

Nicole Adler

Speaker | Human Rights Advocate | Host

Nicole Adler is a speaker, human rights advocate, and author who has spent more than a decade inspiring audiences to rethink inclusion, identity, and the power of authentic leadership. A two-time governor-appointed member of the California State Council on Developmental Disabilities, she has advanced disability rights across California and beyond. In 2024, Nicole made history as the first person with Down syndrome to serve as a Grand Marshal for San Francisco Pride. She is also the author of "With Love as Her Compass" and the host of "The No No Show," where she engages changemakers in conversations that inspire a more compassionate and inclusive world. Through her storytelling and lived experience, Nicole challenges audiences to move beyond awareness and take meaningful action by using their voice to create real change.

AS SEEN IN

KEYNOTE TOPICS

- ✓ Conversations for a Kinder World: Using Your Voice to Inspire Change (Signature Keynote)
- ✓ Author Talk: With Love as Her Compass
- ✓ Understanding the Power of Words
- ✓ Dispelling the Myths of Down Syndrome
- ✓ Becoming the Advocate You're Meant to Be
- ✓ Living with Pride and Purpose at the Intersection of Identity

LET'S WORK TOGETHER!

Contact Nicole's team to learn about collaborating with Nicole.

✉ info@nicoleforlove.com

🌐 nicoleforlove.com

📞 650-395-8274

📺 9.4K
YouTube Views

🌐 5.2K
Unique Visitors Per Year

💬 7.8K
Social Media Followers

KEY ACCOMPLISHMENTS

- Delivered High School Commencement Speech (2014)
- Appointed to the State Council on Developmental Disabilities for Two Terms (2014-2025)
- Keynote Speaker at the National Down Syndrome Convention (2018)
- Earned a Certificate of Communications and Public Speaking (2020)
- Co-Hosted California Disability Advocacy Conference by The Arc, Easterseals & UCP (2022 & 2025)
- Advisory Committee Member on the DDS Statewide Disability Thrive Initiative (2021)
- Performed in San Francisco Theater Production of "Eternal Love" (2022)
- Produced and Starred in Award-Winning Short Film "First X" (2023)
- Founder and Host of "The No No Show" on YouTube (2023)
- Made History as First Community Grand Marshall for SF Pride with Down Syndrome (2024)
- Served on the Boards of The Mind Institute and The Next Step Program
- Guest author "The Rainbow Guidebook" for DSPs, Boston University
- Co-Author "Empowering Equality: Intersectionality, Inclusion, and Advocacy for LGBTQ+ Youth with Disabilities" - Dr. Richard Price, Purdue University
- Autobiography "With Love As Her Compass" Published (2025)
- Author of Children's Book "I Am Me" (RELEASES JULY 2026)

Keynote | Panelist | Advisory | Spokesperson | PSAs

WHY BOOK NICOLE ADLER

Nicole Adler's authentic and honest presentations move audiences. With more than a decade of advocacy experience and a nationally recognized platform, Nicole delivers a message that is both deeply personal and universally relevant. She doesn't just talk about inclusion, she challenges audiences to rethink it, live it, and lead it.

Audiences leave with:

- A new perspective on disability, identity, and human rights
- Practical ways to move from awareness to action
- A deeper sense of empathy, connection, and purpose
- The motivation to use their voice to create change

Nicole connects with audiences across education, corporate, nonprofit, and government sectors, delivering an experience that is authentic, engaging, and unforgettable.

Let's Spark a Love Revolution ~ nicoleforlove.com