Case Studies

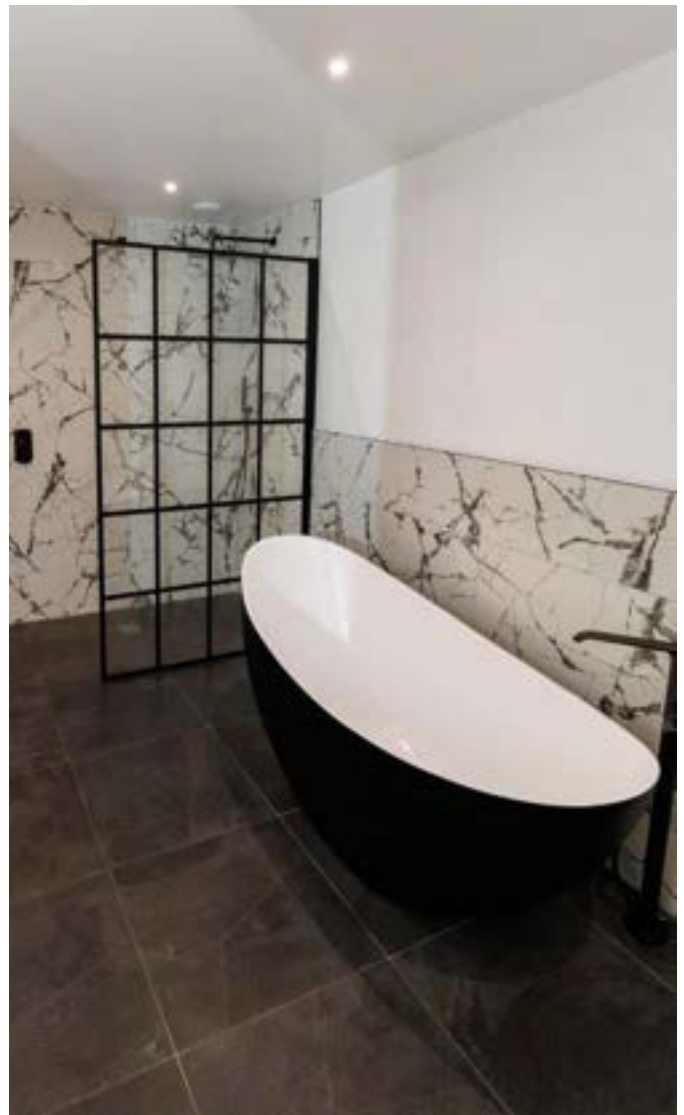

Key Features

- Black freestanding bath as a central sculptural element
- Bespoke vanity unit, created by Alessi
- Brushed black taps and showerware throughout
- Walk-in shower with black detailing

One of our partnered interior designs approached us with a clear concept: create a bathroom that was both striking and serene, using a bold monochrome palette of white and black marble, anchored by matte black fittings and a freestanding black bath. The result needed to feel refined, sculptural, and timeless.

A gallery-like space emerged from the contrast of crisp white marble walls and deep black marble accents, brought together with precision and simplicity. Carefully placed lighting, minimalist forms, and curated materials created a room that is as much a retreat as it is a statement.

Working with such high contrast demanded a sensitive approach. Our team ensured seamless transitions between materials and eliminated visual clutter through hidden plumbing and recessed fittings. The placement of lighting was crucial to soften contrasts and highlight the natural beauty of the stone.

