsmanship with the sophisticated "Open Field" aesthetic popularized for the Western market. This piece features a breathtakingly subtle color story. The warm champagne/sand field provides a neutral, luminous base that makes the room feel expansive and airy. It is framed by a powder blue border and accented with delicate floral sprays in muted rose, jade green, and soft ochre. The minimalist composition, featuring classical Chinese vases and blossoms, offers a refined, "quiet luxury" look that complements both modern and traditional interiors. This rug has undergone the prestigious "Superwash" process—a specialized technique introduced in the 1920s to give high-end export wool a silky, lustrous sheen. Touch the wool is incredibly soft to the hand, offering a plush, velvety texture. The chemical wash gives the fibers a light-reflective quality, allowing the colors to shift beautifully depending on the light in your room. While soft, the high-quality wool remains resilient and easy to maintain. This vintage piece is exceptionally clean and well-preserved, with no visible stains or structural wear. Look closely to see the hand-carved "embossing" around the floral motifs, a hallmark of superior Chinese rug-making that adds a subtle three-dimensional depth to the design. Note the integrated fringe—a signature of genuine hand-knotted construction.

Bittner. - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: Size: 7 3/4" x 11 1/2" sight, framed 17 1/4" X 21" Under glass. Step into a world of island tranquility with this exquisite original watercolor by M. Bittner. Titled "Sugargate," this piece captures the soul of Bermudian coastal living, where architectural heritage meets the vibrant colors of the Atlantic. At the heart of the scene sits the charming "Sugargate" cottage, featuring the world-renowned stepped white roof and traditional limestone chimneys—a true hallmark of the island's history. Bittner masterfully blends the lush greens of tropical palms with a sudden burst of crimson bougainvillea, all set against the mesmerizing, multi-toned blue of the horizon. The sun-dappled sandy path draws the viewer inward, offering a "window to the sea" that brings a sense of light, air, and peace to any room. Professionally matted and housed in a classic wood-grain frame, this piece is a sophisticated addition to a coastal-themed gallery or a refined office space.

436	Antique Late-19th Century Concert Roller Organ With 9 Holly Roller Cobs - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: Size: 18" W X 12 1/2" T X 15" D. 17 lbs 13 oz with extra rolls. Working sold as is no warranty expressed or implied, Concert Roller Organ, manufactured by the Autophone Company in the late 19th century, is a hand-cranked musical instrument that operates on a reed system similar to a harmonica. It plays music using interchangeable wooden rollers, or "cobs," which feature small brass pins that trigger the internal keys as they rotate. The user turns the crank to simultaneously pump the internal bellows for airflow and spin the roller, while the glazed glass door allows for a clear view of the mechanical movement. These tabletop organs were highly popular for home entertainment in the 1880s and 1890s and are now sought after by collectors for their distinctive gilt-stenciled walnut cases and nostalgic mechanical sound.

439	WOW! 30 Gallon Red Wing Pat Dec. 21st 1915 Salt Glaze Crock - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: Heavy. Size: 30 Gallon. This rare 30-gallon Red Wing Union Stoneware crock is a titan of American craftsmanship, standing an impressive 25 inches tall and 22 inches wide. Dating between 1915 and the mid-1930s, its standout feature is the December 21, 1915, patent date, which specifically marks the era of the company's iconic wire and wood bail handles. While its massive scale makes it a premier statement piece, its condition is what truly sets it apart; having only a single penny-sized glaze pop—a common kiln characteristic—it remains in excellent collector-grade condition without the structural hairline cracks that often plague such heavy pieces. Featuring the classic "large wing" logo and crisp blue typography, this investment-grade antique is a soulful link to Minnesota's potting heritage.

