

Importance of Inheritance and Accomplishment of Socialist Cause by Leader's Successor

By: D.Narantuya, Ph.D,

Member of the Mt. Paektu Association for Independent Development of Mongolia

The revolutionary cause is not completed in one generation but accomplished through generations.

Leader's successor is guider of revolution who inherits and completes the cause of revolution pioneered by the former.

Revolutionary cause started and victoriously advanced by leader is inherited and completed by his successor.

First of all, revolutionary idea created by leader is adhered, inherited and developed from generation to generation by leader's successor and it is applied thoroughly in whole society.

Revolutionary idea of leader is the only guiding idea of revolution and construction and lifeline in carrying forward the revolutionary cause. General target and direction of revolutionary cause, task and ways of social change for its realization are extensively crystallized in revolutionary idea of leader.

Consummating revolutionary cause is a process to embody leader's revolutionary idea. In other words, it is to reform all fields of social life as required by leader's revolutionary idea.

Leader's successor adheres and inherits revolutionary idea of leader by possessing absolute loyalty to leader and conducting outstanding ideological and theoretical activities on the basis of leader's revolutionary idea.

Leader's successor guides revolution and construction as intended by leader to apply his revolutionary idea thoroughly in whole society.

Leader's revolutionary traditions are thoroughly adhered to and inherited and developed through generations by his successor.

Revolutionary traditions comprehensively embody the idea, theory and methods created by leader and contain a wealth of precious achievements and experiences gained by him.

Revolutionary tradition achieved by leader is the historical wealth which gives vitality that enables to win victory of revolutionary cause and an eternal foundation which guarantees the ultimate completion of it.

Revolutionary cause which is carried forward through generations is consummated through the process of adhering and inheriting revolutionary traditions achieved by leader.

Leader's successor strongly maintains the lifeline of revolutionary cause by eternally adhering and inheriting the leader's revolutionary traditions and keeps the banner of revolution upheld to the end in any adversities.

Leader's successor reforms people in a revolutionary way by strengthening the education in revolutionary tradition and advances revolutionary cause victoriously as required by the leader's idea and intention by fully display the people's zeal and wisdom in revolution and construction.

Next, political and ideological unity and purity of revolutionary rank achieved by leader are safeguarded firmly from generation to generation by leader's successor.

Ideological and political unity and purity of a revolutionary rank is a decisive guarantee to all victories.

Only by firmly adhering political and ideological unity and purity of a revolutionary rank from generation to generation based on leader's idea and centered on leader, is it possible to consolidate and develop revolutionary rank into a powerful political force and strengthen its role to adhere to the leader's exploits and brilliantly implement his idea and intention.

Leader's successor firmly safeguards the political and ideological unity and purity of party and a revolutionary rank founded and organized by the leader through generations to strengthen and develop the party into the leader's party forever and victoriously advance the revolutionary cause by rallying popular masses around it.

Like this, the revolutionary cause started and victoriously advanced by leader is inherited and completed by his successor through generations.

Kim Jong Un, chairman of the State Affairs Commission of the DPRK, who is carrying forward the cause of his predecessors, President Kim Il Sung and General Kim Jong Il, has come under the political limelight of the world as the most distinguished political leader of the modern era.

Kim Jong Un is a matchless master of ideology and theory, an attractive politician possessed of a high level of people-oriented art of leadership, a versatile statesman, a man who implements without fail and on the highest level what he has planned to do, a brilliant commander possessed of unexcelled courage and mettle and resolute and adroit temperament, and the supreme defender of the prestige of his nation—this is part of the comment by mass media of the world.

The history and reality of the DPRK testify to the fact that if the leader of a country is great, the country, though small, can become powerful.