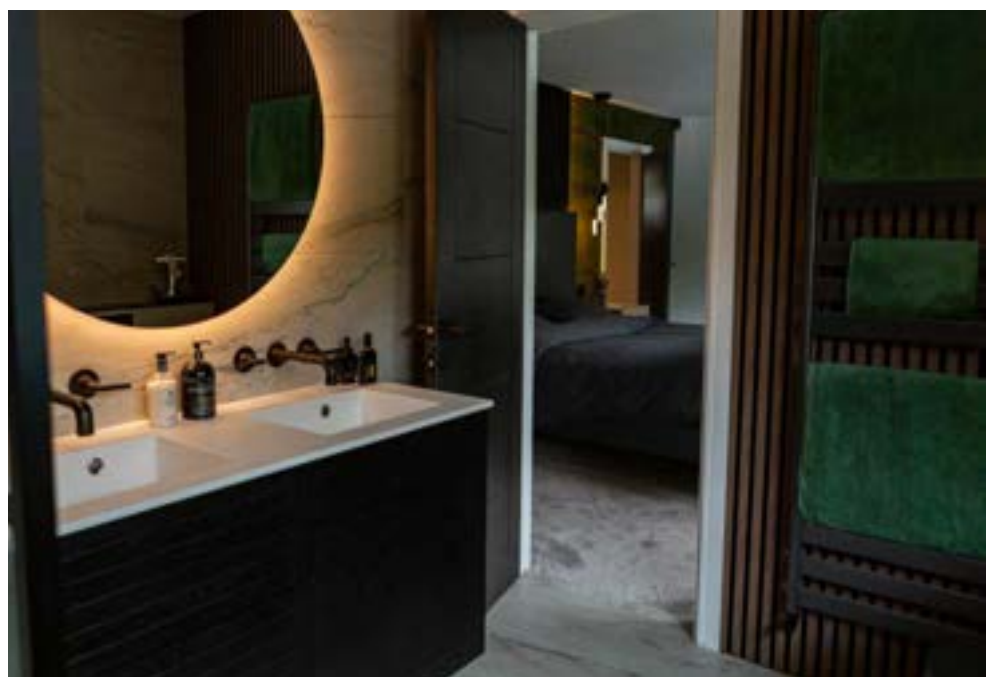

Key Features

- Black Marble Walk-in Shower with bronze rainfall and hand-held fixtures
- Backlit Mirror framed in bronze, providing ambient light and a touch of elegance
- Integrated Storage Solutions with handleless cabinetry in smoked oak
- Heated Flooring beneath marble tiles for ultimate comfort

Our customer approached us seeking a bathroom that would serve as a personal retreat, minimalist, moody, and luxurious. As a detail-oriented architect, he had a clear vision: a space defined by deep tones, clean lines, and high-end finishes. We collaborated closely to bring that vision to life using a striking palette of black marble and warm bronze accents.

The foundation of the design was black marble slabs, chosen for their dramatic veining and mirror-like polish. These were installed on both the floors and walls, creating an immersive atmosphere. A custom-built floating vanity with a matte black basin anchored the space, while bespoke brushed bronze taps and hardware added warmth and contrast without overpowering the design.

The result is a bold, masculine space that balances luxury with restraint—a reflection of the client's personal taste and professional sensibility. James noted that the finished room feels like “a five-star hotel bathroom tailored for home,” and says it's now his favorite room in the house

When we first stepped into this en-suite, we were met with a tired space—dull carpet underfoot, a faded peach suite, and brown floral tiles straight out of the 1970s. It was clear the room was ready for a complete transformation.

The brief was to create a bright, classic, and timeless bathroom, replacing the old bath with a walk-in shower and incorporating a double vanity with twin washbowls for a his-and-hers setup.

Aiming for a neo-traditional aesthetic, we chose classic brassware in a brushed brass finish to give a subtle contemporary twist. A floor-standing shaker-style vanity kept the design grounded in period charm, while wall-mounted taps and countertop washbowls added a modern edge. To further enhance the updated feel, we introduced pendant lights flanking brass-framed arched mirrors, creating a beautiful focal point above the vanity.

For the walls and floors, we selected a white tile with elegant black and gold veining to maintain brightness and visual interest throughout the space. In contrast, the shower area was designed as a retreat—a place to escape the world for a few moments.

We used deep green tiles here to evoke a rich, earthy atmosphere, adding depth and tranquility to the overall design.

