OBITUARY

Margaret (Marg) Rose Cummins
(née Storm, formerly Wind, formerly Enns)
July 9, 1936 – May 2, 2026

Margaret Rose Cummins passed away in Toronto on May 2, 2026, at the age of 89.

Born on July 9, 1936, in Stevensville, Marg entered the world as one of thirteen children born to George and Isabelle Storm: a beginning that all but guaranteed a life of noise, motion, competition, and resilience. And resilience would become one of Marg's defining traits.

Marg lived a life marked by grit, perseverance, and strong feeling. She was not a woman of half-measures. She loved deeply, complained constantly, laughed loudly, and rarely occupied the quiet middle ground of indifference. To know Margaret was to know conviction. She left an impression, sometimes sharp, often memorable, always unmistakably her own.

She was predeceased by her first husband, John Enns, in 1967, a loss that altered the course of her young life, and later by her third husband Gord Cummins, who passed in 2008.

Margaret is survived by her children: John (Annette) Enns-Wind, Lisa Enns (Bruce Hoffer), Joy Adams, and Janet (Scott) Wingeat. She was grandmother to John (Renée), Joshua, Austin, Tori, Autumn, Kelsey, Braeden, and Kellen. Through them, her story continues: carried in memory, mannerism, and the mysterious inheritance of temperament.

Marg spent much of her adult life in Newcastle where she raised her family and built a home life: meals, work, bills, school days, winters, and all the invisible labour that makes a home. Later, she moved to Oshawa, where she continued a working life that reflected her practical spirit and care for others.

She wore many hats over the years: school bus driver, charter bus driver, and care aide in a nursing home. In each role, she carried people: sometimes literally, sometimes through care and companionship. Even after retirement, she continued serving others by driving seniors to their appointments, offering dignity in the act of helping someone get where they needed to go.

Marg understood life as it is, not as we wish it to be. Perhaps that is why her favourite phrase, offered in moments both large and small, was: "What can you say?" It was not surrender, but a recognition that life brings joy and sorrow in unequal measure, and wisdom often lies in carrying on anyway.

Marg's life, like most honest lives, was not simple. It held love and fracture, closeness and distance, reunion and estrangement. Families are rarely tidy at the edges. But they are bound together by shared memories, and Marg remains written into them.

In the end, perhaps the measure of a life is not in perfection, but in presence, in having been fully, unmistakably oneself in the company of others. Mom was exactly that. After all, what can you say?
