The Season

LENT is the period of time to reflect on the events that led Jesus to Calvary. For some, Lent is the time of fasting, sacrifice and preparation. The purple background symbolizes royalty, praying, fasting and penitence. The gold found in the fringe, denotes worth, virtue, glory to God and Christian might. Each symbol used points to Jesus' suffering.

THE PASSION CROSS—This is a Latin cross that has pointed ends on each arm and expresses pain. It represents the painful suffering that Jesus endured on the cross. It is sometimes called the cross of agony or suffering.

CROWN OF THORNS—Symbolized the mockery of Jesus by the soldiers after Jesus was arrested. It indicates the Kingship of Jesus Christ and Jesus' suffering at the hands of the Jews. It also notes the cruelty of humans toward each other.

HAMMER AND NAILS—These are symbols of the brutal crucifixion of Jesus on Mount Calvary as Jesus' hands and feet were nailed to the cross. They also serve as a reminder that Jesus possessed a human nature that experienced pain, as well as a divine nature.

THE HYMN OF PRAISE

“Down At the Cross” #161

Down at the cross where my Sav-ior died, Down where for cleans-ing from sin I cried, There to my heart was the blood ap-plied; Glo-ry to His Name.

(Refrain)

I am so won-drous-ly saved from sin, Je-sus so sweet-ly a-bides with-in; There at the cross where He took me in; Glo-ry to His Name.

(Refrain)

Oh, pre-cious foun-tain that saves from sin, I am so glad I have en-tered in; There Je-sus saves me and keeps me clean; Glo-ry to His Name.

(Refrain)

Come to this foun-tain so rich and sweet, Cast thy poor soul at the Sav-ior’s feet; Plunge in to-day, and be made com-plete; Glo-ry to His Name.

(Refrain)

REFRAIN

Glo-ry to His Name, Glo-ry to His Name: There to my heart was the blood ap-plied; Glo-ry to His Name!

A-men.

THE RESPONSIVE READING

YACM Responsive Reading Litany

(Inspired by Habakkuk 2:14)

A new day dawns, and we remember the promise of God's fullness across the world.

The earth will one day shine with the knowledge of God's presence.

Where confusion or fear once ruled.

God's truth will spread like rising waters.

Where injustice has lingered.

God's glory will flow and cover every place.

When we grow weary in our work and witness.

We hold to the vision of God filling all creation.

Let us walk with hope, rooted in the promise of divine renewal .

For the world will be saturated with God's goodness and wisdom.

May our lives reflect that coming reality.

And may we join in God's work until the whole earth knows God's glory.

Sick and Shut-in

Please Pray for the sick and those who care for them.

Heal me Lord, and I will be healed. Save me and I will be saved....

The Historical Legacy of the Divine Nine

Black Greek-letter organizations (BGLOs) emerged during a period that is characterized as a low point in American race relations. These associations were established on the principles of personal excellence, racial uplift, community service, civic action and kinship. Their emergence coincided with significant national developments, including the rise of Jim Crow laws, the popularity of scientific racism, and widespread racial violence and prejudice.

Black students, whether studying at historically Black colleges and universities (HBCUs) or predominantly white institutions, came together to create these organizations, forging familial ties to one another and outreach within the larger Black community. Those kinships and ties endure to this day. BGLOs formed at a time when Greek life at predominantly white institutions excluded Black students.

Alpha Phi Alpha—Alpha Phi Alpha stands as the sole Black Greek-letter organization founded at an Ivy League institution—Cornell University. Amidst a campus marked by segregation and social isolation for Black students, a troublingly low retention rate prompted the remaining individuals to form a support and study group.

On December 4, 1906, seven young Black men, aspiring to foster a brotherhood, laid the foundation for the fraternity. Their founding principles encompassed personal excellence, kinship, racial uplift via community service, civic engagement and philanthropy. Operating without precedent for Black students on campus, they forged an organization using secret societies as a support framework.

