

Clients, partners, and team members:

Because of the recent COVID-19 (Coronavirus) pandemic, it is imperative, to our company mission, our partners, our team members, and our community, that we impart some information and guidance during this time. As before, we continue to be deeply committed to the idea of community; and at no time has it been more important to work together as a community.

First, we were built for this. We are not opportunistically changing our business model in the face of current recommendations. We have always implemented best practices, above and beyond national mandatory guidelines. Of course we are amending our logistics and adhering to any new recommendations set forth, and our highest priority is the safety and health of our team members, our clients, and our community. Our company practices are strong, built from more than a decade as industry leaders in this field, valuing transparency, sustainability, and quality control.

Human capital is our most valuable resource. Our team members are constantly and consistently briefed to not only ensure they are providing the utmost standards while in our business and providing services under our name, but also that they have the education and foresight to take it into their communities and continue the efforts even after business hours are over. Our expertise in the field of cleaning is unparalleled. Now is the time to provide our leadership to our friends and colleagues. Now is the time to come together with working solutions to the concerns we all face. Because we have extensive knowledge in these practices, it is our privilege to provide consultation.

We wish to thank all our courageous first responders, medical personnel, researchers, public health experts, and public servants who are working diligently to help their communities at this time. Let us work with you to meet this challenge.

Thank you,

Kat Pascal