451	Grouping Of 18th - 19th Century Indo-Persian Artifacts - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: 12 Lbs. 11.5 Oz. Size: This exceptional 18th-19th century Indo-Persian Tabarzin (battle axe) is a sophisticated example of Islamic metalwork, likely originating from the Qajar or Sind regions. The piece features a classic crescent-shaped steel blade balanced by a square hammer-poll, both intricately decorated with fine, deep engravings. Notably, the blade displays an asymmetric design: one face is adorned with a delicate motif of birds amidst foliage, while the reverse features dense floral scrolls and arabesques. The artistic prestige of this weapon is further elevated by calligraphy on both sides of the blade and the top of the hammer, typically featuring divine invocations or royal titles. Mounted on a hollow-iron tubular haft for optimal balance and durability, this axe represents a masterfully crafted combination of a functional weapon and a high-status ceremonial object. 1 - striking 18th-19th century Indo-Persian Nagan (serpentine) sword measures 34 inches in total length with a 29-inch "flamed" blade designed to resemble a striking snake. A true collector's piece, the blade features exceptional hand-crafted detail, including a prominent brass-inlay crowned figure on the primary side and a deeply engraved female figure surrounded by traditional floral motifs on the reverse. The decorated all-steel hilt is authentically secured with copper rivets, adding a rugged historical character to this high-status weapon. Combining the symbolic power of the serpent blade with the refined artistry of Mughal or Qajar-style metalwork, this sword is a superb example of 19th-century regional craftsmanship and a standout addition to any collection of Islamic or Indian arms. Magnificent 19th century Indo-Mughal tinned copper vessel is a masterpiece of Islamic metalwork, standing an impressive 9" tall with a substantial 8" wide base. Its surface is a rich tapestry of hand-etched figural scenes and elegant calligraphic bands, showcasing the sophisticated artistry of the Qajar or Mamluk Revival era. The vessel's authentic aged patina and traditional "silvered" tinning highlight the incredible depth of the chiseled engravings, making it a commanding centerpiece for any collection of antique orientalist art. Whether displayed as a monumental storage jar or a high-end jardinière, this piece offers a rare combination of historical significance, artisanal craftsmanship, and timeless decorative appeal. 461	Working 1950s Mid Century Modern 10k Rolled Gold Benrus Jump Hour Dial-O-Rama Wrist Watch - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: Size: Working sold as is no warranty expressed or implied. This working 1950s Benrus Dial-O-Rama (Serial #263199) is a standout specimen of Mid-Century Modern horology, distinguished by a rare full 10K rolled gold plate case that includes the caseback, rather than the standard stainless steel. It remains in very nice used condition, featuring the iconic "mechanical digital" jump hour display and a "mystic" rotating center seconds disc powered by a 17-jewel Swiss manual-wind movement. Adding to its collector appeal, the watch is fitted with its original gold-filled Kreisler bracelet, maintaining its authentic 1957 space-age aesthetic even without the original presentation box. The sharp edges of the case and the functional "jump" of the hour disc make this serial-numbered piece a prime example of the "direct-read" era of American watchmaking.

This mechanical timepiece is defined by its unique six-sided (hexagonal) gold-plated case, which houses a high-quality manual-wind movement featuring 21 jewels for enhanced precision and durability. The striking black dial is accented by elegant gold-toned Arabic numeral markers and matching slender hands, creating a high-contrast, sophisticated look. Adding to its functional appeal is a dedicated date window positioned at 3 o'clock, a hallmark of Slava's commitment to practical everyday wear. 1 - Jaquet-Girard Superautomatic is a classic representative of Swiss watchmaking from the 1970s, characterized by its retro-industrial aesthetic and robust mechanical design. It features a distinctive cushion-shaped stainless steel case with a vertically brushed finish and an integrated bracelet, a style that was highly popular during that era. The "Superautomatic" designation on the dial indicates a self-winding mechanical movement, while the Day-Date complication at the 3 o'clock position adds practical everyday utility. 1- 1950s Wittnauer "Diamond Dial" wristwatch features a classic rectangular tank-style case crafted from 10K gold filled metal. Its elegant black dial is detailed with genuine diamond hour markers, at the 12, 3, and 9 o'clock position and a dedicated small-seconds sub-dial at the 6 o'clock mark. Powered by a high-grade 17-jewel Swiss manual-wind Revue 73 movement, these timepieces represent the mid-century transition from Art Deco to modern dress watch aesthetics. His parents were Vaudeville performers, and he spent most of his young life traveling on tour with them. During his teenage years, he went to New York's High School of Music & Art in Harlem. At 18, he ran away with his high school sweetheart, fellow artist Jennie Tomao. Before pursuing art, Bragg worked as a cow driver, a truck driver, a stand-up comedian, and a factory worker. He eventually settled in California, where he began his artistic career. He started by painting portraits of wealthy families, as well as offering lessons. He began to pursue his own creative work and experienced some success. His success came from the humor and satirical style of his work, which often portrayed flaws in American society. His political opinions are featured in his work. Bragg has referred to himself as a "devoted student of the human race" and an "observer." Bragg's works have been showcased in museums and exhibits around the world, and he has had work commissioned by Playboy magazine. In 1986, PBS made a documentary about him called "Charles Bragg - One of a Kind." One of Bragg's lithographs, The Screen Goddess, is featured prominently in the opening scene of the 1992 Robert Altman film, The Player.

