A Computer In the Bathroom

Hi. I've recently had a recurring dream that I go to the bathroom, but once I walk through the bathroom door, there are people casually hanging out, just sitting around, talking, and the room is decorated with chairs and tables and whatever else. The last one, there was a TV that everyone was watching. There were two toilets smack dab in the middle of the room, and since I really had to go, I pulled my pants down and sat on the seat in one swift motion to try to keep modest, but one of the people signaled to me that I needed to pull my shirt down to better cover myself. These were people that I know and am in almost daily contact with, by the way. Once I had already sat down, but before I had started going to the bathroom, I turned around and noticed that they were all disgusted with me and pointed to a part of the room I hadn't noticed before, with another set of doors with signs for the bathrooms. I then walk into the women's bathroom (and I'm a girl, so that's no problem) and once I get in there, there are private stalls for the toilets, but there's a computer that distracts me and I start working on it. Then I woke up. Please help me understand! Thank You, Lindsey

Hi Lindsey,

Thank you for sharing your dream with us. To dream that you are in a restroom with a lot of people around while you are trying to do your business signifies your frustrations about getting enough privacy. You are always putting others ahead of your own needs. As a result, you are lacking a sense of personal space. Your dream also suggests that you are having difficulties letting go of old emotions. You are afraid that if you reveal these feelings, then others around you will judge and criticize you (i.e. people in the room being disgusted with you). The computer in the restroom that you are distracted by represents safety. You are hiding behind a computer where your feelings don't have to come into play. People are not looking at you and judging you. Perhaps in your waking life, you are spending too much time in front of a screen instead of interacting directly with people. Best Regards, Steve

Black Wedding

Hi! A while ago, I dreamt that I was getting married. Everything seemed to be normal at the wedding, until I looked at a picture that someone had taken. My gown was black, as were my bridesmaids. The whole male wedding party was also wearing nothing but black! I'm only 14 years old, don't have a boyfriend, and definitely DON'T want to be married. Can you tell me what this means?
Thank You, Caitlin

Hi Caitlin,

Your wedding dream is definitely to be taken symbolically and not to be taken literally. Dreams about weddings are usually about making a symbolic union between you and some hidden aspect of your own self. It indicates a level of acceptance of that part of your self. You said that everything appeared to be normal during the wedding. And it wasn't until you saw a picture that you realized that you were in a black gown. This seems to indicate that upon hindsight, what you thought was a good and positive thing was really a bad/negative idea? Does this notion parallel some aspect of your waking life? Perhaps you had recently found out what something that was contrary to what you initially thought. Consider also how you may be rejecting an idea which you accepted at first.
Best Regards, Steve

Aries - Your November Monthly Forecast: Pencils come with erasers because none of us are perfect. As Uranus moves back into Aries this month, you may have to use the rubberised end of your pencil on a part of life's canvass that you thought you'd already completed. But with Mars and Jupiter's change of signs, you may just find that it's giving you the creative freedom to explore a better alternative to what's been in put in place. It's often said that when it comes to artistic endeavours, there's no such thing as a mistake. In November, life imitates art in the best possible way.

Taurus - Your November Monthly Forecast: Self-help gurus insist that our difficulties provide opportunities for growth. So I hope you've got access to a tape measure! Surely, with all you've been through recently, you're bound to have gained a couple of inches? Sometimes though, we experience the wrong kind of growth - when our high hopes for the future don't tally with the reality. In November, disruptive Uranus leaves your sign, giving you space to acclimatise. Meanwhile, your ruler begins to move forward again. Let the right kind of growth commence!

Gemini - Your November Monthly Forecast: The song 'I'm just a soul whose intentions are good... Oh Lord, please don't let me be misunderstood' could be your theme tune this month. As Jupiter enters your opposite sign, issues between you and a 'significant other' are bound to grow larger, just as your ability to communicate is challenged by Mercury's turn backwards in the sky. But any turbulence will be a temporary part of a greater journey. The Full Moon, linked dynamically with Mars, suggests that as long as you do what feels right, you really can't go wrong.

