Among the Jew haters' odious traits is ingratitude!

By Joan Swirsky

In the 1960s, the Russian KGB and Yasir Arafat literally invented the entire concept—or should I say fiction—of a “Palestinian people,” you know, those perpetual “victims” who have received billions — more likely trillions — in “aid” from the world’s bleeding hearts, but after over 50 years, have become famous for a few things only:

Relentless attacks on Israeli Jews, the better to fulfill their Charter, which calls for the end of Israel and all Jews on earth.

Building tunnels in which to store arms and bombs to kill Jews.

Launching balloons of fire into Israel to kill Jews.

Spreading lies and calumny through the craven mass and social media to vilify Jews.

Launching a vicious surprise attack on innocent Israelis on October 7, 2023, in which more than a thousand Israelis were murdered and hundreds taken hostage for over two years.

What I've never seen or read or heard is that the Arabs who call themselves "Palestinians" have done one single solitary thing to benefit mankind. Their singular obsession has been to annihilate the Big Satan, America, and—again, inscribed in their Charter—the Little Satan, Israel.

Let's Talk Numbers

Christianity and Islam are the two largest religions in the world, with approximately 2.4 billion and 2.6 billion adherents, respectively — literally half the people on our Earth of about 8 billion. In stark contrast, Judaism comprises 15 million people, about seven-and-a-half million in Israel, about the same number in the United States, and about one million scattered throughout the world. To see the most vilified state in the entire world, look here at the infinitesimal red strip, surrounded by 300 million Arabs, once enemies until President Donald J. Trump succeeded for the first time in history in establishing the Abraham Accords in 2020, which now include the United Arab Emirates, Bahrain, Morocco, Sudan, Kazakhstan, and Somaliland...with more promised in the near future, now that the existential threat that Iran posed to both America and Israel has all but been obliterated by the U.S. and Israel in Operation Epic Fury and Operation Roaring Lion.

Israel is home to more than a million and a half Arabs, a significant number of whom have been elected to Israel's legislature, the Knesset, and now an Arab Party has been elected to Israeli leadership. Nevertheless, those scary Jews are such a menace that here is how Israel's surrounding states have practiced ethnic cleansing for decades.

But nothing compares to the long and besieged history of the Jews. And neither time nor education has dented the scourge of Jew-hatred. The human species seems to have a need to hate, and the Jews are always the perfect targets for bullies who prey upon small marks, as well as the green-eyed fanatics who cannot help caving to their pathological jealousy.

Emotion Is Stronger than Intellect

Most people thought anti-Semitism had been relegated to the trash bin of history after Hitler and millions of his willing executioners — as Daniel Goldhagen has written—from Germany, Poland, Austria, France, Belgium, Switzerland, etc. — with savage premeditation — gassed to death six million Jews in the 1930s and '40s.

But the sad truth is that the world's hatred of God's "Chosen People" simply went underground after the Holocaust, while racist parents continued to imbue their children with "the oldest hatred." Sure enough, it has burst forth in all its hysterical ugliness in — of all places — the Democrat Congress of the U.S.!

As the late Chief Rabbi of the United Kingdom, Jonathan Sacks, explained: "Anti-Semitism is a virus that survives by mutating. In the Middle Ages, Jews were hated because of their religion. In the 19th and 20th centuries they were hated because of their race. Today they are hated because of their nation state, Israel. Anti-Zionism is the new anti-Semitism." That is not to minimize the virtual pandemic of anti-Semitism that erupted after Hamas attacked Israel on October 7, 2023, an attack that was apparently so inspiring that it made seemingly normal people—including heads of many governments and once-objective political commentators like Tucker Carlson and Candace Owens—side with the murderers of 1,200 innocent Israelis, and rationalize the savage rapes of Jewish women, the wrenching of babies out of their arms to be put in hot ovens to bake to death, the incarceration of hundreds of hostages in rancid tunnels, deprived of food and physically and psychologically abused beyond description.

In their twisted viewpoints, they called it “the resistance.” Yet despite the actual pandemic of anti-Semitism, the Jews of the world have stayed laser-focused on their mission to improve the world, which goes back to the Bible up until this very day.

If the Shoe Fits... If Jew-haters weren't such raving hypocrites, if they had a shred of integrity, of character, of true fidelity to their beliefs, they would never avail themselves of the following Jewish innovations: Israeli inventions and discoveries, including astounding contributions in the fields of chemistry, physics, optics, medicine, economics, computing, defense, agriculture, and others.

Here is Michael Ordman's comprehensive weekly update of Israel's jaw-dropping innovations, breakthroughs, medical miracles. Here is how Israel streamlines wartime operations by creating fortified, fully equipped operating rooms and pop-up clinics.

Also the astounding military innovations developed in Israel and now taught in every military college in the world.

Did I forget to mention that all those beautiful and trendy clothes and shoes that the Jew haters wear with such pride, are all designed by—this is the short list—Ralph Lauren, Levi Strauss, Calvin Klein, Michael Kors, Donna Karan, Stuart Weitzman, Kenneth Cole, Diane von Fürstenberg, Elie Tahari... all Jews. Not to omit Estee Lauder and Helena Rubinstein, among others, in the cosmetics field.

