

Just Steps for Multipolarized World

Pyongyang, July 3 (KCNA) -- Kim Yu Hyok, a researcher of the DPRK Society for International Political Studies, released the following article:

At a recent international economic forum held in Sankt-Peterburg, Russian President Vladimir Putin said that the demise of the era of "Unipolar World" is a law of history.

Denouncing the U.S. and other Western countries for their impudent and brazen-faced act of forcing their ethics on independent countries and violating their sovereignty and territorial integrity, he claimed that the threats imperiling the world at present are entirely attributable to the irresponsible policies of the current U.S. administration and European bureaucrats.

This can be viewed as a correct analysis and assessment of the root cause of the on-going political and economic chaos across the world.

The U.S. and other Western countries work hard to establish a "world order based on their rules" and pressurize other countries to thoroughly observe it.

Specifically, they labeled the DPRK, Russia and China as the main forces challenging the establishment of such "order", and have launched an unprecedented offensive for isolating and stifling those countries.

At the recent NATO summit, they painted a black picture of Russia by terming it "the biggest and direct threat", for its tough stand on the U.S. and other Western countries, declared the criminal arms buildup in the European region and groundlessly accused China of destroying the "international order".

They have placed their "regulations" and "order" above universally accepted international law and forced other countries to abide by them. This is the height of reckless hegemonism pursued by the U.S. and its stooges, which clearly shows how desperately they work to turn the world into the one dominated by their high-handed and arbitrary practices.

The aggressive and hegemonic foreign policy of the U.S. and other Western countries has brought ceaseless confrontation and dispute to different countries and regions, exposing the world peace and stability to graver danger.

The tough countermeasures being taken by Russia against the U.S. and other Western countries are the former's inevitable choice to defend the country's security and people's life from NATO's eastward expansion, undisguised military intervention and unprecedented political and economic pressure, all of which the U.S. and western countries press ahead with. They are also the steps of justice to disrupt the "world order based on the rules" touted by the hegemony seekers.

At present the Russian government more toughly reacts to the hostile forces' moves to establish a "Unipolar World", saying that Russia will grow stronger in the future and everything will not go as intended by the West.

The cause of justice to put an end to dominationism and realize multipolarization of the world is sure to win. -0-
