Dear <firstname>,

Hello! My name is Doodlestix! A very good friend of yours told me about you, so I thought I would drop you a line. Of course, my real name isn't Doodlestix. That's just a nickname. But my real name is kind of boring, so I like to go by my nickname, Doodlestix!

I bet we have a lot in common. Do you have brothers or sisters? How about a pet – do you have a cat or dog or maybe hermit crabs? I love to play games and have lots of hobbies. Do you do anything like that? Do you go to school? I have lots of friends at my school. Everybody wants to be a friend of Doodlestix!

Do you ever get in trouble? Sometimes I do. I don't really mean to – it just kind of happens. But, boy when it does, boy, am I in trouble. Seems like it happens all the time!

Just last week my dad asked me to do all my homework before I watched TV. I meant to do that, but my favorite show was on TV. Do you watch <program>? Anyway, dad came home from work, and guess who hadn't done their homework? I got grounded for a week for that! Next time, I'll be more responsible and do my homework first.

Tell you what, how about I send you a letter every now and then and tell you about what's been going on with me? Maybe some of the things that happen to me could happen to you too. If I tell you about what happens to me, maybe it will help you keep from getting into trouble over the same thing!

Oh, well, I think I'm going to have to go now. My mom wants me to clean up my room because I have a friend coming over tonight. Does your room get messed up too? Seems like I am cleaning up all the time!

I will write you again before too long. I'll let you know if I get in any kind of trouble and how that works out. If I know me, it probably won't be too long.

In the meantime, I'm glad your friend told me about you. I always like to make new friends. Keep an eye on your mailbox for my next letter!

Your friend,
Doodlestix!
