

FAIRWAYS AND GREENS

WEEK OF JUNE 8

While yours truly was away channeling my inner Seve Ballesteros by hitting balls on a beach in Oregon, Craig Olson and John Soule were kind enough to run the monthly Derby. And the big winners were Coach Mark Cunningham and Steve Chapman. They were the only team to card a five on the final hole and actually had the lowest total of 29 for the six holes played. In second place were John Lakin and Robert Tager with a six on the last hole. Third place was Mark Rice and Dave Gimbi who stumbled with a seven. Both those teams had a total of 32 for the six holes, so, as you can tell, it doesn't take pars and birdies to win a few bucks in the Derby. And sometimes even a double bogey can get you through if your partner can handle a chip-off!

The first round of the President's Cup is in the books and there were several close matches that went down to the 18th hole and beyond to a playoff. If you were playing, I hope you studied the rules of match play, cuz if I'm not mistaken, there wasn't a rules sheet provided. Just a casual observation from a non-participant. Now that I'm thinking of it, the Pro Am is next up on the 11th. Hopefully there will be a definitive rules sheet for that event since many of my fellow professionals will need a little guidance to play our course.

Putt 'em out!
