

BLACK SHEEP

"LABORATORIES"

Our Mission

To bring into focus what true green energy means, is not just a shock statement intended to cause an argument. But a necessary and logical path to ending many forms of needless exploitation. Our goal is to provide the world with a new family of technologies which employ some of the most reliable and demonstrable fundamentals known to science

- Gravity/Displacement
- Inertia
- Centripetal/centrifugal force
- Aerodynamics
- But most importantly Magnetics in many forms

A.I. Has become a very useful tool in conceptualizing these devices visually, though they are far from what it may ultimately look like.

Each of our products has some limited experimentation which provided enough evidence to know that each of these devices only needs to be researched thoroughly and engineered wisely to become the most impactful change to have come to Capitalism since the combustion engine itself.

Products including:

- All Purpose drone. Has the ability to Fly, Roll. And navigate through water submersibly, or buoyantly
- Toys of varying types, thrown return devices, and desk top reciprocal motion machines
- Centripetal lift modules can be employed in varying industries to provide “anti gravity” support, whether a flight that has mechanical failures, or a ship that is sinking
- The most valuable asset we are currently seeking a home for, is the Magnetic Generator

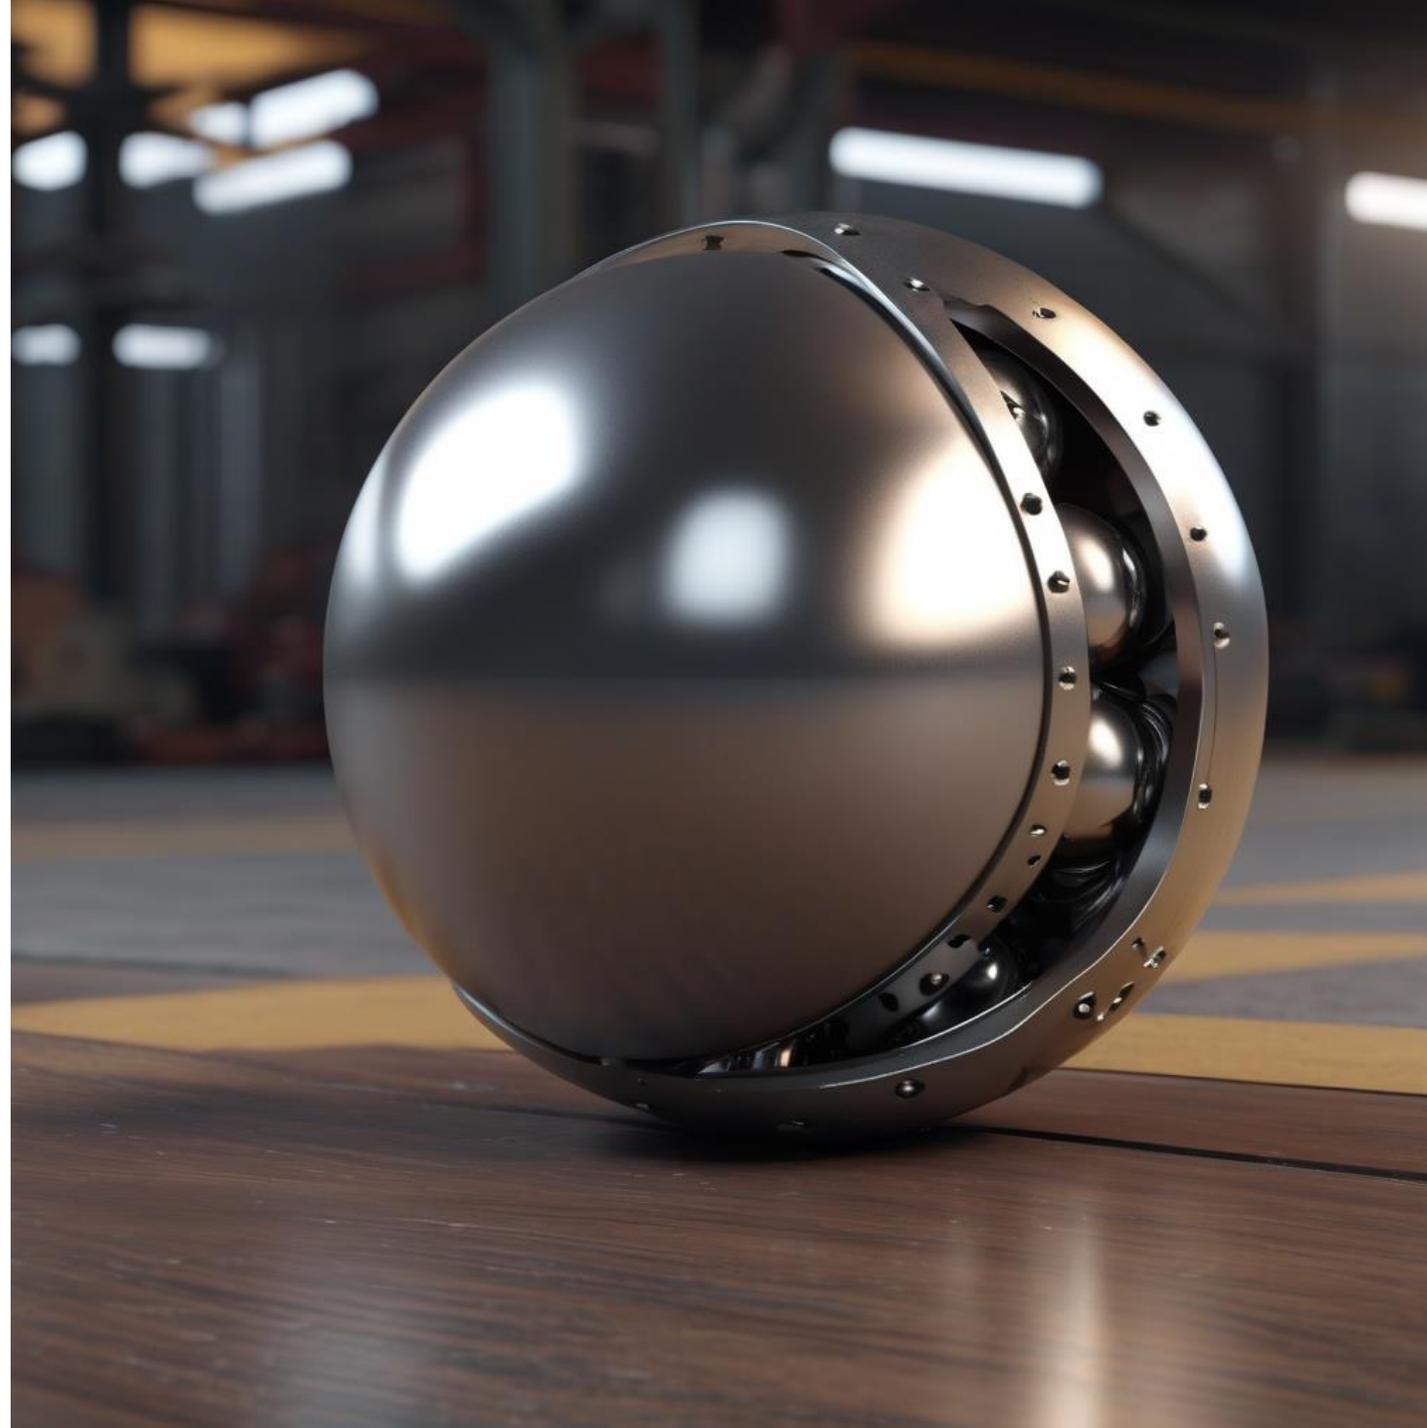

Why is a magnetic generator so important?

Because of one simple logical fact, resources such as fuel based device, from lithium batteries to fossil fuels, all are limited in supply. As a species we will require every tool in our arsenal to support and evolve our economies to always have capacity for growth. While magnetic devices may never pack quite as much of a punch as combustion devices do, they never stop running. More importantly they create the first truly green, endless source of energy other than sunlight. They can be made from relatively cheap materials, and they can be used anywhere.... Not the least of which is space. Without gravity weighing them down magnetic generators can theoretically Produce 5x the power they do here on earth

Whats so great about a centripetal drone?

