

JAMS ⚡

Donuts Don't Rock!

VAULT ISSUE #1
FEB 2026
ORIGINS

Everyone knows
DONUTS DON'T PLAY GUITAR!

They Play Banjo

Hi, I'm JAM.

I was never very good at following the recipe.

Most donuts turn out exactly how they're supposed to.

Me? I liked adventure.

And making messes.

Which probably explains why the ONLY TIME anyone YELLED
my name was when I was in trouble.

JAM!!!!

You're in BIG trouble, mister!

Getting yelled at wasn't so bad.

It was loud.

It meant something exciting had just happened.

And exciting was worth the risk.

JAM!

JAM!!

JAM!!

I like human stuff.

Not the clean human stuff.

The stuff humans throw away.

I've always been a collector. Not in a fancy way.
More in "this came from the human world and
I need to understand it" way.
I collect things humans leave behind.

Rare things. Weird things. And sometimes..
gross things.

Like, you guys
are disgusting.
No offense. But also,
offense.

Just because something fell on the floor does not mean it's collectible. I had to learn that the hard way. More than once. Luckily, I'm starting to figure out what to collect...
and what to absolutely never touch again.

Other donuts said human things were dirty or broken, or smelled funny.

They weren't wrong.

But I always wondered...

how something could be trash

if someone loved it first.

Besides... sometimes you find really good stuff.

Like the time I found a perfectly good sandwich.

Or an amazing
super hero mask.

Little did I know that one day
I'd find something that would change everything.

It was scratched up,
Missing a string,
and probably broken.

But when I picked it up,
everything else disappeared.

And for a minute...

I SOUNDED AND FELT INCREDIBLE.

But when I went to the bakery
to show everyone my skills,

I found out quickly that donuts hate guitar.

That or I just couldn't play very well...

But needless to say...
it was enough to get signs put up around the bakery that said
DONUTS DON'T ROCK

They said donuts don't rock.

And maybe most don't.

But I couldn't stop thinking about that feeling when everything else disappeared.

So I picked up my guitar,
walked out of the bakery,
and went to find it again.

Next stop: wherever the music is.

TO BE CONTINUED.....

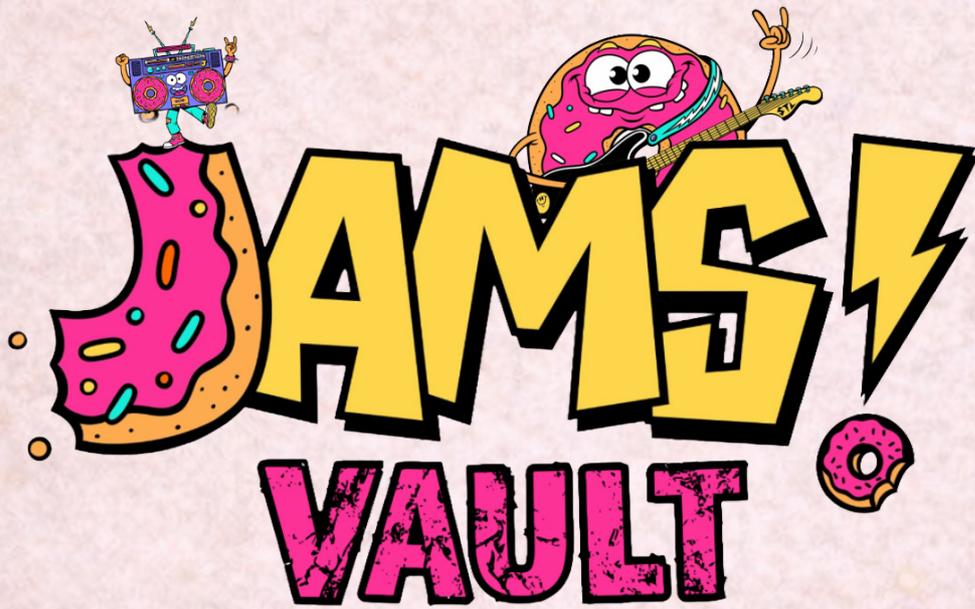

Where JAM started...

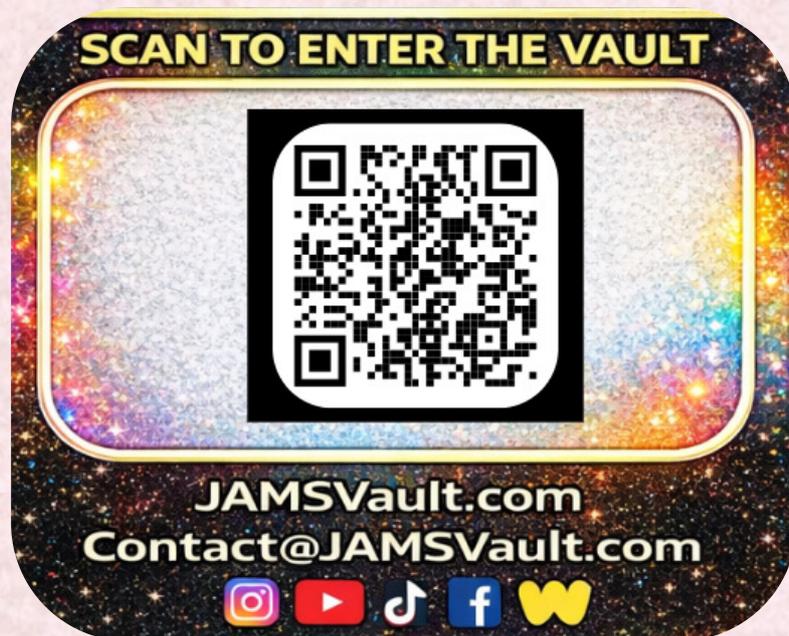

Because sometimes the broken things
make the best music.

Thank you for reading.

Follow along to see where JAM's journey goes next.

Follow JAM and the JAMS Crew!

Created in conjunction with Dr. Josh and Burrito Breath.

JAMS Crew: Donutdave, J-Sprinkle, Ring Rod, and Dr. Josh

JAMS™ and the JAM donut character™ are trademarks of JAMS Organic Reserves LLC 2026