Capture a piece of Philippine art history with this original 1974 oil on canvas by the celebrated Salvador Cabrera (1930–1986). A quintessential example of his iconic "Big Eye" style, this titled work, "Little Girl," features the soulful gaze and impressionistic floral details that made Cabrera a cornerstone of 20th-century Filipino portraiture. This investment-grade piece comes housed in its original period frame and is fully authenticated by a Certificate of Authenticity (COA) from the House of Frames Art Gallery, ensuring its provenance and value for any serious collector of Southeast Asian art. This original oil on canvas is in excellent vintage condition, maintaining its vibrant, warm-toned palette. The impasto (textured) brushwork characteristic of Salvador Cabrera remains thick and stable across the figure and the floral bouquet. The canvas shows appropriate tension for its age with no sagging or warping. Surface Analysis: Close inspection reveals a fine, natural craquelure pattern consistent with 1970s oil pigments, which serves as a secondary mark of authenticity for works from this period. There are no visible signs of paint loss, flaking, or previous restoration.

Walter Dendy Sadler was born in Dorking in 1854 and studied at Heatherley's Art School in London and in Dusseldorf. Sadler was particularly interested in depicting life during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries and, in particular, during the time of King George IV. Of particular note is the exact manner in which he treated furniture, costume and accessories, showing himself to be a connoisseur of these items. He achieved great popularity during his lifetime, with many of his paintings being interpreted as engravings, and he exhibited frequently at The Royal Academy and around London. In 1896 he moved to St. Ives, Cornwall, where he lived until his death in 1923. - see photos for details and conditions

A true conversation piece, this vintage treasure captures the playful elegance of mid-century design, featuring a luminous, wide-brimmed shade topped with a delicate, translucent floral accent and vibrant green leaves. Because it is crafted from genuine alabaster, the stone emits a warm, ethereal glow when lit, highlighting the natural veining and artisanal craftsmanship that makes each piece unique. Whether it's anchoring a bedside table or adding a whimsical "Hollywood Regency" flair to your living room, this rare Italian import is more than just lighting—it's a sculptural work of art that brings timeless European charm to any modern interior.

Charles Bragg (1931-2017) was born in St. Louis, Missouri, in 1931. His parents were Vaudeville performers, and he spent most of his young life traveling on tour with them. During his teenage years, he went to New York's High School of Music & Art in Harlem. At 18, he ran away with his high school sweetheart, fellow artist Jennie Tomao. Before pursuing art, Bragg worked as a cow driver, a truck driver, a stand-up comedian, and a factory worker. He eventually settled in California, where he began his artistic career. He started by painting portraits of wealthy families, as well as offering lessons. He began to pursue his own creative work and experienced some success. His success came from the humor and satirical style of his work, which often portrayed flaws in American society. His political opinions are featured in his work. Bragg has referred to himself as a "devoted student of the human race" and an "observer." Bragg's works have been showcased in museums and exhibits around the world, and he has had work commissioned by Playboy magazine. In 1986, PBS made a documentary about him called "Charles Bragg - One of a Kind." One of Bragg's lithographs, The Screen Goddess, is featured prominently in the opening scene of the 1992 Robert Altman film, The Player.

570	Solid Brass / Bronze USSR Soviet Era Maritime Ships Bell - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: 14 lbs 13 Oz. Size: 8" Wide X 8 1/2" Tall This Soviet-era maritime bell is a robust, sand-cast brass instrument weighing approximately 14 lbs 13 oz, typical of the standardized equipment used by the USSR's merchant and naval fleets. The Cyrillic markings identify it through a formal industrial classification: "BEC 55" (Bec 55) represents its specific model size or weight class, while the "OPH 815 01947" sequence serves as a Ministry of the Sea and River Fleet inventory or stock number. The "ПЛ" prefix likely denotes the specific foundry where it was cast, followed by its unique serial number, 1481. Featuring an 8-inch diameter and a traditional hand braided knot lanyard, this bell was a functional tool for timekeeping and signaling at sea, built to endure the harsh conditions of Soviet maritime operations during the mid-to-late 20th century.