Alpha Kappa Alpha—Established on January 15, 1908, at Howard University, Alpha Kappa Alpha emerged as the first Greek-letter organization founded by Black college women. Ethel Hedgeman Lyle, a Howard student, aspired to create a supportive network for women sharing similar goals—to uplift one another and leverage their talents for the greater good. Collaborating with several other women, Lyle initiated the drafting of a constitution and finalized the official name, motto and colors. Unlike prior challenges with campus administrators, the group's acceptance as a recognized campus organization encountered no delays, leading to the group's official formation in 1908.

Kappa Alpha Psi—Most Black Greek-letter fraternities trace their origins to Howard University. However, Kappa Alpha Psi is one of a few BGLOs that emerged among Black students at predominantly white universities. Elder Watson Diggs and Byron Kenneth Armstrong, who had forged a friendship at Howard, found themselves at Indiana University, where they confronted the stark realities of Black life. Discrimination, inadequate social services and meager representation left Black students socially isolated within a campus environment. They were denied access to recreational and entertainment facilities. Diggs rallied nine fellow Black men and established Alpha Omega as an interim fraternity, a precursor to a permanent organization. On January 5, 1911, this group birthed a new fraternity on campus, called Kappa Alpha Nu, which attained national recognition on May 15, 1911.

Omega Psi Phi—With the formation of the first Black fraternity in 1906 at Cornell University, three students wanted to create something that Howard University could have of its own. At Howard, three students - Edgar Love, Frank Coleman, and Oscar Cooper - along with the assistance of biology Professor Ernest Just, established a new fraternity called Omega Psi Phi on November 17, 1911.

Delta Sigma Theta—Delta Sigma Theta emerged from a division within Alpha Kappa Alpha (AKA) as members expressed dissatisfaction with the organization's limited focus on campus affairs. Some members wanted to pivot towards addressing broader issues like public service and women's advancement. This desire to reform extended to establishing a national organization and altering the society's activities, accompanied by a name change that reflected their purpose. They also aimed to modify symbols, colors and adopt a more politically-oriented stance.

Phi Beta Sigma—While Phi Beta Sigma originated at Howard University, its conception sprouted in Memphis, Tennessee. In the summer of 1910, A. Langston Taylor, a high school student, encountered a Howard alum who not only regaled him with tales of campus life, but also shared insights about Greek fraternities. This encounter seeded the idea of forming a new organization. Taylor, along with his former college roommate Leonard Morse and fellow Howard student Charles I. Brown, convened to establish the official organization in a Washington, D.C. YMCA, with Taylor assuming the inaugural role of national president. It took university deans three months to grant recognition to this nascent fraternity, which was founded on January 9, 1914.

Zeta Phi Beta—Charles Taylor, a member of Phi Beta Sigma, approached Howard student Arizona Cleaver about her interest in forming a sister organization. Despite the presence of two sororities on Howard's campus, Cleaver believed there was room for another one. Following discussions, a meeting convened with 14 individuals, resulting in five members venturing to establish a new organization. Zeta Phi Beta swiftly obtained approval for Howard, marking the campus' third Black sorority on January 16, 1920.

Sigma Gamma Rho—Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority, Inc., was founded on November 12, 1922, at Butler University in Indianapolis, Indiana, by seven educators: Mary Lou Allison Gardner Little, Dorothy Hanley Whiteside, Vivian White Marbury, Nannie Mae Gahn Johnson, Hattie Mae Annette Dulin Redford, Bessie Mae Downey Rhoades Martin and Cubena McClure.

Iota Phi Theta—Iota Phi Theta was established on September 19, 1963, at Morgan State University in Baltimore, Maryland, marking the final addition to the National Pan-Hellenic Council. Founded amidst the civil rights movement by twelve men, most of whom were non-traditional students, the group dedicated itself to social service. These founding members had long friendships and associations, However, due to their advanced ages, recruiting undergraduates as members posed a challenge.
