

Finance learns charity over at the Swift Current Comprehensive Highschool

Morgan Gerwing, SwiftCurrentOnline.com | Tuesday, Dec 20 2022, 6:00 AM

Share:

The Finance Class students, from the Swift Current Comprehensive Highschool. (photo's courtesy of Morgan Gerwing)

---

Article continues below advertisement ↴

The Swift Current Comprehensive Highschool (SCCHS) Finance Class is giving to those in need this Christmas.

Cindy Lowe, who is the finance and business teacher at SCCHS, has been directing her students in their efforts. Together she and the class organized a food drive that will be donated to the Family Resource Centre, which lasted until last week

"Mrs. Lowe has taught us about the topic of giving back in our financial class," said Caybri, one of the financial students. "She brought in many presenters to come speak to us about it."

The finance students went around the school, telling classes how important it is to donate. During those class rotations, other students were given a sheet to sign up for the food drive.

An example of non-perishable goods collected by the class.

Mckenna, one of the students who participated, was excited about the role they got to play in the effort.

"My favourite part is being able to help the other children or families that need it," said Mckenna. "It's pretty heartwarming to see that we can help people when we come together."

The fundraiser brought together not only students but also community members. Both were asked to bring non-perishable goods such as:

- Canned Beans

- Honey

- Preserves

- Canned Soup

- Uncooked pasta

Students in the finance class are glad to have learned the importance of helping others and that it only takes a couple of minutes to come together to be able to help those that need it.