1st Reading: Jeremiah 38:4-6; 8-10

It was under Zedekiah’s reign that Jerusalem was sacked by Babylon. Zedekiah sought an alliance with Egypt and rebelled against Babylonian rule, but the Babylonian King immediately crushed the revolt and sent the royal family into exile. Just prior to all of this, Jeremiah prophesied the destruction of Jerusalem and the royals were sick of hearing it, hence they cast him into the cistern. But God influenced Zedekiah, softened his heart, and despite Jeremiah’s ‘negative attitude’, the prophet was released.

2nd Reading: Hebrews 12:1-4

This passage seems to suggest that discouraging hardships endured by Christians of that day should be considered ‘corrections’ from God. Another understanding might be that life, with its vicissitudes and disappointments will always be challenging, even for Christians. Those who are in Christ, however, have a model for enduring life’s inevitable pain: Jesus Christ crucified. Our final end is to be with Jesus and to see him as he truly is, whatever the earthly suffering.

Gospel Reading: Luke 12:49-53

This is a hard passage to read. The sorts of divisions that Luke describes are all too familiar, historically and within our own personal lives. In the northern counties of Ireland, as example, the Christian disconnect is so pronounced that violence has been the accepted mode of resolution for centuries and it continues even today. And many of us have family members who have left the Church because of disagreements both personal and political, both spiteful and foolish no doubt. All of these divisions are hurtful and seem so patently un-Christian that we sometimes wonder about our faith. So what is the answer? How do we make sense out of it? When Jesus was crucified, the world stood still and the temple shroud was torn in two. A sinful world became aware of itself and perhaps the answers lie somewhere in that redefined consciousness. But one thing is certain to people of faith, whether or not we have neat little answers: Jesus died for us and ours is but to worship him and do as he asks in the best way we can.

Synod Report Now Available

For six months, people throughout our diocese responded to Pope Francis' call to the Synod on Synodality by sharing their hopes, concerns and dreams for the Catholic Church. Some participated at listening sessions, and many others through an online survey. Through this participation, many themes began to emerge.

Our Diocesan Synthesis Report representing these themes has been submitted to the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops, and is also available for general review. To learn more and to review the synthesis report, please visit the Synod on Synodality page on our diocesan website, www.dioceseofscranton.org.