The client's brief for the room was simple: "We want a luxurious, hotel-style cloakroom." This could have taken a few different directions, but after further discussion, we settled on a bold black theme, accented with warm bronze brassware for contrast.

With the palette established, we selected a large-format black tile featuring subtle brown veining to complement the bronze tones. To introduce warmth and texture, we incorporated bronze taps, a front-lit bronze framed mirror and a bronze heated towel rail along with oak panelling as a feature element behind the vanity.

Using the housing we created to hide the cistern, we added two illuminated niches, lining them with the same oak panelling for a cohesive and elevated look. We carried the black theme throughout the space with a black toilet, a black counter top washbowl and a black shaker style vanity unit.

To complete the look, we painted the walls and ceiling in black, creating a dramatic yet balanced environment.

The result is a striking and sophisticated room—elegant, inviting, and surprisingly serene.

This Neo-Traditional home in the heart of Hutton required a bathroom to match it's classic yet contemporary stylings.

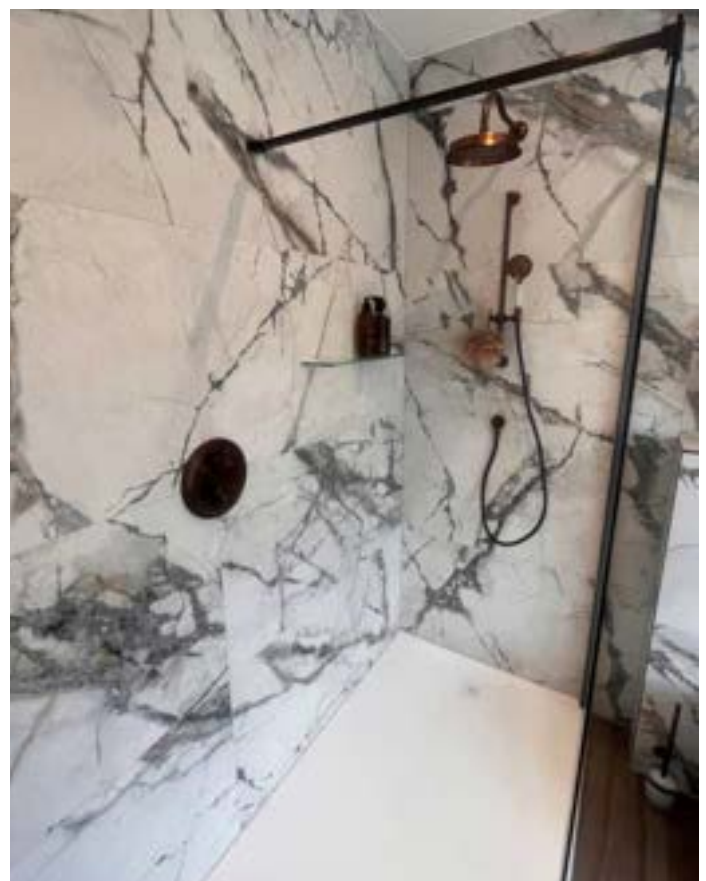

In order to achieve this look, we paired a copper roll top bath alongside a walk-in shower, all with oil rubbed bronze brassware and fittings.

We combined this with shaker style furniture fronts as a nod to the traditional, and the addition of a counter top bowl added a unique and stylish feature to the design, further enhancing the overall look and feel of the bathroom.

By introducing wooden shelves into the arched alcoves, we've turned this feature from purely aesthetic to being practical at the same time. This now provides both storage and a natural element to the space, bringing in warmth and character.

The LED mirror adds a modern touch to the space while also providing practical lighting for daily tasks. The striking large format marble tiles with a hint of bronze perfectly complement the wooden floors and bronze brassware, tying the whole design concept together.

Overall, this bathroom design successfully blends warmth, elegance, modernity, and natural elements to create a beautiful and inviting space that is perfect for relaxation and enjoyment. It is a true retreat from the outside world, offering a calming and luxurious environment for our client to unwind and rejuvenate in.