This is a British Royal Navy Pattern 183 (Patt. 0183) binnacle compass, a rugged piece of maritime equipment widely used during World War II, particularly on lifeboats and smaller vessels. Crafted from heavy brass to prevent magnetic interference, the binnacle acts as a protective housing for the delicate magnetic compass suspended on internal gimbals, which allow it to remain level despite the ship's movement. The boxy attachment on the side is a lamp housing designed to hold an oil burner or candle, providing essential illumination for the navigator at night. Identified by its specific serial number (13183HS), this instrument represents a standard of naval engineering meant to withstand the corrosive saltwater environments of the open sea.

This curated collection offers a captivating journey through global history and folk traditions, anchored by a rare reverse glass engraving of the 1828 John Hill scene of the United States Military Academy at West Point. This sophisticated verre églomisé technique—where the image is meticulously applied to the back of a glass pane—gives the historical Americana a luminous, gem-like depth that is significantly rarer than standard paper prints. Complementing this centerpiece are vibrant, hand-painted treasures, including an intricate Moroccan Atlas cedar storage chest and a rare, large-scale 1960s Swedish Dala Rooster. From the whimsical, mid-century Tray by Couroc, Lucite "Canadian Goose" paperweight, Bovano enameled pin trays, hand carved stone animals to the classic glass-and-silver plated hip flask, each piece provides a unique interplay of textures and stories. Perfectly balanced for immediate display, this lot is an ideal acquisition for any collector seeking a sophisticated blend of rare historical art, Scandinavian design, and international craftsmanship
598	Dominic Toming Cheng (born 1949 Acrylic on Silver Foil Owl Painting - 388 Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: Size: 34 1/2" X 28 1/2" Framed. Cheng is a Chinese-American artist celebrated for his innovative "acrylic on silver foil" technique, a method he developed to create luminous, climate-resistant works. Born in Canton, his formal training began in Chinese painting at the Lingnan Art School, followed by degrees in Graphic Design from Hong Kong China University and Industrial Design from Hong Kong Polytechnic. This evocative painting by Dominic Toming Cheng showcases his signature "acrylic on silver foil" technique, blending traditional Chinese bird-and-flower motifs with a modern, textured aesthetic. A luminous, stylized owl with expressive, wind-swept plumage sits at the center, its pale form contrasting sharply against a vibrant, mosaic-like background of deep teals, burnt oranges, and golden speckles. The use of silver foil beneath the paint adds a metallic depth, making the large, pale moon and the scattered autumnal leaves appear to glow from within. Framed in a heavy, ornate gold Baroque-style frame, the piece balances the delicate precision of the owl's features with a rich, impasto-heavy environment, creating a sense of mystical stillness.

600	Vostok "Komandirskie" 8-Day Russian Navy Submarine Clock - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: 6 lbs. Size: 9" With Wall Mount, Dial 6". This mechanical, 8-day winding naval clock features the robust Vostok movement originally engineered for the Soviet Navy and is operated by using a specialized heavy-duty key to unscrew the side bolt and open the hinged glass face. To power the movement, the key is inserted into the central arbor and wound; while it can run for over a week, it is best wound every seven days to maintain the highest accuracy. Although the dial is marked with the historical "Сделано в СССР" (Made in USSR) insignia, the presence of an official "Made in Russia" paper tag identifies this specific unit as a post-1991 production piece, likely from the early-to-mid 1990s transition period when the factory utilized existing Soviet-style components.

603	George Milton (1919–2005) American "Man In White Sweater" - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: Size: 22 1/2" X 18 1/2" Framed. This mid-century modernist portrait is a textured, expressionistic character study of a man, likely a jockey or harlequin, wearing a patterned cap and a heavy, ribbed turtleneck. Executed with Milton's signature "crusty" impasto technique, the painting features a muted palette of ochres and creams that makes the subject's piercing blue eyes particularly striking. Faint, architectural line drawings in the background add a sense of layered complexity to the composition, a common hallmark of Milton's work as both an artist and an anthropology professor. The piece captures a sense of quiet, mid-century melancholy, typical of the figurative "types"—such as matadors and monks—that Milton frequently explored throughout his career. Milton was a distinguished American artist, educator, and scholar who became a central figure in the mid-century art scene of Tallahassee, Florida. Born in Marianna, Florida, into a family with deep historical roots, he was a direct descendant of John Milton, Florida's governor during the Civil War. Education and Service Milton's diverse background included serving in the U.S. Air Force during World War II. He pursued a broad education, studying at: Alabama Polytechnic Institute (Auburn) Corcoran School of Art in Washington, D.C. Florida State University (FSU), where he later became a long-time faculty member. Professional Career Milton was a true polymath, balancing careers as an artist, anthropology professor, and museum curator.

