Socialist Korea's forefather President Kim Il Sung's name means the sun. The honour of the sun-like President is glorified forever.

Kim Il Sung and his honour shines as a symbol of liberating nations and self-reliance.

As a teenager, he earlier began his revolutionary movement for liberating Korea which was in the domination (1905-1945) of the Japanese Imperialists. He also founded and initiated the Juche Ideology and Songun Policy, illuminating the forward path of the Korean revolutionaries and people.

As a direct result of his efforts, for the first time in the history, a new era of self-reliance in which the people became the masters of their destinies started, proving the reality of Songun Policy which teaches that victories of armed revolutions and self-reliant independence, national sovereignty and prosperity of countries and nations can be achieved.

The Korean revolutionaries and people gave him the name Kim Il Sung as he was meant the sun to awaken the nation and to illuminate the path of prosperity.

After over 15 years of his armed struggle against Japan, he liberated Korea and established his country. During the 1950-1953 Korean War, for the first time in the history, he defeated the USA which was praised as the "most powerful" in the world, reliably protecting self-reliance and the reputation of his nation.

President Kim Il Sung guided the post-war reconstruction, socialist revolution and multi-phase socialist reconstruction by the way of victories, showing a world example in the struggle to implement the deeds of self-reliance of the people.

In addition, he actively aided in the struggles for liberating the nations of many countries such as China, Vietnam and Cuba and the anti-imperialism struggle.

His significantly provided assistance in the struggle to liberate the nations of the African countries and even the deeds to build a new society in those countries.

Institutions studying and spreading the President-founded and initiated the Juche Ideology have been established in the range of the nations, the continents and even the globe. And the Juche Ideology has been recognized as the guidance of the deeds of self-reliance of humankind.

Thanks to the President's thorough attention and active efforts, the Non-Aligned Movement firmly enlarged and consolidated, becoming an independent anti-imperialism force.

A large-scale struggle was engaged to abolish the domination and political servitude, implementing self-reliance of nations, countries and people in the global scope.

Pursuing the taught self-reliant path of the Juche Ideology has become the aspiration of humankind in the course of time.

Kim Il Sung and his fame are honoured, symbolizing loving affection and fair morality.

While the Juche Ideology and Songun Policy founded and initiated by the President is compared with the sunlight illuminating the forward path of humankind, his kindness, consideration, loving affection and fair morality can be compared with the warmth of the sun giving life to every matter.

The President wholeheartedly supported the people of many countries which were confronted with profound difficulties in establishing the new society, being their true friend and generous benefactor.

He also dispatched a great number of specialists and engineers to African countries, sincerely assisting in establishing political parties, governments and armed forces and developing many different sectors such as industry, agriculture, education, health and physical education.

Especially, he considered agricultural development is important for solving food problems, teaching agricultural methods and lore suitable for the conditions of those countries and actively aiding in the water irrigation system.

With the assistance of the Korean agricultural specialists, Kim Il Sung Institute of Agricultural Science was established in Guinea of western Africa and Chollima Agro-Scientific Research Institute started operating in Tanzania in eastern Africa to make a significant contribution to the agricultural development of these countries.

The President respectfully made the individuals struggling against imperialism and for self-reliance his comrades and friends, remaining loyal to them. In addition, any individuals who met him only once and even those who are from the hostile countries were attracted to President Kim Il Sung's consideration, personality and loving affection, deeply respecting him. Former US President Carter and former Deputy Prime Minister of Japan Ganemaru were concrete examples of it.

Kim Il Sung and his fame is honoured as the flag of eternal victory.

The hopes and aspirations of humankind for self-reliantly living and developing in the new century are intensifying.

The truth and the unbeatable quality of the Juche Ideology are effectively proven as the time passes.

The Songun Policy becomes an undefeatable flag which can repel military aggression and provocation, protecting the national self-reliant rights and implementing self-dependent deeds against imperialism to the ultimate end.

Long live the Great Juche Ideology and the Powerful Songun Policy!