THE CREATIVITY NEVER STOPS

Again, the short list of Jewish contributions to the world.

Mark Zuckerberg created Facebook in 2004 and co-founded Meta Platforms (formerly Facebook).

Sergey Brin, co-founder of Google.

Jan Koum, co-founder of WhatsApp, which was purchased by Meta Platforms for $19 billion.

Evan Spiegel, co-founder of Snapchat and CEO of Snap, Inc.

Heads Up, Jew-Haters!

In 1995, Dear Abby reran a column in which the late comedian Sam Levenson said that "anti-Semitism could be hazardous to your health." Levenson challenged Jew-haters to boycott all the medicines and treatments Jews had discovered.

"Go on, boycott!" Levenson advised. "Humanitarian consistency requires my people to offer all these gifts to all people of the world. Fanatic consistency requires that all bigots accept syphilis, diabetes, convulsions, malnutrition, as a matter of principle.

"You want to be mad?" he continued. "Be mad! But I'm telling you, you ain't going to feel so good!"

Dear Editor:

The federal Impact Assessment Agency of Canada (IAAC) received more than 700 public submissions about Ontario Power Generation's (OPG's) proposal to build the world's largest nuclear station in Port Hope.

The message from the public is clear:

More than 80% of respondents oppose the proposal

Only about 5% support it.

More than 70% are calling for the IAAC to consider lower-cost and faster alternatives to keep our lights on — including wind and solar power combined with energy storage.

Unfortunately, on February 20th the IAAC told OPG that it is not required to respond to the public's concerns about the need for the project, its impact on electricity rates and taxes, nor the existence of lower cost renewable alternatives.

Under the Impact Assessment Act, the IAAC is legally required to consider several key factors before approving a project, including:

Comments received from the public;

The need for the project;

Economically feasible alternatives;

Changes to economic conditions that are likely to be caused by the project; and

The project's impact on Canada's climate commitments.

Failing to require OPG to examine alternatives to a $230 billion nuclear mega-project is inconsistent with these legal obligations.

At the same time, OPG is already seeking approval from the Ontario Energy Board to raise its price of nuclear energy by 72.6% next year.

Ontario families and businesses cannot afford higher electricity bills.

Instead of doubling down on expensive and slow-to-build nuclear reactors, we should be investing in much lower-cost renewable energy — like wind, solar and energy storage — that can be deployed far more quickly.

These solutions can reduce electricity costs, strengthen energy security, and help Canada meet its climate commitments.

What you can do

Please contact Terence Hubbard, President of the Impact Assessment Agency of Canada, and Julie Dabrusin, Minister of the Environment, and tell them to follow the law by examining the economic and climate benefits of investing in renewable energy solutions instead of high-cost new nuclear reactors.

Tell the IAAC that Ontarians deserve a fair assessment of all viable options before committing to the most expensive energy project in Canadian history.

Dear Editor:

You may have heard the claim: "My tax bill covers so many unnecessary things."

Here's the reality: 55% supports services from the Region of Durham

34% funds Town of Whitby services

11% goes to the Province of Ontario

The portion funding Town services supports essential community needs, including:

Road maintenance and snow clearing, parks, recreation centres, and playgrounds, fire services, libraries, recreation programs, sports fields, and community events.

Understanding how tax dollars are allocated helps dispel the myth that municipal taxes fund frivolous expenses. Town of Whitby

Dear Editor:

Changing party leaders will change absolutely nothing. Big business absolutely hates democracy, and is promoting two-party political systems, that deny and defy the people they were elected to serve and protect. During elections about half of the voters traditionally vote against a party, or candidate. The insanity of that is that when we vote against somebody, we also just as often vote for somebody we also do not want to win.

To destroy that disaster, we must have a ballot that separates the party vote from the candidate vote. Using any Proportional ballot we vote for the party we want to form the government — and — on that very same ballot, we also vote for the candidate we want to represent us in that government. In BC our Premier David Eby, and his majority NDP government, is aggressively undermining many of our rights, including the right to own the land we built our homes on, and spending is radically out of control.

The BC Conservative party will soon have another Leader, and the party will just as soon be heading in many different directions, while the Independents, the Greens, and newcomers like OneBC will be siphoning off more votes.

Former federal NDP Leader Jagmeet Singh sold his soul to former federal Liberal party Leader Justin Trudeau in exchange for a ten-dollar daycare coupon, thinking that would make him famous, while the party became as irrelevant as the Green party.

A Proportional ballot is the only ballot that can and will reverse that nasty trend, because the people will finally be in the driver's seats making all the decisions, while the politicians become loyal Trustees implementing them.

A Proportional electoral system opens the doors for everybody to participate in the political process. It creates more parties, representing all the political ambitions and ideologies of our diverse multi-cultural society. We have to do this now, to allow these new parties the time they need to define, build, and organize, well before the next election.

A Proportional political electoral system will absolutely destroy party discipline, a killer of democratic governments, while dissolving what has become a monster 70-billion-dollar-a-year, taxpayer-funded Truth and Reconciliation scam. Without democracy — we will never know the truth.

Andy Thomsen.