700	Worcester Firefighting Memorabilia - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: Size: This unique collector's set captures over a century of heritage from the Worcester Fire Department (WFD). The centerpiece is an antique, 90% silver Seated Liberty Half Dollar (minted 1839–1891) featuring the heraldic eagle back and flat polished front professionally engraved with "Hose 6 WFD Worcester"—a rare station token from the department's early horse-drawn era. Complementing the coin is an antique leather utility belt with bold "Chief" panel - it is missing the decorative buckle disc but retains the original, ring part of the buckle, used by 19th-century firefighters. Rounding out the collection is a vintage 50-star American flag, symbolizing the department's continued service into the modern era. Together, these artifacts offer a rare, multi-generational tribute to the bravery and history of the Worcester fire service.
701	US Government Chelsea Clock Co. Boston Black Bake-O-Lite Case Ships Clock - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: 3 lbs 3 oz. Size: 6" Dial. Working sold as is no warranty expressed or implied. Ser # 841603 Model 12EI-1998. This is a Chelsea Clock Company mechanical ship's clock, specifically a Model 12E (indicated by "12EI"). Based on its serial number 841603, it was manufactured in 1976. Clock Details Model: 12E (8-day, jeweled movement). Case Material: Black phenolic resin, commonly known as Bakelite. This material was originally adopted during WWII to conserve brass for the war effort. Identification: The "12EI-1998" likely refers to a government contract or part specification rather than the year of manufacture, as the serial number sequence confirms a 1970s production date. Design Features: Designed to be watertight with a screw-down bezel and rubber gasket. Features a "micrometer" worm gear regulator for speed adjustment, typically located near the 2:30 position on the dial. Used extensively by the U.S. Navy in engine rooms and on decks. These clocks were standard equipment on thousands of Navy vessels, earning the company the Army-Navy "E" award for excellence.

708	Artimino Hand Blwon Italian Art Glass Bird On Nest Bowl - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: 9 lbs 8 oz. Size: 8 3/4" T X 10 1/2" Wide. This Artimino hand-blown glass sculpture is a signature piece created in Italy, where the brand's collection of decorative bird nest bowls is produced. Known for their whimsical and vibrant designs, these pieces typically feature a trio of multi-colored birds—such as the red, pale green, and bright green ones seen here—meticulously perched on the scalloped rim of a thick, honey-colored amber glass bowl. The creation process involves traditional glassblowing techniques where each bird is individually shaped with distinct details, like the characteristic black beaks and textured wings, making every bowl a one-of-a-kind art object. These Italian-made creations serve as elegant centerpieces that blend nature-inspired themes with a modern, colorful aesthetic.

710	Mid Century Modern Brass Table With A Collection Of Asian Estate Items - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: 31lbs 8 oz. Size: 30" Round. Elevate your interior with this exceptional 1960s Hong Kong-crafted brass tray table, a masterclass in Mid-Century Modern versatility and traditional Asian artistry. The commanding 30-inch heavy brass top is intricately hand-etched with floral and avian motifs, centered by the iconic "Fu" symbol for good fortune and blessings. Resting on a sculptural, dark-stained hardwood spider-leg base with elegant brass finial tips, the table offers a unique dual-function design: the scalloped "pie crust" tray is fully removable for use as a grand serving platter or a striking wall-hanging charger. Whether featured as a bohemian coffee table or a sophisticated side piece, its collapsible frame and authentic vintage patina make it a rare, practical, and highly collectible treasure for any curated home.

711	Santa Maria Atzompa 35" Oaxacan Folk Art Planter & - Click for Shipping Quote or Free Local Pick Up - Weight: Size: 35" T X 1- 35-inch tall sculpture is a significant example of Mexican folk art, specifically the large-scale clay "muñecas" (dolls) originating from Santa María Atzompa, Oaxaca. Hand-crafted using the traditional "pastillaje" technique—where decorative elements like the braided hair, leaf necklace, and rope textures are applied piece by piece to the surface—this figure serves as both a decorative art piece and a functional planter. Its size and style are hallmarks of renowned artistic lineages such as the Teodora Blanco or Vásquez Cruz families, who are famous for creating these monumental terracotta figures that celebrate the traditional dress and daily life of Oaxacan women. 1- 11" tall, Austin Prod. Inc. 1981 Statue of Young Girl With Horse. Both one money.
