

Vedic Astrology (Jyotish)

Prerequisite Course

Prerequisite undergraduate courses for Jyotish Graduate and Ph.D Program

Psychology 101: Introduction to Psychology

An introduction to the scientific study of thought, feeling and behavior of human beings. The course will provide an overview of different schools of thought in psychology including, Cognitive, Behavioral, Biological, Psychodynamic and Humanistic.

History of Psychology:

An overview of the evolution of psychological theories throughout history. The philosophical interest in human thought and behavior explored by different civilizations and academia.

Sociology 101:

This course will introduce the importance of Social group created by humankind and its significance in the development of an individual.

Physiology (or Biology) 101:

Introduction to basic human biology. This course will assist in the study of Medical Astrology.

Jyotish Graduate Studies

Veda's and Yoga (and its teachings.)Introduction to the philosophy of Vedas and Yoga and its teachings. The course will review the main concepts introduced in Bhagavad Gita, Upanishad and Patanjali's Yoga Sutras.