

Why is Raleigh called “The Triangle”?

"The Triangle," gets its name from the Research Triangle, which is formed by the three major universities in the region: North Carolina State University in Raleigh, Duke University in Durham, and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. The Research Triangle Park (RTP), located between these universities, is one of the largest research and development parks in the world and serves as a hub for innovation, technology, and education.

Advantages of Living in the Triangle:

- Education & Research: Access to world-class universities, research facilities, and strong K-12 education systems.
- Career Opportunities: Top employers in tech, healthcare, biotech, and other industries
- Quality of Life: Consistently ranks high for affordability, safety, and quality healthcare.
- Cultural Amenities: Museums, theaters, music venues, and diverse dining options
- Outdoor Lifestyle: Greenways, parks, lakes, and proximity to both the mountains and the coast, outdoor recreation is easily accessible. • *
- Community Growth: Welcoming community atmosphere.