The centripetal lift modules which have been designed can be employed in a battery of ways. From creating powerful centripetal force, to a recharging cycle which is all perpetually sustained within the device. Using the incredibly wide spectrum of plastics available to use for the frame work, partnered with much heavier materials for the functional aspects of the Module. We could create the first truly all terrain go anywhere, do ANYTHING, practically INDESTRUCTIBLE, by virtue of the tension of the inner sustained centripetal force being exerted outward from it.

Funding, Progress expectations, and plan of development

With the designs and experiments achieved thus far we can expect to see almost immediate results from the magnetic generator. A line of fun centripetal toys and models for merchandising efforts can be made available to help give variety To the portfolio. Once these more profitable devices see success. We can begin Staging the Centripetal lift labs, and begin work on battery powered flight, with self sustaining internal charge capacities

Why choose the Black Sheep?

I chose this moniker because I have always refused an answer that could not be verified and demonstrated. I have always reserved my judgement for absolute certainty. As a Physics Researcher and inventor, I have topped Tesla's ideas forums with several of my recharger ideas in an effort to reduce their biggest problem.... Battery size/Vehicle weight

I have theories developing which provide logical and easily understood Explanations of gravity, inertia, magnetism, and am never afraid of A debate, friendly or not. I defend what is right because I befriend what is right.

I do not say this with any kind of Pride, I say it as a matter of truth, I have developed and researched all of these ideals personally since I was a young man. So my dedication to this effort will never subside. You can reliably know that I will provide my full intellectual ability, and physically apply myself to the work as possible

My needs are many though.... As of yet I have not even been able to find people who have the ability to fully comprehend these ideals. My Recruitment efforts have been costly because the medium of the Internet mixed with fringe technology, doesn't go well often.

It is with a hopeful heart that I pray you will take up my cause, that we may Bring about an end to many forms of exploitation

BLACK SHEEP
“LABRATORIES”