HOW ANGELS WORK - NATURAL AND SCRIPTURAL LANGUAGE PROMPTS

BY ANTHONY ADEFARAKAN

Imagine a vast, majestic kingdom governed by a wise and just king. In this kingdom, a legion of messengers stands at attention – vigilant, powerful, and awaiting the king's commands. These messengers have a single mission: to fulfill the will of the king and serve the citizens of the realm. However, these messengers do not move arbitrarily. They respond precisely to the king's commands and the authorized requests of the kingdom's citizens. Now, consider that you are a citizen of this kingdom. You have access to these messengers – a direct, privileged line to them – yet you often remain unaware of how to activate their assistance. You may not understand the language of the court, the precise manner in which petitions are made, or the authority granted to you by the king.

This analogy offers a glimpse into the operation of angels in the divine order. They are messengers and servants of God, dispatched to minister to those who inherit salvation (Hebrews 1:14). Yet, their movement and intervention are often contingent upon clear, precise, and authorized requests – the "prompts" of heaven.

The Dynamics of Angelic Assignment

From the very beginning, angels have been actively engaged in God's plans for humanity. They are not wandering spirits but purposeful beings assigned to specific tasks:

- Delivering Divine Messages: As Gabriel did for Mary, announcing the birth of Jesus (Luke 1:26-38).
- Offering Protection: As the angel who encamped around Elisha, revealing a heavenly army to shield him (2 Kings 6:15-17).
- Executing Judgment: As the angel of death who passed through Egypt, striking the firstborn of those unprotected by the blood of the lamb (Exodus 12:23).

In all these instances, angels acted not on their own will but in direct response to divine commands or the faith-driven actions of God's people. They operate within a defined structure – God's divine government – responding to natural and scriptural language prompts issued under divine authority.

Natural Language Prompts – The Language of Faith and Authority

Just as AI systems respond to natural language – the ordinary words and phrases we use daily – angels respond to the natural language of faith. This language is spoken not merely with words but with the posture of the heart and the authority given by God.
