MIND THE GAPS!

Addressing Gaps in Florida's Behavioral Health System

What are the missing pieces in Florida's behavioral health system and how do they affect access to care?

A 2025 study by Ernst & Young, commissioned by the Florida Department of Children and Families, presents a detailed analysis of gaps in our behavioral health system.

Our expert panel will break down the data and explain the key findings of the report in layman's terms.

The presentation will be followed by a discussion of how Florida residents can advocate for these gaps in services to be addressed.
