The Season of Pentecost

Pentecost is the birthday of the Christian Church and reveals the descent or outpouring of the Holy Spirit on the believers in the Upper Room. Pentecost is sometimes referred to as Whitsunday referring either to the wearing of white robes by candidates for baptism or to the old Anglo-Saxon word "wit" meaning wisdom — an allusion to the outpouring of the Spirit of Wisdom. To the Christian, Pentecost means the Church's birthday that is celebrated on the fiftieth day after Easter. Acts 2 gives the record of the day when the Holy Spirit came upon the Disciples and they began to speak in tongues preaching Christ as the risen Lord. Three thousand persons were baptized into the Christian faith at that time.

The day of Pentecost also occurs fifty days after the Passover. In the Jewish faith, this is the Feast of Weeks that commemorates the day on which Moses received the law on top of Mount Sinai. Tradition states that the early Christians observed Pentecost by shooting fire from the roof of the church to represent "the tongues of fire" that rested on the Disciples. Often this was not practical, so doves were collected and released during the worship service.

The liturgical color is red which is symbolic of the Holy Spirit, witness, zeal, power, loyalty and love. Prominent symbols include cloven tongues of fire, the descending dove, and a downward arrow. The Christian Church is often represented by using a ship or a rainbow (denotes the fulfillment of a promise). As Pentecost is celebrated, one should reflect on the coming of the Comforter (Holy Spirit) to the Disciples, and the power and miracles that resulted due to this coming, plus the need to allow the spirit to embody and empower persons today.

THE HYMN OF PRAISE

"I Love To Tell The Story" #389

I love to tell the sto-ry Of un-seen things a-bove, Of Je-sus and His glo-ry, Of Je-sus and His love, I love to tell the sto-ry, Because I know 'tis true; It sat-is-fies my long-ings As no-thing else can do. (Refrain)

I love to tell the sto-ry; More won-der-ful it seems Than all the golden fan-cies Of all our gold-en dreams. I love to tell the sto-ry, It did so much for me; And that is just the rea-son I tell it now to thee. (Refrain)

I love to tell the sto-ry; 'tis plea-sant to re-peat What seems, each time I tell it, more won-der-ful-ly sweet. I love to tell the sto-ry, For some have nev-er heard The mes-sage of sal-va-tion From God's own ho-ly Word. (Refrain)

I love to tell the story, For those who know it best Seem hun-gering and thirst-ing To hear it like the rest. And when, in scenes of glory, I sing the new, new song, 'Twill be the old, old story That I have loved so long. (Refrain)

REFRAIN

I love to tell the sto-ry, 'Twill be my theme in glo-ry, To tell the old, old sto-ry Of Je-sus and His love.

A-men.

THE RESPONSIVE READING

Ninth Sunday Morning after Pentecost

(Acts 28:16-20, 23-24, 30-31)

Now when we came to Rome, the centurion delivered the prisoners to the captain of the guard; but Paul was permitted to dwell by himself with the soldier who guarded him.

And it came to pass after three days that Paul called the leaders of the Jews together.

So when they had come together, he said to them: "Men and brethren, though I have done nothing against our people or the customs of our fathers, yet I was delivered as a prisoner from Jerusalem into the hands of the Romans.

"Who, when they had examined me, wanted to let me go, because there was no cause for putting me to death."

"But when the Jews spoke against it, I was compelled to appeal to Caesar, not that I had anything of which to accuse my nation."

"For this reason therefore I have called for you, to see you and speak with you, because for the hope of Israel I am bound with this chain."

So when they had appointed him a day, many came to him at his lodging, to whom he explained and solemnly testified of the kingdom of God.

Persuading them concerning Jesus from both the Law of Moses and the Prophets, from morning till evening. And some were persuaded by the things which were spoken, and some disbelieved.

Then Paul dwelt two whole years in his own rented house, and received all who came to him.

Preaching the kingdom of God and teaching the things which concern the Lord Jesus Christ with all confidence, no one forbidding him.

The North Carolina Department of Health and Human Services is urging all unvaccinated North Carolinians to get a COVID-19 vaccine as cases, hospitalizations and deaths have been inching up across the state. North Carolina's early warning systems are showing more people going to the emergency department with COVID-like illness and elevated viral levels in wastewater in certain regions of the state.

At the same time, the more infectious and potentially more dangerous Delta variant is rapidly spreading in North Carolina and across the country. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention classified the Delta variant as a "variant of concern" because it spreads faster than current COVID-19 variants, and early studies have also shown a possible increased risk of hospitalization in people infected with the Delta variant.

"Don't wait to vaccinate. Serious illness, hospitalization, death and the long-term effects experienced by many who have had COVID-19 are preventable with vaccines," said NCDHHS Secretary Mandy K. Cohen, M.D. "Protect yourself and those you love by getting vaccinated now."

Since May, more than 99% of new cases in North Carolina have occurred in people who are not fully vaccinated. Getting a COVID-19 vaccine is easy and safe. Vaccines are proven to be effective against COVID-19 and its variants. More than 150 million Americans have been safely vaccinated are protected from COVID-19 related hospitalization and death. North Carolinians can go to MySpot.nc.gov to find a vaccine location.

"Vaccines remain the best protection against COVID-19, including against the Delta variant," said State Epidemiologist Dr. Zack Moore. "Nationwide, more than 50% of new cases are now caused by the Delta variant, and the number of Delta variant cases is rapidly increasing in North Carolina."

While the state's trends are far below where they were at the height of the pandemic, cases increased by 12% the week ending on July 3 compared to the previous seven days, and hospitalizations have increased by 8% over the past seven days. The state's sampling of wastewater treatment plants also shows recent increasing of viral particles in four locations since June 24.

Those who have not yet received their COVID-19 vaccines must continue to practice the 3 W's – wearing a mask, waiting six feet from others and washing hands often – to protect themselves, their families and their communities from the virus. People should also seek testing for COVID-19 if they develop COVID-like symptoms or if they have not yet been vaccinated and are exposed to someone who has COVID-19.

The Pfizer COVID-19 vaccine has been authorized for children over the age of 12, and NCDHHS has provided safety guidelines for schools to keep children safe, in addition to mask requirements in schools and other specific settings. K-12 public schools can also participate in the COVID-19 Rapid Testing in Schools Program to provide on-site testing at no cost to parents, staff or the district.

Internship at the Yale Center

The Yale Center for Clinical Investigation (YCCI), in collaboration with our Yale Cultural Ambassadors, is offering a new voluntary summer research internship pilot program, that will provide the opportunity for highly motivated high school, undergraduate, and professional students to work with and learn from a multidisciplinary team of scientists, including internationally renowned investigators. However, this year's pilot will focus on the areas of technology, mobile apps, patient engagement, disparities, and data science in health care. This year all the interns will be trained and will work and learn remotely. The primary aim of our internship program is to train and prepare youth with diverse backgrounds and interest to become future leaders in the realm of clinical and translational research. Interns will attend weekly seminars. Interns, together with their mentors, will each develop an independent research project or participate in a group project to be completed by the end of the internship and present results of the independent/group research project during the second half of the internship period at a virtual YCCI Research Meeting. Interested students should contact Dr. Sonya Campbell immediately at 704 858-4601.
