1st Reading: Deuteronomy 30:10-14

We tend to think of the Old Testament writings as being very stern, and centered always on adherence to the Mosaic Laws, however, the tradition found in Deuteronomy is actually based upon the love of YHWH first, and the strictures of the law second. This reading emphasizes God’s love as: “something very near to you, already in your mouths and in your hearts.” There is a subtle but important distinction between following the law before receiving God’s grace, and receiving God’s grace (written on our hearts) prior to understanding the need to follow the law.

2nd Reading: Colossians 1:15-20

Paul’s theology here is embedded in poetic form, probably used as a creedal hymn in the early church. It points to Christ as existent during creation, one with the wisdom of God. It is important to recognize how Christ’s redemptive act on the cross brought creation back into synch with the Creator, not just for humans: “to reconcile all things for him, making peace by the blood of his cross through him, whether those on earth or those in heaven”.

Gospel Reading: Luke 10:25-37

The Good Samaritan was ‘good’ because he showed mercy and compassion to someone viewed as unclean by the ‘lawful’ righteous. As in the first reading, Jesus teaches that those who follow the law first, and love only after the law has been fulfilled, are really missing the point. The Samaritan, a gentile (strictly speaking) who didn’t follow the Judaic understanding of the Laws of Moses, understood God’s intention far more clearly than the religious officials. And then, in order to make exactly this point perfectly and clearly for all humankind, Jesus gave his life for us, so that we could finally understand that love always comes first.

God Is Ever Faithful

God said in the long ago, “While the earth remains, seedtime and harvest, and cold and heat, summer and winter, and day and night shall not cease” (Genesis 8:22).

The changing seasons are proof of God’s faithfulness to His Word. Even in the bleak deadness of winter, we can be sure that the spring will blossom with life. God keeps His promises!

That is why it is not difficult for us to believe what he has said about life beyond the grave, the future resurrection from the dead, and the glorious consummation of our hope in heaven. God is utterly dependable!

“The Lord is not slow about His promise, as some count slowness, but is patient toward you, not wishing for any to perish but for all to come to repentance” (2 Peter 3:9).