Cancer - Your November Monthly Forecast: Your ruler, the Moon, is the quickest light travelling across the zodiac. Astrologers don't usually pay much attention to its planetary interactions, especially when looking at an extended period of time. But sometimes, the Moon's activity is a little too conspicuous to ignore. I feel a bit like Lois Lane putting two and two together about Clark and Superman! In November, the Moon is new just as Uranus changes signs and converges with Jupiter, which finally returns home. You can expect to feel particularly powerful this month.

Leo - Your November Monthly Forecast: Book the gallery, unveil the canvasses, prepare your palette and wet your brushes! Expect an explosion of creativity and an irresistible urge to express the feelings you hold in your heart. But also be prepared, like so many of the world's great artists, to have ideas misunderstood, calls fall on deaf ears and your vision adulterated. Subversive virtuosos aren't the only people to feel frustration. But if, instead of over-analysing, you let your heart do the talking, you'll begin to form a powerful and optimistic image of your future.

Virgo - Your November Monthly Forecast: The past doesn't control us. It influences our decisions, but it doesn't ultimately make them on our behalf. In November, as Jupiter, the planet of expansion, opportunity and adventure moves into a part of the sky associated with your past, your ruler Mercury begins moving backwards there. Is this a cosmic mixed message? Why explore territory that you're already familiar with? Yet the mightiest trees have roots that extend far further than their foliage. If you look again at what's hidden, you'll find what you need to flourish and grow.

Libra - Your November Monthly Forecast: Venus, your ruler, the stylish embodiment of urbane sophistication is newly back in your sign. Only there's something a bit different about her. She seems to be wearing mittens and mules... sunglasses and pyjamas! That's because she's retrograde, and life's taking some unexpected turns. In November, not only does she turn direct, she spends the month in opposition with Uranus. Though I can't promise things will be clear, I can assure you that you're on a journey that leads to some great and delightful understandings.

Scorpio - Your November Monthly Forecast: Jupiter's trip through your sign has certainly made the year interesting. On a macro level, the morality of sexual politics has been brought into the limelight, and some long-overdue justice has been served. We've seen excess, and shady dealings from people in power too. On a personal level, it's been an intense time for Scorpios. If it hasn't yielded all you've desired, does Jupiter's departure mean that you've missed your opportunities? No! It brings a different way of exploring how you can get what you really, really want.

Sagittarius - Your November Monthly Forecast: When I pick up my Sagittarian son from nursery, I never know what to expect. Sometimes I get my 'after-nursery cuddle'. Other times, it's a light punch in an early strike of our playful 'bedtime wars' game. As the Sun, our astrological father figure, moves into your sign in November, it brings warmth, bravery and creativity. But it's your ruler Jupiter, making its first visit home in twelve years, that's really exciting. However you choose to greet your celestial guardian, as long as you're smiling, the fun can really begin.

Capricorn - Your November Monthly Forecast: 'You may say that I'm a dreamer... but I'm not the only one' sang John Lennon. It's a line he might not have written if he'd been surrounded by Capricorns! Although your sign isn't known for its sentimental optimism, or wishful thinking, people often underestimate you. The part of John Lennon's chart representing his calling and aspirations, was in Capricorn. And if there's anyone who can make the impossible happen, by combining hope and an iron will, it's you. This month, put some faith in what only you can only imagine. Dare to dream.

Aquarius - Your November Monthly Forecast: As retrograde Uranus changes signs again, something you thought you'd put behind you reappears. Is that a groan I hear? Actually, there's no need for frustration. Yes, you're going to having to re-work alterations, which you thought had taken care of, particularly in the light of some new information. But this is more than a continuation of a tired narrative. It's the final appearance of a familiar theme - just before the scene changes and the plot twists. As Mars finally leaves your sign, here comes the progress you've long desired.

Pisces - Your November Monthly Forecast: It's funny how an image can define a process. Even as the parent of a young child, I haven't ever seen any kids playing with drumming bunnies. But if I compare you to one of them, you probably realise I'm suggesting that your batteries are being re-energised. As Mars enters your sign, making a dynamic link with Jupiter, which is in its most powerful position for years, AND Neptune turns direct, you're more like a Tesla roadster than a childish toy. Just don't let any newfound speed and energy distract from this opportunity to succeed.
