

FAIRWAYS AND GREENS

SEPTEMBER 28

The time is approaching to get ready for our Men's Club Championship which begins on October 21st. One of our past champs, Paul Chun has turned pro, so he's not eligible anymore. Will our two-time runner up, Tom Doll finally come through, or maybe former champ John Oliviera? Or will some newcomer pull it off? We've got a handful of potential par shooters out there that could make it exciting. The question is, have you been working on your game? There's more than just the overall gross prize at stake. You could win your flight and a little pride on the side! So, why not pay a visit to one of our teaching pros, Kris, Shelly, Sean, Paul or Tom and see if a few tips might jump start your game? Having seen many of you play, I'd say everyone could at least use a short game tune up. And how about a little sand bunker work? It's not an easy transition to make from the newly constructed bunkers to the older ones. Your teaching pros can help with the different techniques for our mysterious bunkers. Don't wait to book your spot. They can get busy!

In the Flight Cup Series, Jong Joon Kim leads Ryeong Choi by a scant 3 points, 183 to 180 in the Nicklaus Flight; PK Kim leads the Woods Flight by a whopping 20 points over Danny Yeam; and Jae Lee is 7 points ahead of Joe Choi, 191 to 184 in the Hogan Flight.

Putt 'em out!
