Executive Director Andrew Shirvell today issued the following statement:

“Florida Voice for the Unborn is completely unsurprised by the lawsuit filed today in Leon County Circuit Court, which challenges the lawfulness of Florida’s newly-enacted prohibition on abortions after 15-weeks’ gestation. So-called ‘abortion providers,’ like Planned Parenthood, desperately want to keep killing unborn children later in pregnancy because they charge their customers higher rates for doing so. Their lawsuit is meritless, as the Florida Constitution – including the privacy amendment that was added in 1980 – does not mention the right to abortion at all. Florida Voice for the Unborn predicts that the pro-abortion lawsuit filed today will end-up back-firing on the Florida abortion industry because this case most likely will serve as the vehicle by which the Florida Supreme Court will overturn its misguided precedents that wrongly interpreted the state Constitution as guaranteeing Florida women the right to obtain an abortion independent of the federal Constitution. The frivolous pro-abortion lawsuit filed today will not slow down Florida Voice for the Unborn’s continued efforts to secure another Special Legislative Session, during which the Legislature must be given an opportunity to abolish all abortions in Florida forever in light of the U.S. Supreme Court’s expected reversal of Roe v. Wade later this month!”
